Only a Baby Panic.
New York Bombed.
Wonderful Lloyd George.
To Protect Policemen.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

CONGRATULATIONS to the Federal Reserve. That institution, established to stabilize credit and prevent panics, succeeded in creating a baby panic in Wall Street yesterday, knocking down prices of good stocks and bad stocks—especially good.

THE Federal Reserve Advisory Council recommended an increase in rediscount rates.

Fifteen and 20 per cent usury doesn't satisfy some financial gentlemen. It seems plenty to those that pay it.

WALL STREET heard the news and prices slumped. If the Federal Reserve had been established to make money expensive, and credit uncertain, and to injure business, it would be a success.

ON Tuesday an Army plane circled over Governor's Island, flew up Broadway above Manhattan's richest district, theoretically "bombed New York" and escaped to Washington.

Anti-aircraft defenses knew the attack was coming, but nobody saw the bombing plane. Anti-aircraft guns were theoretically and actually useless.

IF IT had been a real attack there would have been 50 bombing planes instead of one, and the planes would not have "escaped to Washington" as was theoretically done on Tuesday.

They would have flown from New York to a mother ship, 100 or 200 miles off shore, taking on a new load of bombs, and then going to bomb Washington, and, with poison gas, wipe out every public official from the Capitol to the White House.

IF OUR air defense cannot even locate and theoretically repel one bombing plane, after having been warned in advance of its coming, what chance would our big cities have against bombing planes and swift pursuit planes, launched unexpectedly from ships off shore?

WONDERFUL Lloyd George. He fights the Tories as though he had never managed a World War or been subject to any strain.

In the unpronounceable town of Penmaenmawr, Lloyd George told a crowd of Welshmen and Englishmen, "I would condemn Winston Churchill for a whole month to push a perambulator along a road without any footpaths."

LLOYD GEORGE would put unemployed Britishers to work improving old roads, building new roads, and establishing footpaths for women with baby carriages.

Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, rides in an automobile, doesn't notice baby carriages, and calls Lloyd George's plan "extravagant waste."

NEW YORK, according to its able police commissioner, Mr. Whalen, possesses 32,000 speakeasies, and 18,000 policemen to regulate the speakeasies.

Commissioner Whalen now appoints 160 policemen as supervisors to make sure that the remaining 17,340 policemen keep out of the 32,000 speakeasies—as customers.

JUST how 160 men can keep 17,840 men from dropping into any one of 32,000 retail rum stores, is not clear, but Mr. Whalen's ideas are usually good.

In the old days, New York had 8,000 saloons and 8,000 policemen, one saloon to one policeman, and about the same number of school teachers.

Now it has about two speakeasies for each policeman!

There is a difference between prohibition and preventing.

DR. COOPER, federal commissioner of education, tells the Association for Adult Education that the United States voters "have an average education of sixth or seventh grade levels." He recommends further expansion of adult education.

WHAT citizens lack is not education, but interest in their government. Lack of interest is proved by the vote of only 50 in 100 that could vote.

A little more "fractions, algebra and geography" won't help voters to solve the problems of our increasingly social and economic life.

AT THE beginning of his term, President Hoover, in accordance with custom, received all visitors to the White House, Tom, Dick and Harry, on three days each week, then wisely cut public receptions to two days a week. Now receptions are reduced to one day a week, Wednesday.

Another improvement would eliminate public receptions entirely. The President is not elected to be a curiosity, shaking hands, but to attend to public business.

The public should be content to study and know the President in the things that he accomplishes.

VIRGINIA HOGAN, 12-year-old Irish-American girl from Omaha, wins the national spelling bee, and this will surprise you, Teru Hayashi, a Japanese boy, was No. 3 in the competition. "Panacea" eliminated him.

25 TEACHERS IGNORED BY BOWMAN

Faculty Leaders' Query Anent Stand on Student Expulsion Not Answered.

New court action against the University of Pittsburgh within 24 hours loomed today with the refusal of a seat in class for Arthur G. McDowell, expelled Liberal Club leader, when he appeared with a letter from his attorney advising him that his expulsion was illegal.

The action was based on the mandamus proceeding answer filed by the University of Pittsburgh in the suit to reinstate the expelled students. Pitt contended the action against Chancellor John G. Bowman was improper and that the power of action rests with the board of trustees.

Upon this statement, Attorney Henry Ellenbogan contended that the chancellor's expulsion of McDowell was illegal. After presenting copies of this contention to Pitt authorities, McDowell proceeded to one of his former classrooms, but Prof. Ralph E. Turner refused to admit him.

Informed of the action, Attorney Ellenbogan announced he will seek a temporary injunction tomorrow to restrain the Pitt authorities from interfering with McDowell's return to the school.

A demand made by 25 Pitt professors on Chancellor Bowman to explain the position of the university on liberal thought, recent expul-

SON OF WALSH ON TRIAL

Testimony that Thomas Walsh, son of Supt. Peter P. Walsh, and two of his companions held him up in Schenley Park, May 22, 1927, asked to see his driver's license and then took his wallet with $75 from him, was given by E. R. Fish in Criminal Court this afternoon.

Walsh and Albert aGtenes, of 543 South Graham street, and Sylvester Cassilli, of 1624 Forbes street, are on trial on a robbery charge. The case grew out of the William L. King vice crusade when, it was alleged, Walsh and the two codefendants sought to "get" some of King's investigators.

The robbery charge was made against the men upon information by John S. Cannon, a special policeman in the Oakland district, who is said to have been working for King.

Fish testified he was driving through the park with his wife and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bing when the car of Walsh and his co-defendants blocked their way. Fish said Walsh demanded to see his driver's license and he tossed him his wallet containing the license and $75 in cash.

Two special officers drove up, Fish testified, and when Walsh saw them, he tossed the wallet back to him. The two officers took the Fish party and Walsh and his companions to the Squirrel Hill station, where, he said, police took Walsh and his men to his father's home.

Graf Zeppelin Ready To Sail for Germany

CUERS, France, May 23.—(AP.)—The hour for the departure of the Graf Zeppelin for Friedrichshafen was fixed this morning for between 7 and 8 p. m. (1 or 2 p. m. Eastern Standard Time) today.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, its commander, was expected to arrive at 5 p. m. from Germany. The start will be made almost immediately, if the weather is favorable.

TUNNEY CALM ABOUT SUITS

BRIONI, Italy, May 23.—(INS.)—Gene Tunney, retired world's heavyweight champion, refuses to be the least bit worried over the breach of promise suit filed against him in Bridgeport, Conn., by Mrs. Katherine King Fogarty.

Not even reports that Mrs. Fogarty's divorced husband, James Fogarty, was contemplating following her $500,000 suit with a $1,000,000 action for alienation of affections, were able to ruffle the studied calm of the retired champion.

"I do not recall ever meeting any woman named Fogarty," Tunney declared when asked about the action.

Tunney's secretary said that Mrs. Tunney suffered a relapse three

'Hex' Slayers Denied Retrials; Given Life

YORK, Pa., May 23.—(AP.)—In opinions handed down today by Judge R. P. Sherwood, new trials were denied John Blymyer and John Curry, two of the slayers of Nelson D. Rehmeyer, farmer, in the so-called York County witchcraft case. Each was sentenced to prison for life.

Wilbert G. Hess, who was convicted of second degree murder for his part in the killing, was sentenced to not less than 10 nor more than 20 years. Curry is 14 years old.

DR. DAY ASSAILS VICE CRUSADE CRITICISM

East End Minister Defends King, Missing Witness In City 'Cleanup' Cases

Judge James B. Drew was assailed by the Rev. Dr. Albert E. Day, pastor of Christ Methodist Episcopal Church, Liberty and Center avenues, today for his remarks from the bench Wednesday about the employment of William L. King by the Citizens' League to rid the city of commercial vice.

In an open letter to the jurist who presides over the Quarter Sessions bench Dr. Day tells him his procedure "does not honor the bench" and "raises a serious question as to the judicial poise" of his mind.

"EVIDENCE OF VACUITY"

Dr. Day undertakes to answer Judge Drew from the jurist's own admissions, which, according to the minister, furnish "conclusive proof that, instead of covering Pittsburgh with 'slime and filth,'" as Judge Drew had charged, "King had only uncovered the 'slime and filth' which were already in existence."

Judge Drew's attack, according to Dr. Day, "carries on the face of it the evidence of its vacuity."

"You, yourself," he tells the judge, "declared King was paid $22,500 to sell out and disappear. Do you think anybody would have paid him that sum unless the evidence he had collected against them was rather damaging?"

"ENEMIES TO BLAME"

Dr. Day asserted King was employed only on recommendation from trustworthy sources, and "that he succumbed, if he did, to the temptation thrown in his way is only a demonstration of the insidious power which rests in the hands of the enemies of justice."

Dr. Day's letter was inspired by Judge Drew's remarks in connection

Luke Berne Carter Sued for Divorce

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP.)—Mrs. Ann Curry Carter filed suit for divorce in supreme court here yesterday against Luke Berne Carter, son of the late John J. Carter, of Titusville, Pa., one time associate of John D. Rockefeller in the oil industry. Mrs. Carter also instituted a $100,000 alienation of affections action against Mrs. Beatrice Stevens Emerson, widow of Charles F. Emerson, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter were married in 1901 and have one child. Mr. Carter was graduated from Yale in 1901.

Millionaire's Son Makes Good in Films

LOS ANGELES, May 23.—(INS.)—Here's an Horatio Alger tale with variations. The hero is a millionaire's son. John Breeden, 25, who inherited $789,000 two weeks ago, has made good in the movies. Friday night he will witness the premiere here of his first "talkie." Pa and Ma Breeden have come from Burlingame, Cal., to be with him.

2 THUGS ROB, KIDNAP GAS SELLER

Carry Him Off in Own Car And Throw Him Out Without Stopping; Get $100

Kidnaped by two men, who commanded him at the point of a revolver to give them $100 from a cash register, Morris F. Gillen, proprietor of a filling station on the McMurray road, near Clifton, today was carried more than three miles in his own car and thrown out on the roadside.

When Gillen was preparing to close his station at 2 a. m., two men drove up and asked for gasoline. A moment later they pointed a revolver at him and commanded that he open the cash drawer. One of the men grabbed the evening's receipts and then marched him to the side of the building, where Gillen's car was parked.

The victim was shoved inside and while one bandit held a gun to Gillen's head, the other drove the car, speeding along at reckless speed on the McMurray road toward Morganza. When they reached an isolated spot near the crossing of Little Chartiers creek Gillen was pushed from the car, which continued on without stopping.

WIPF PARDONED IN THAW CASE

HARRISBURG, May 23.—(AP.)—Fred G. Wipf, a Swiss, who attempted to extort $5,000 from Mrs. William Thaw, Jr., of Pittsburgh, in 1927, was granted a pardon today by Gov. Fisher upon recommendation of the State Board of Pardons.

Wipf was arrested by detectives along a route outlined by him over which Mrs. Thaw should travel in paying the sum of money. He had previously appeared in her home with a gun. The man, who pleaded that he was desperate because he was out of work at the time of the crime, will return to Switzerland, where his wife and children are living.

Thirteen pardons were granted by the governor today, and 23 were refused. Among those denied pardons were Raymond Bengele and Paul Sweeney, constables of Allepo township, Allegheny County, who were convicted of attempting to "shake down" bootleggers on Pittsburgh's North Side.

Fred Rodgers, of McKeesport, serving four to eight years for felonious assault and battery and highwayy robbery, was pardoned. In cases held over from April Frank Hartz and Justice of the Peace Charles J. Renshaw, both convicted of conspiracy, were refused pardons.

Grafton Gives Hoover W. Va. Fish License

GRAFTON, W. Va., May 23.—(AP.)—President Hoover today was tendered an honorary life membership in the Taylor County branch of the West Virginia Wild Life League. In a letter to the President asking him to accept the membership, F. C. Kelly, secretary of the organization, enclosed an engraved gold membership card and a state non-resident fishing license issued by Frank A. Bennett, clerk of the Taylor County Court.

Chamberlin Plans To Fly Ocean Again

PHILADELPHIA, May 23.—(AP.)—Clarence D. Chamberlin announced here yesterday that he hoped to make another trans-Atlantic flight next summer in an airplane yet to be constructed. His next trans-Atlantic flight would be in a flying boat or an amphibian, said Chamberlain.

When Mate Goes Zep, Mr. Pierce Goes, Too

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP.)—Henry J. Pierce, husband of the only woman on the Graf Zeppelin's recent trip, has gone by the good ship Mauretania. As to the Mrs. returning from abroad, he had this to say: "I've never been up in the air, but if she's going Zeppelin I'm going Zeppelin too."

FACTIONS WAR FOR W. & L. E.

CLEVELAND, O., May 23.—(AP.)—The Wheeling and Lake Erie Railroad was torn by internecine strife today, with its affairs scattered through the courts and two complete sets of officers wrangling for control in the Van Sweringen-Taplin battle for supremacy.

A duplicate set of officers was elected by the faction headed by Frank E. and Charles F. Taplin in a rump session after a 10-hour meeting last night. They claimed to have continued a meeting to elect five of 15 directors, which had been adjourned by the group headed by O. P. Van Sweringen.

FIGHT OVER VOTES

The controversy arose over the voting rights of prior lien stock, of which the Van Sweringens control a majority of the shares outstanding. Part of it is held by the Nickel Plate Railroad, Van Sweringen-controlled line, which has taken an appeal on an Interstate Commerce Commission ruling ordering its disposal. The remainder is in the possession of the Allegheny corporation, Van Sweringen holding company, which took over Wheeling and Lake Erie stock from the New

CHILD KILLED BY TROLLEY

In view of scores of North Side shoppers, 3-year-old Claire Ann Derda was killed at noon today by a Spring Hill street car at Ohio and Chestnut streets. An emergency crew of the Pittsburgh Railway Company worked 15 minutes to remove the body from under the car.

Racing from the poultry shop of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Derda, of 78 Bascom street, she ran against a Spring Hill car and fell beneath the wheels.

R. Meyers, motorman, and James Weidner, the conductor, were ordered to appear before the coroner today and post bond.

Morgenthau, Noted Stamp Expert, Dies

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP.)—Julius C. Morgenthau, 70, noted philatelist, yesterday died of cancer at his home here. He was a brother of Henry Morgenthau, former United States ambassador to Turkey, and of Maximilian Morgenthau.

Nearly every great collection of stamps sold during the last 20 years was said to have passed through the hands of Mr. Morgenthau, who dealt in rare stamps under the firm name of J. C. Morgenthau & Co.

Fine Rich Clubman In Beating of Girl

GREENWICH, Conn., May 23.—(INS.)—Because, she testified, she refused to "park and pet," pretty Audrey Calhoun, young debutante, was beaten and told to walk home by David Day, wealthy young clubman. Day was fined $75.

MATE DENIES SLAYING; CHARGES SUICIDE

Braddock Woman Held; Tells of Mate's Threats; Grandchild Sleeps Nearby

Shot four times, Harry Barr, 52, street car motorman, of 13 Wood street, Bradock, died in the Braddock General Hospital today. In a dying statement he accused his wife of the shooting, police said.

The wife, Mrs. Mary Barr, 48, uder arrest at the Braddock Police Station, denied the killing.

For two hours, police said, Barr apparently had paced about his room without knowing that he was fatally wounded. He was still on his feet, they said, when they were summoned to the Barr home, shortly before 10 a. m.

Removed to the hospital, Barr made a dying statement to Patrolment Richard J. Butler and Michael Mehalik, they reported, that his wife had shot him.

TELLS OF THREATS

Mrs. Barr told Chief Michael Pipko, of the Braddock police, that her husband came home drunk last night and threatened her and her adopted daughter, Mrs. Hazel Reynolds, 20, who occupies three rooms on the second floor.

Leaving Mrs Reynold's 15-month old baby in a room adjoining that occupied by Barr, the wife said, she and her daughter went downstairs and remained the rest of the night with Michael Connolly, who occupies the first floor.

SHOTS OVERLOOKED

Mrs. Barr told police she heard no shots fired. Connolly said he heard what resembled reports of a revolver shortly before 2 a. m. just after two women came downstairs, but thought it was the explosion of signal torpedoes on the Pennsylvania Railroad nearby.

Connolly went upstairs to get Mrs. Reynolds' baby about 10 o'clock this morning, he said, and noticed Barr lying on the bed, his face covered with blood. He summoned a physician and police. Barr had arisen and was walking around in his room when police arrived.

Dr. Thomas W. Snowwhite, of Braddock, coroner's physician was instructed to perform an autopsy. At the hospital it was said, Barr had been shot once in the cheek and three times in the abdomen.

Barr, who weighs about 250 pounds reported at the Glenwood car barns of the Pittsburgh Railways Company.

GRIMES SEEKS 7TH VICTORY

Sole occupants of third place, the Pirates will endeavor to improve their position this afternoon when they take on the Reds in the second game of the series. The Freebooters had a rather rough welcome for the Rhinelanders as the Cincinnati boys made their first appearance of the season here yesterday. The Reds were defeated, 11 to 2.

Manager Bush this morning announced that Burleigh Grimes would be on Fogarty Knoll today. The spitball veteran has won six games without tasting defeat this season and he worked 11 rounds in another engagement.

The Reds will go to their positions behind Eppa Jeppa Rixey, who, like Grimes, has been doing the slab trick for many seasons. Rixey has been ailing with pleurisy, but Manager Hendricks figured that the big left-hander would be ready for the slab ticket.

Dorothy Donnelly Leaves $159,513

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP.)—Dorothy Donnelly, actress and dramatist, left a net estate of $159,513, much of which came from "The Student Prince" and "My Maryland."

Morrow Guarded Leaving Mexico for Wedding

MEXICO CITY, May 23.—(INS.)—United States Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow is today on his way to North Haven, Me., to be present at the marriage of his daughter, Miss Anne Spencer Morrow, to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

The train is heavily guarded. Only presidents and ex-presidents in Mexico have been so fully protected by military escorts.

Upon orders from President Portes Gil, a full regiment of infantry, many armed with quick-firing guns, composed the ambassador's bodyguard. An "exploration train," carrying 300 soldiers, moved in advance of the express train. The regular train guard was increased to 100 men.

Ambassador Morrow is traveling by way of Laredo, Tex. He expects to stop off in Washington for a few days to report to the State Department and may tarry briefly in New York before continuing to North Haven, where the wedding is expected to take place on June 15. He will be absent from Mexico about two months.

NEW YORK, May 23.—(INS.)—Newspapermen kept on the jump yesterday by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's mysterious flights, kept a vigil early today outside the gates of the Englewood (N. J.) estate of his prospective father-in-law, Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow, following a report that the flying colonel might take off for Chicago.

It was announced earlier in the week in Chicago that Col. Lindbergh was expected there today.

Col. Lindbergh arrived at the Morrow estate shortly before midnight last night with his fiancee, Miss Anne Morrow, her mother and her two sisters, following a flight from North Haven, Me.

Sport Model Trolley, Fast, Noiseless, Ordered Here

A sport model street car, black with ivory trimming, is the coming thing in transportation, according to officials of the Pittsburgh Railways Company.

Within the next two weeks they will experiment with an aluminum car, noiseless in operation, weighing 26,000 pounds, with both electric and air brakes operated by foot pedals, and with increased power on the "getaway." It is expected to develop a speed of 35 to 40 miles an hour. The interior is fitted with two-tone leather cushioned seats of superior riding comfort. It will have automobile type roller bearings.

It is expected to prove especially suited to hilly Pittsburgh, and, if successful here, will be taken to the American Railways Association convention at Atlantic City in the fall, perhaps to be adopted for general use. The first car will cost $30,000, but mass production would decrease the cost considerably, if the type is adopted generally.

It will be from 10,000 to 14,000 pounds lighter than the steel models now in use here. It is being constructed by the Osgood Bradley Company at Worcester, Mass.

M'KEESPORT JOINS DRIVE FOR CUT IN WAGE TAXES

KLINE, MALONE AIDS FREED IN BRAWL

Hill Politicians Discharged At Police Court Hearing After Sidewalk Battle

The first pre-mayoralty campaign bout between the rival Kline and Malone forces ended in a draw today in Central Police Court.

Louis Swartz, of 2142 Webster avenue, Public Safety Department employe and an adherent of Mayor Charles H. Kline, and David B. Roberts, 312 Soho street, chief clerk in the office of county superintendent of buildings, a backer of Councilman James F. Malone, were discharged by Magistrate Thomas D. Jones, when arraigned on a charge of disorderly conduct.

IN STREET FIGHT

The two engaged in a slugging match in Grant street, near the City-County Building, yesterday afternoon after exchanging sarcastic greetings.

"Hello there Councilman," Swartz called to Roberts.

"Get some more of them printed," retorted Roberts.

Both were referring to "campaign cards" sent out recently advocating Malone for Mayor and on the reverse side among other "candidates" Roberts for Council. As to what happened then, versions vary.

"I told him his printing job would be a flop like it was two years ago," testified Swartz, "and he made a pass at me."

"Swartz came out of the City-County Building with a lady," testified Roberts, "and came over and said 'Hello Councilman,' and I said 'Thank you,' and he made a pass at me. We got into a scuffle."

Patrolman Edward Waugh rushed to the combatants. Securely grasping each by an arm he led them to the office of Traffic Inspector Ben Marshall.

Marshall called the "wagon" and the politicians were removed to Central Police Station and later released on $30 forfeits.

HEARST TROPHY AWARDED TECH RIFLE TEAM

Medals Given Individual Members in Tourney Conceived by Donor in 1921

The William Randolph Hearst trophy and individual medals were presented to captains of the Carnegie Institute of Technology R. O. T. C. rifle team at exercises today on the campus of the school.

The team won the Eastern Division third prize, in the countrywide annual tournament. Members of the team, each of whom was presented with a medal, were: Leo Kasehagen III, captain; Walter D. Bronson, John L. Stine, Chester W. Weatherall and David H. Genter.

Havey J. Boyle, of the Sun-Telegraph staff, made the presentation speech. The trophy, a silver shield inscribed with the names of the winners, was received for the team by Major J. G. Taylor, U. S. A., retired, professor of military science and tactics, at Tech. The student body took part in the ceremony and President S. S. Baker, of Carnegie Tech, made a brief introductory address.

Boyle in the presentation speech described how the Hearst tournament idea was conceived in 1921, and the competition staged with the idea of bringing the various R. O. T. C. units in the high schools in closer relationship.

The plan was laid before the War Department and was given hearty approval. Fullest co-operation of the department was offered and the rifle competition was made a part of the regular training program in the R. O. T. C. units.

Forty-two teams were entered the first year and in the following year nearly twice this number. The idea was taken up by the colleges, universities and military schools and they asked the War Department to broaden the program to include them.

In 1923 the plan was extended and 303 teams were entered from schools and universities in all parts of the country.

Since then the competition has increased every year until this year, seven years from its inception, 378 educational institutions, nine times the original number, were entered in the tournament.

ALLIS-CHALMERS STRIKE LAID TO 'TIMING'

Brotherhood Officers Seeking Settlement; Plant Manager Says Trouble's Ended

Officers of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers today were continuing their efforts to bring about a settlement of the strike of 410 men at the plant of the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Company, Preble avenue, North Side.

Michael Gordon, business agent of the local union, and Arthur Bennett, international vice president, made it plain that the men are not asking additional money or shorter hours. The point at issue, Gordon said, is "time setting" on certain jobs.

Many jobs, he declared, have been given the men to be completed within a set time, and several have been discharged when they were unable to complete their work within the time allotted by the company.

Donald McArn, plant manager, said that some of the men had returned to work, and that so far as the company was concerned the strike was over. It was called four weeks ago.

CLARK DIVORCE LETTERS READ

Expected counter-testimony in the divorce suit of D. L. Clark, Jr., 27, vice president of the D. L. Clark Company, candy manufacturers, failed to materialize in court today when the wife's attorney appeared before Judge Thomas J. Ford to announce she would not contest the action.

Clark testified that after a honeymoon they took up their residence at the home of Mrs. Helen Tawney, his sister, at 5436 Plainfield street, temporarily, and that on February 9, 1927, he returned home from his office to find his wife had left.

Among several letters introduced as evidence, Clark offered one received two days later, which read in part:

"Never try to locate me. I do not have the proper warmth and feeling for you. I like you, but not enough."

"WENT TO MONTREAL"

Testifying Mrs. Clark made several trips to Montreal to see a Canadian with whom she had been in love prior to their marriage, Clark introduced several letters. One said in part:

"I must go up there. If I find out I'm not so keen about my old friend, then we may have a happy life. I do not want to go back unless I can forget about the unhappiness of our trip."

It was explained this statement was written when Clark was attempting a reconciliation with his wife.

A letter of a later date said:

"I like Herb still, but I now see all he can offer me and I think I can leave here and forget about him."

CHARGES DESERTION

Desertion was charged by Clark, who gave his address as 1301 Malvern avenue, and who said he was married December 29, 1926, to Beulah Cochran Clark, 25, a former school teacher.

Shortly after Clark filed his divorce action, Mrs. Clark filed an answer and started a counter-suit seeking separation on charges of cruel and barbarous treatment, setting forth that while on their honeymoon in Canada he paid undue attention to a dancer whom he knew before his marriage and that he indulged in intoxicants to extremes.

CITY FIGHTS BURDEN ON WORKERS

Senator Mansfield and Mayor Lysle Aid Sun-Telegraph Drive to Reduce Levy.

Citizens of McKeesport today are making their pleas for prompt action by Congress in reducing the Federal tax on earned incomes.

The Tube City, one of the thriftiest communities in the state, has a large proportion of income tax payers who are assessed on their fees, salaries or wages, and they assert that the injustice of the present system of levying on the incomes of wage earners should be corrected.

State Senator W. D. Mansfield, who supported the Sun-Telegraph campaign when the question of indorsement of recommendations to Congress for reduction of the tax on earned incomes was before the Pennsylvania Legislature, is assisting in obtaining signatures to petitions now being circulated in McKeesport.

W. D. Mansfield

"The incomes of the great majority of our people come from hard work," said Senator Mansfield, "and those who have investments were able to invest from savings from their earnings. In McKeesport there are no 'idle rich,' and we know that a reduction of the tax on those who work will be better for the entire community."

Mayor George H. Lysle, of McKeesport, signed a Sun-Telegraph petition, heading the city executives and employes in City Hall. Mayor Lysle said:

G. H. Lysle

"This movement is timely. We aim to keep local taxes low in order to make the burden as small as possible on business and upon those residents who are paying for their homes. Now that the government is in such a flourishing condition, according to reports from Washington, the people dependent on earned incomes should not bear an extra burden. If wage earners are enabled to save, they create new wealth and the condition is an economic improvement all around."

The Beaver County canvass goes on with the accumulation of increasing numbers of petitions daily. Business men, industrial concerns and merchants in Ambridge are signing petitions today, the campaign repeating the success that attended the canvass in Beaver Falls, Beaver, New Brighton and Rochester.

with the quashing Wednesday of 24 cases in which violation of liquor and gambling laws was charged by King and other agents of the Citizens' League.

Judge Drew said in part:

KING "GOOD FOR NOTHING"

"These cases grew out of a crusade of virtue by distinguished reverend gentlemen in a move to make Pittsburgh a better place to live in, brought the good-for-nothing fellow named William L. King here, and set him loose upon the people. After parading himself in the newspapers for months, covering Pittsburgh with slime and filth, he disappeared, after he had made 30 or more informations, charging in the neighborhood of 200 people with crimes. It is generally believed that he was paid to disappear. The amount that he has been paid his been stated to have been $22,500. I believe he was given this money to go away."

Judge Drew said as soon as he received Dr. Day's letter he would consider it, and if he thought there was anything in it deserving public rejoinder he would make public his answer.

Dr. Day's letter:

Honorable J. B. Drew:

In the Post-Gazette this morning you are quoted as launching an attack from the bench upon "the distinguished reverend gentlemen who were conducting a crusade to make Pittsburgh a better place to live in" and who, according to your statement, "brought a good-for-nothing crook named King here and turned him loose on the people," "covering Pittsburgh with filth and slime."

It is a bit unusual for a judge to use his position to make an attack upon citizens who are not before his court, against whom no charges have been made and who bear a good reputation in the community. Such a procedure does not honor the bench and raises a serious question as to the judicial poise of your mind at the time.

"PAID $22,500"

What is worse, the attack carries on the very face of it the evidence of its vacuity. You, yourself, declared that King was paid $22,500 to sell out and disappear. Do you think anybody would have paid him that sum unless the evidence he had collected against them was rather damaging? Is not the payment of such a large bribe conclusive proof that, instead of covering Pittsburgh with "slime and filth," King had only uncovered the "slime and filth" which were already in existence and that the men who were responsible for this deplorable situation were not willing to face King's evidence in your court?

Further, you charge the "distinguished reverend gentlemen" with bringing "a good-for-nothing crook" here and "turning him loose" on the people. Is not Mr. King's success in making things so "hot" for some law violators rather striking testimony that he was not "good-for-nothing?" Men do not lay down $22,500 to get rid of a nonentity.

"GREAT GRIEF"

Mr. King's disappearance was a matter of great grief to the Citizen's League. We had been assured by the District Attorney that his cases were the strongest ever presented to his office for prosecution. The responsibility for this fiasco rests with the underworld who saw their reign, unchecked by officers of the law, threatened by the evidence uncovered by agents of the league. It would seem that you, an officer of the court dedicated to the administration of justice, would praise instead of excoriate a group of citizens who made an honest and sacrificial effort to put an end to a situation which must be hateful to your court as it is to thousands of our best citizens.

Of course you could not be expected to know, though you might have discovered by a simple inquiry, that Mr. King was employed only upon recommendations from trustworthy sources. The league had no desire to employ a "crook." We knew that men were waging war against an unscrupulous enemy and that a leader, whose character was vulnerable, would soon fall a pray to their wiles. For that reason extra precautions were taken in an effort to guarantee that the man chosen was beyond reproach and inaccessible to bribe and threats alike. That he succumbed, if he did, to the temptation thrown in his way is only a demonstration of the insidious power which rests in the hands of the enemies of justice.

I have ventured to answer you thus openly because the attack was openly made and because the issues involved are of interest to all citizens who are concerned with the future of our city.

May I assure you in closing of our willingness to co-operate with you in securing justice not only in this but in all other public matters with which your court is concerned.

Unionists to Rule Irish Parliament

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, May 23.—(AP.)—The unofficial Unionist party will control the next Northern Ireland parliament. Returns from yesterday's election show them to have elected 32 members of a total membership of 52. The other parties stood as follows: Independents 1; Nationalists, 7. Mrs. Holt Waring, elected as a Unionist from the Adeagh division in County Down, probably will be the only woman member of the new parliament.

2 PLANES STILL UP; 2 READY

International News Service.

America's thoughts were literally "up in the air" today as four aviation projects held the spotlight of public attention, according to International News Service reports.

At Roosevelt Field, New York, the French Canary, huge Bernard monoplane in which Jean Assolant, Armeno Lotti and Rene LeFevre, hope to fly to their native Paris, was being primed for a hop some time this afternoon to Old Orchard, Me., where better take-off facilities are provided.

GREEN FLASH READY

Roger Q. Williams and Lewis Yancey are already at Old Orchard with their plane, the Green Flash, which they expect to pilot to Rome in a possible "international air race" with the Frenchmen. Williams and Yancey will start their flight as soon as weather conditions are propitious.

Both Lotti and Williams are keen for an early takeoff. Each, of course, anxious to get away from the shores of America before the other. The Bernard is a plane far superior to the Green Flash. It has a speed maximum of 180 miles per hour and is equipped with a Hispano-Suiza air-cooled motor. Its cruising speed is 128 miles per hour, as compared with the top speed of 125 miles per hour of the Green Flash.

FORT WORTH STILL UP

At Fort Worth, Tex., Pilots Jim Kelly and Reg Robbins are rapidly approaching their one hundredth hour in the air in their attempt to set a new endurance record. The fliers dropped notes reporting everything was fine aboard the plane Fort Worth. The fourth full day was completed at 11:33 a. m.

After nearly 12 hours of night flying over Long Island, Lieut. Ruddy Clarke, Martin Jensen and William Ullbrecht, who also are trying to set a new endurance record, completed their first pickup of gasoline from a catapult device shortly after dawn today. A note dropped on Roosevelt Field by Jensen informed the ground crew that a carburetor leak had been successfully repaired during the night.

Jensen crawled out on the narrow catwalk and repaired the leak from this perilous perch with aid of a pocket flashlight, the note revealed.

VARE CASE GETS FINAL HEARING

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(INS.)—William S. Vare, Pennsylvania Republican, was sent to the Senate by the "most brazen, unscrupulous reversal of the popular will in the senatorial history of the United States," Rowland B. Mahany, counsel for William B. Wilson, Vare's Democratic opponent in the 1926 election, told the Senate Privileges and Election Committee today.

The hearing today marked the end of the long investigation. Today was the last opportunity of each side to present its contentions. Both Vare and Wilson have been accorded four hours in which to summarize their charges and defense. Then the committee will decide the validity of Vare's claim to his Senate seat or order further investigation.

Separation of the legal from the illegal ballots polled in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, Mahany said, is a "manifest impossibility." He characterized the two localities as a welter of corruption, confusion and irregularities.

"It would take the whole time alloted this side to tabulate even the high lights of the general corruption that ran riot in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia on the theory that once the returns were in, the election was over," he summarized.

Springdale Planning $100,000 Bond Issue

Drafting of an ordinance to float a $100,000 bond issue to refund floating indebtedness, to be placed before voters at the September primaries, has been authorized at Springdale Council.

Bids on a pump, 20,000-gallon steel tank and switchboard for the water softening plant, are being tabulated. Contracts will be awarded Monday night.

PIONEER STEEL MAN DIES

Hugh Kennedy, 73, prominent steel manufacturer, who was a coworker with many of the pioneer steel men of this district, and brother of Julian Kennedy, of Pittsburgh, died today at his home in Buffalo, where he was president of the Seneca Iron and Steel Company.

BORN IN OHIO

He was born in Poland, O., and in 1880 entered the employ of the Carnegie Steel Company as assistant to the superintendent of the Edgar Thomson Steel Works, where Julian Kennedy then was engineer in charge of operations and construction. Later Hugh Kennedy had charge of the Isabella furnaces, Etna, and in 1899 he became manager of the furnace department of the American Steel Hoop Company and three years later was appointed vice president and general manager of the Rogers-Brown Iron Company of Buffalo.

NINE CHILDREN SURVIVE

While in Pittsburgh he attended the Sharpsburg United Presbyterian Church and was a member of the Duquesne Club. He leaves four sons, John S., of Pittsburgh, and Roy G., George W. and Paul R. Kennedy, of Buffalo, and five daughters, Mrs. Duncan McLeod and Mrs. Donald Shoop, of Buffalo; Mrs. William Myers, of Maplewood, N. J.; Mrs. Edward C. Kendall, of Rochester, Minn., and Mrs. William B. Hill, of Philadelphia.

Mr. Kennedy's researches in the iron and steel industry were recognized in the award of the honorary degree of doctor of laws from Cooper College, Kansas.

York Central and the Baltimore and Ohio railroads when they received a similar disposal order from the I. C. C.

The commission today in Washington was inquiring into the legality of the Allegheny Corporation holding the stock.

The Van Sweringen faction voted adjournment until August 1 to await the I. C. C. ruling on the Nickel Plate appeal against the decision outlawing its stock. The Taplins immediately called their supporters into meeting, claiming control of the stock on the face of the I. C. C. order, and elected the new officers. Van Sweringen representatives appeared and protested the meeting but went unheeded.

GET INJUNCTION

Counsel for the Van Sweringens then went before Common Pleas Judge Alvin J. Pearson and obtained an injunction restraining the Taplin elected officers from assuming control of the road. A police guard was stationed at the Wheeling offices to protect the records.

The Taplins announced themselves ready to go into court to affirm the legality of their election. Frank E. Taplin was made president of the line and chairman of the board of directors, and Joseph S. Wood, vice president. Other officers were elected along with the directors.

The Taplin group will take immediate action to contest the injunction, it was announced today by H. H. Hoppe, of Cleveland, one of their attorneys.

Hoppe said the action will be either in the form of a demurrer, motion to dissolve or an answer with a petition for an early hearing.

HAD PLENTY OF MONEY

LOS ANGELES, May 23.—(INS.)—Los Angeles friends of Katherine King Fogarty today recalled that she fainted when, during March of last year, she read a shipboard radio bulletin telling of a reported engagement between Gene Tunney and a Beverly Hills heiress.

M. A. Berne, operator of a chicken dinner roadhouse on Venice boulevard, said he knew Mrs. Fogarty had plenty of money as she once showed him a New York bank book containing what appeared to be entries of deposits totaling $200,000.

PITT MAN IS OUSTED AGAIN

sions and the dismissal of Fred G. Woltman has not been answered.

The resolution, it was learned today, was handed to the chancellor by Prof. Turner last Moday. It reflected the opinion of a majority of the full-fledged professors of five departments at the institution.

EXPLANATION ASKED

The 25 men numerically constitute more than three-fourths of the professors of the combined economics, philosophy, political science, sociology and history departments.

The resolution requested "respectfully" that a faculty meeting be called by the administrative section of the school to consider:

Faculty responsibility for student expulsion.

Reasons for the dismissal of Woltman, considered in relation to the question of faculty tenure, and freedom of expression both in and out of the class room.

STIRRED BY COX SPEECH

Students today passed around pamphlets of the chapel address made by the Rev. James R. Cox, of St. Patrick's Catholic Church.

Father Cox, before many of the students, spoke bluntly on the attitude of the university whose guest-speaker he was. He was reported as criticizing the repression of free speech on the campus.

Father Cox is a member of the Civil Liberties Union, which is seeking the reinstatement of William Albertson and Arthur G. McDowell, who were expelled by Dr. Bowman for activities in the Liberal Club.

SON OF EDISON SEES MACHINE AGE NEAR

Visions Replacement of Many 'Human Robots' by Only Highly Trained Mechanic

(Editor's Note—This is the second article based on an exclusive interview with Charles Edison, president of the Thomas A. Edison industries, whose position and influence in his famous father's business is comparable to that of Edsel Ford in his father's factories in Detroit.)

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN,
International News Service.

WEST ORANGE, N. J., May 23.—"I think automatic machines will replace more and more unskilled workers in the factories of America as time goes on.

"The machine age in industry has hardly started.

"In my opinion the time is coming when one highly-skilled, highly-paid man will do the work that is now being performed by half a dozen "human robots.' This will bring about increased production at a lower cost, help business and raise the standards and provide better opportunities for the American workingman."

Charles Edison, 38, president of the Thomas A. Edison industries, and son of the world-famed inventor, made these assertions in an exclusive interview with International News Service in his private office in the Edison plant here today.

MACHINES SHOW LACK

"We are now seeing the day of semi-automatic labor-saving machinery" Mr. Edison explained. "These machines are all right as far as they go, but they do not go far enough. They were designed to increase production and bring the cost of labor down. What they have done is to provide a vast army of men with jobs that require absolutely no thinking on their part. They are robots. They simply go through the motions of feeding the machine that they man.

"This development of the non-thinking employe has brought about a distinctly bad social problem. We have too many non-thinkers making motions with their hands before machines.

"We should not stop with the semi-automatic machines in our factories. We should design a machine that will do the whole business, or nearly all of it. That is, a machine that would result in one highly-skilled and highly-paid man doing the work of a half dozen of the present-day robots. This man would use his brains and would not be tied to the machine. He would be sort of a supervisor. He would be putting his brains into the business."

NO JOB SHORTAGE

"Won't there be a shortage of jobs for workingmen through mechanization of factories?" Edison was asked.

"No, there will be ample jobs," he replied. "And better jobs. Production will be increased and business improved. Henry Ford was the biggest stimulus to automatic machinery. You can take his plants as an example of what other industry can do in the future."

Young Edison is in full charge of the various plants here and a plant at New London, Wis., which manufacture and sell commodities his father invented, worked on or improved, such as radios, ediphones, phonographs, electric toasters, storage batteries and stock tickers. He employs 5,000 men. His plant here covers 29 acres.

RAID 'DESTROYS' NEW YORK

NEW YORK, May 23.—(INS.)—Such sections of New York as escaped "destruction" in the first aerial bombing raid staged over the city Tuesday night were laid low with the rest of the shattered metropolis today as the result of the second attack by Lieut. Odas Moon and four companions in a giant bombing plane from the Dayton, O., headquarters of the Army air maneuvers.

The second raid occurred at sunset last evening, soon after the great plane arrived over the city from Bolling Feld, Washington, where it had spent the night. In every way the second attack was fully as successful as the first, if not more so, for besides proving this city wide open to attack from the air, it showed the practicability of refueling in mid-air during the course of a bombing engagement.

Another feature of the attack was a detailed description of the raid broadcast from a third plane which accompanied the attacking party.

Five successful "contacts" between the bomber and its refueling plane were made during the half hour the machines were over the city.

LODGER SHOOTS MOTHER OF 2

WEST NEWTON, Pa., May 23.—State police today were seeking to unravel an alleged attempted murder and suicide that sent Mrs. Ida Mellinger, 25, mother of two children, to the McKeesport Hospital late yesterday in a critical condition from bullet wounds and Mike Horwath, 35, to the Greensburg Hospital, where he is expected to die.

Horwath, a coal miner, is alleged to have entered the Mellinger home on a farm near Smithton and to have fired one shot at Mrs. Mellinger, which severed the little finger of her right hand. Then he pursued her into the yard, police said, and fired two more shots, one taking effect in her hip, the other in her abdomen.

As a group of men closed in on Horwath, state police charged, he drained a bottle of poison then fired a shot from a revolver into his side.

Mrs. Mellinger told state police, they said, that Horwath, a former boarder, had been out of work and had asked her repeatedly for money. When she refused him yesterday, she said, he started to shoot.

State police said they found this note in Horwath's pockets:

"May 21. Don't think for a minute that this is my fault altogether. What I have done is because Ida kept telling me for three or four years how she loved me. Then I fell in love with her. I told her it wasn't right of me falling in love with a married woman."

Pilgrimage to Grave Of St. Clair Sunday

A pilgrimage will be made Sunday afternoon to the tomb of Maj. Gen. Arthur St. Clair, Revolutionary War hero, who is buried near Greensburg. The pilgrimage will be made under the auspices of St. Clair Chapter, Sons of the American Revolution, and members of the organization will place a wreath on the tomb of the hero. St. Clair Chapter will complete plans for the trip Saturday night at a meeting in Dormont borough building.

Wales' Whisper Amplified for Big Laugh

NOTTINGHAM, Eng., May 23.—(AP.)—The Prince of Wales, who flew here from London yesterday, created a hearty laugh at a luncheon in his honor while the Duke of Portland was proposing a toast.

"The Prince has often to listen to long—" began the duke.

"—And boring speeches," interjected the Prince in a whisper, forgetting that an amplifier was placed in front of him.

Everybody burst out laughing as the interpolation of His Highness resounded through the room. The duke was a good sport and smilingly chimed in, "that is what I was going to say."

4-MONTH JONES LAW TERM

The first sentence following conviction by jury under the Jones act was imposed in Federal Court today by Judge F. P. Schoonmaker, who sent George Economos, bartender of the Stag Hotel, 310 Federal street, found guilty of selling and possessing liquor, to jail for four months.

Louis Kutras, alleged proprietor, and Chris Alexopoulas, in charge of the saloon the day it was raided, March 7, were convicted only of possessing liquor, which enabled them to escape the Jones act penalties. Kutras was fined $500 and Alexopoulas $100.

Saloonkeeper Again Convicted Over Rum

Jacob Hanchovich, a saloonkeeper of 3000 Carson street, was found guilty of liquor law violations on seven counts in Federal Court today before Judge Nelson V. McVicar. All violations occurred since January 31. Four counts charged selling liquor, one since the Jones act became effective; two counts charged possession, one since the Jones act, and the seventh count charged maintenance of a common nuisance. Sentence will be made later. This is the second time the defendant has been arrested, having been fined $100 on December 13, 1927.

SPEED OF CAR IN DEATH DIVE DESCRIBED

Neville Island Trolley Running 40 Miles an Hour Before Plunge, Court Told

Testimony that the Neville Island street car that plunged into the Ohio River at the Fleming Park Bridge, January 17, 1926, causing four deaths, was running between 40 and 50 miles an hour when it struck the curve at the bridge approach, was offered in Criminal Court before Judge James H. Gray.

Harry Korshun, motorman of the death car, is on trial, facing four indictments of involuntary manslaughter.

Albert Nagle, a machinist, of Neville Island, a passenger, who formerly was a motorman of a street car of the same type as that involved in the accident, was the witness. He said he noticed the high speed of the car after it left a ramp just below the bridge.

John Freeburg, of Neville Island, another passenger, testified the speed was so great he got up and grasped a strap just before the car plunged into the river.

TESTIFY TO SPEED

Walter T. Wright, Coraopolis, Herman Tappel, McKees Rocks, Harold Ochling, Coraopolis, testified that the car ran down the hump toward the bridge at an alarming rate of speed. Several passengers screamed, they said, and some got to their feet.

Railway employes who examined the car after its plunge said the power was turned on full and the air brake off.

Korshun took the stand in his own defense and testified that he had done everything in his power to stop the car. At the time of the accident, he said the tracks were very slippery and he threw the power off when the car started down the hump and left the car drift applying the air brake easily as it approached the curve at the bridge. The wheels locked he said and he had to release the air and sand the track to get any action from the brakes..

SLEUTH SLAIN TO SEAL LIPS

CHICAGO, May 23.—(INS.)—Deputy Police Commissioner John P. Stege disclosed today he had ordered search for three well-known hoodlums in connection with the murder of Detective Joseph J. Sullivan, who was found shot to death yesterday in his automobile.

The suspects wanted, said Stege, are Elmo Clark, bootlegger; "Dinky" Quan, bartender and petty racketeer, and Willie Doody, a fugitive since the shooting a few weeks ago of postal inspector Evan L. Jackson by gangsters.

Stege declared he believed Sullivan, regarded as one of the bravest and brainiest members of the detective bureau, was killed because he had discovered the identity of the slayers of his fellow sleuth, Ray Martin, who was murdered last week as he tried to capture a band of kidnapers.

"Sullivan didn't die without a struggle," said Stege, "and we are looking for wounded men."

Eastman Establishes Chair at Oxford

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP.)—George Eastman, of Rochester, N. Y., manufacturer and philanthropist, has given $200,000 to the Association of American Rhodes Scholars to establish a visiting professorship at Oxford University, Franklin F. Russell, secretary of the association, announced today.

Oxford has officially designated the chair as the George Eastman visiting professorship. It will be filled by distinguished American scholars for terms of from one to five years. The first is to be selected soon.

Experts to Study "Candide" in Plan To Appeal Ban

BOSTON, May 23.—(AP.)—Voltaire's masterpiece, "Candide," copies of which were seized here after the volume had been adjudged objectionable by the United States Treasury Department, is to be studied by two Harvard professors with the possibility of carrying the issue to the courts or to higher authorities in Washington.

The seizure was disclosed by a bookseller, W. B. Dumas, after copies consigned to him were taken by W. W. Lufkin, collector of the port, and a letter had notified him that importation of "Candide" was in violation of the tariff act "because of its text."

MICHAEL STRANGE WEDS

MICHAEL STRANGE, POETESS, THE SECOND MRS. JOHN BARRYMORE.

The second Mrs. Barymore, the unconventional and cosmopolitan woman who prefers the name under which she writes poetry. In London today, she married Harrison Tweed, New York attorney. Only last summer in New York she divorced Barymore in quiet proceedings. Shortly later, Barrymore married Dolores Costello, film actress and former Pittsburgher, of Maurice, for many years a well-known actor in Pittsburgh.

PRESBYTERIAN MEET OPENS

By DR. JAMES H. SNOWDEN.
Special Correspondent of the Sun-Telegraph.

ST. PAUL, May 23.—With the Presbyterian general assembly opening here today, Pittsburghers are much in evidence.

Prominent among those present are Dr. W. L. McEwan, of the Third Church; Dr. C. E. Macartney, of the First Church; Dr. Hugh T. Kerr, of the Shadyside Church; the Rev. Thomas Pears, of the Waverly Church; the Rev. R. W. Porter, of the First Church; Prof. W. R. Farmer, of the Western Theological Seminary, and the Rev. Dr. P. W. Snyder, superintendent of the Pittsburgh Presbytery.

WOMEN MEET

Pre-assembly meetings have been held and chief among these was the meeting of the 100 women. They have hitherto supported only the boards of national and foreign missions, but they decided yesterday to support the Board of Christian Education. The main question before them was the proposed overture granting women equal place in the church with men so that they could hold all offices from the eldership up to the moderatorship of the general assembly. They voted to support this measure, which may prove to be one of the exciting issues before the assembly.

CHOOSING MODERATOR

The question of the new moderator of the assembly is the talk of the hour. Two candidates are in the field, Prof. Robert Dick Wilson, of Princeton Seminary, and Prof. Gelland M. McAfee, of the Presbyterian Seminary, Chicago. All indications at present point to the election of Dr. McAfee, who was in the field last year but withdrew in the interest of Dr. Hugh K. Walker, the retiring moderator.

Indications are that the assembly, while developing exciting issues, will be harmonious and achieve progress.

Catholic Daughters Meet Here May 30

Delegates from throughout Pennsylvania will attend the biennial state convention of Catholic Daughters of America, Pennsylvania jurisdiction, which meets in Pittsburgh May 30 and 31. Miss Mary C. Duffy, of Newark, N. J., supreme regent, will be the guest of honor. Miss Frances Maher, of Kane, Pa., vice supreme regent and state deputy, will be the presiding officer. Miss Duffy will preside at the biennial supreme convention of the order in Galveston, Texas, July 1 to 3. The organization has a membership of 200,000 in the United States, Canada, Cuba, Porto Rico and Panama Canal Zone.

Church Temperance Counsel, Ill, Quits

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP.)—Archdeacon Joseph H. Dodshon, president of the Church Temperance Society, yesterday announced the resignation of the Rev. Dr. James Empringham, general counsel for the society.

"Dr. Empringham has had to abandon his activities on account of a serious illness," Archdeacon Dodshon said.

He said that Dr. Empringham has been in the West for several months on account of his health.

Negro and Stolen Fowls Caught in Run Downtown

A chase through downtown streets early today resulted in the arrest of Henry Daniel, 26, a Negro, of 210 Elm street, alleged by police to have stolen five chickens from the store of the Diamond Poultry Company, 2127 Murray avenue. A. L. Seewald, manager, telephoned police of the Oakland station that Daniel, a former employe, had taken the the chickens in a bag, and boarded a street car for the downtown section. Lieut. Lehney and Precinct Detective John Kennedy, missing the car the believed Daniel was on, sped downtown and awaited a car coming in on the Forbes street lines.

They met the car at Diamond and Wood streets, and gave chase when Daniel ran north in Wood street. At Sixth avenue the fleeing man threw the bag of chickens at the officers and tripped Kennedy, but Lieut. Lehney caught him. Police said that Daniel was released from the workhouse yesterday where he had served a term for chicken stealing.

DOGS ATTACK TWO BOYS

Kenneth Schroeder, 10, of 93 West Industry street, was bitten on the left leg by a dog owned by George Stewart, of 219 West Industry street. The boy's wound was cauterized by Dr. E. F. Waller, 55 Wyoming street, a city physician, and later taken home. The owner was notified by Mt. Washington police to keep the dog tied.

Harry Winnegar, 48, of 504 Bingham street, was bitten on the left leg by a dog owned by Joseph Murphy, 1007 Bingham street, yesterday. Winnegar's wound was cauterized at the South Side Hospital. Murphy was notified to keep the dog tied up.

Shooting Caps Feud In Wild West Show

LEWISTOWN, Pa., May 23.—(AP.)—A feud, said to be of long standing between two circus employes of the Miller Brothers 101 Ranch Wild West show, came to a head here yesterday when Adolph "Dutch" Lehman, a cowboy, shot and seriously wounded George Thomas, 34, Negro.

Thomas was taken to a local hospital, where his recovery was considered doubtful. He had five bullet wounds in his body. Lehman was arrested by police. Other circus employes told of the ill-feeling between the pair.

Route of '76' Cars Changed for Week

Owing to reconstruction of track on Center avenue, Wilkinsburg cars of the 76 route, Hamilton, were being operated by way of Penn avenue to Swissvale to Jane to Coal to Franklin to Wood and thence over the regular route beginning today and continuing about a week, it was announced at the offices of the Pittsburgh Railways Company.

NEW 'VALJEAN' FIGHTS PRISON

CHICAGO, May 23.—(INS.)—A modern Jean Valjean waited in a jail cell today to learn whether he would have to go back to a Georgia chain gang.

He is Robert Elliot Burns, who, since his flight from Georgia seven years ago, has gained wealth here as a publisher.

He was arrested when his estranged wife, Mrs. Emily Pacheo Burns, exposed him. Burns, a war veteran, readily admitted his guilt. He said he arrived penniless in Atlanta, Ga., and with two companions he met in a "flop" house robbed a grocer of $4. For this he was sentenced to from six to 10 years in the chain gang.

"This will ruin me," he moaned, "and the chain gang will kill me."

Burns' wife declared she revealed his past only when she discovered he did not love her.

Foster Father Aids Boy, Confessed Killer

PHOENIX, Ariz., May 23.—(INS.)—Richard N. Burrows, 19, foster son of wealthy Chicago parents, will have his preliminary hearing on a charge of murdering Jack Martin here on May 29. The youth confessed he killed Martin, a salesman. Burrows took Martin's money and automobile after he killed the man who was giving him a "lift." Burrows' foster-father, W. M. Burrows, has provided the youth with an attorney.

TEN TO HEAR SENTENCES TOMORROW

Six Electing to Stand Trial In Greene County Conspiracy Change Minds

Six more members of the Greene County rum ring, said to have been headed by Archie (Red) Negelman, former prohibition agent, pleaded guilty to a conspiracy charge in the United States District Court today, thus terminating a trial that was expected to consume the remainder of the week.

Negelman and three others of the 12 defendants pleaded guilty yesterday.

ONE UNCAUGHT

Of the remaining three, one, Earnest Martinos, has never been apprehended; a second, August Rosio, is said to be serving a term in the Washington County jail, while the third, Rose Rosio, wife of August, was taken into custody by the United States marshal today.

The six who, after electing to stand trial, had a change of mind over night and pleaded guilty at the opening of court today are Edward Graves, Bellevernon; George Crago and his wife, Mrs. Cal Crago, Carmichaels; Owen Brown, Donora; Mike Medvic, alias Steve Novac, Nemicolon, and Raymond Bittinger, Scott Run, W. Va.

The four who pleaded guilty yesterday were Negelman, Ernest Ghenne and his wife, of Carmichaels, and William Durr, of Carmichaels.

SENTENCE TOMORROW

Sentence will be imposed tomorrow afternoon.

Negelman also pleaded guilty to another liquor conspiracy indictment in which Sheriff Arno S. McClellan, of Greene County, and Albert H. Scales, former group head of prohibition agents in Pittsburgh, are defendants. The latter case is scheduled for trial in November.

The government alleges the liquor conspiracy originated in Greene County and extended to adjoining counties and into West Virginia, and that under the leadership of Negelman stills were set up on farms for the manufacture of moonshine.

TELL OF STILLS

John Tufaro, a government witness, testified he was working in Medvic's store when he was hired by Negelman to operate a still on a farm near Monongahela. He said 50 to 60 gallons of moonshine were manufactured a day and that he had been promised $8 a day, but never was paid. While he was working there, he said, Negelman, Graves and Brown visited the place, and he told of alleged deliveries of moonshine to the Crago home.

Durr, a self-confessed conspirator, testified he had rented a chicken coop to Mrs. Crago for the storage of moonshine. Ghenne, testifying for the government, said he had rented the cellar of his home to Negelman for erection of a distillery. Other witnesses were Prohibition Agents I. I. Brought and Harvey Ruble and Teresa Bogdam, George Gero and Natale de Rosa.

South Fourth St. Improvement Asked

Officials of Dilworth, Porter and Company and the Pittsburgh Terminal Warehouse and Transfer Company have asked Council to authorize the improvement of South Fourth street from McKean street to the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad. They suggested the repaving and raising of the thoroughfare. The Dilworth company will erect a necessary retaining wall, and the Terminal company will give land at Fourth and Bingham streets to widen that intersection. The letter and plan were referred to Director Edward G. Lang, of the department of public works, for a recommendation and an estimate of the cost of the project.

BILL WILLIAMS AND THE NOSE-CLASP PEANUT-PUSHER IN ACTION

This is Bill Williams of Texas, equipped with the nose clasped long peanut pusher he's using today to boost a peanut up Pike's Peak—a task he bet he'd perform. At a speed of about a mile a day, the peanut should reach the peak on the twenty-fourth day.

Dorothy MacKaye Tries Comeback on Stage

International News Service.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 23.—Dorothy MacKaye, after nearly a year in San Quentin prison, has hit the comeback trail to the footlights.

DOROTHY MACKAYE

Miss Mackaye, after nearly a year in San Quentin prison, seeking to come back to the footlights.

And Monday evening, when the curtain goes up at the Plaza theater here, Dorothy MacKaye will return to character in an attempt to re-win her old popularity.

There's much of wine, women and song in "The Dove," but offstage that's all behind her, Miss MacKaye declares, part of a past she wants to forget along with the months of despair spent behind the gray walls of San Quentin.

"I'm coming back to the stage because it's my profession, not to indulge in any cheap capitalization of my life in prison," said the actress and ex-convict. "I was not guilty, no matter what the courts have decided, but that is past and the prison people were kind."

Released from San Quentin after serving 10 months of an indeterminate sentence for allegedly withholding information concerning the death of her husband, Ray Raysmond, killed in a fist fight with Paul Kelly in Los Angeles, Miss MacKaye declared she rejected an offer of $1,000 per week to star in a vaudeville production featuring the tragedy.

HOOVER BOARD TO STUDY DOPE

WASHINGTON, May 23.—President Hoover has been urged by Representative Fish (Rep.), of New York, to instruct his national law enforcement commission to conduct a sweeping investigation of the dope evil.

The commission will hold its first meeting at the White House next Tuesday. White House attaches declared the narcotic problem would be one of the chief subjects to come under the commission's microscope.

"I am exceedingly hopeful that the President's commission will make a thorough and impartial investigation of the narcotic situation and will recommend legislation to Congress to make enforcement effective," said Fish after the conference yesterday.

Pointing out that America's greatest problem in fighting the narcotic menace was to prevent the smuggling of huge quantities of dope from Europe, Fish recommended that the Hoover administration send a representative to the permanent Narcotic Control Board set up in Geneva under the auspices of the League of Nations.

Missing Baltimore Wife Sought Here

The Missing Persons Bureau received a letter today from H. D. Burke, of Hancock, Md., requesting that search be made for his wife, Mrs. Ruth L. Burke, 24. She left him May 4, Burke said, and he thinks she came to Pittsburgh.

Stolen Safe Found Smashed, Cash Gone

SANDY LAKE, Pa., May 23.—The 500-pound safe, containing $200, which was removed from the Vengold Creamery here, was found along a road two miles from town. It had been opened with a sledge and the contents taken.

Thieves Get Watch, Cash

Burglars entered the home of David Roth, 3364 Webster avenue, by jimmying a kitchen window and stole $70 cash, a watch valued at $38 and a suit of clothes, police were notified today.

Papers Hiding Power Link Facing Action by U. S.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The Federal Trade Commission will resume its investigation of power trust buying of newspapers today with a scrutiny of paper deals in Mobile, Ala., and elsewhere.

T. M. Stevens, Mobile attorney and considered the key witness in the inquiry into financing of the new Mobile Press, will be on the stand part of the day. The commission is sifting charges, denied by its publisher, that the Press was financed by the Alabama Power Company.

Through Stevens the commission expects to get full details of how the paper came to be started and at least a partial account of its financing. The connections of a Mobile man who lent the publisher $100,000 are being investigated privately, the lender to be subpenaed if the money appears to have come from power company sources.

SENATE THREAT SEEN

At the same time the commission plans to put into the record other evidence that has been obtained recently but has not yet been disclosed. This is believed to relate to newspaper deals in other cities.

Senator Thomas J. Walsh (Dem.), of Montana, yesterday introduced a resolution carrying a threat of federal prosecution of newspaper executives who failed to disclose power investments in their papers.

On an objection by Senator Simeon D. Fess (Rep.), of Ohio, to immediate consideration, the resolution went over under the rules until today.

Under it the Senate would refer to Attorney General Mitchell the sworn statements of ownership filed by 13 newspapers with the Postoffice Department last month, for such action as he deems appropriate.

With the statements would be sent the last monthly report of the Federal Trade Commission to the Senate, embracing testimony that the $500,000,000 International Paper and Power Company has a $10,000,000 interest in these papers.

STATEMENTS SCORED

Contrasting this testimony with the ownership statements in a speech yesterday, Walsh said some of the statements were "false" and failed to comply with the law.

He also read a letter of transmittal from Postmaster General Walter F. Brown, saying that the ownership statements "do not set forth all the information which is required to be furnished under the Act of August 24, 1912."

Brown added that the newspapers had been asked for amended statements, "showing all the information required by the law."

Walsh's resolution also would ask the attorney general to advise the Senate what changes are needed to make the present law "effective."

Weather Conditions.

There was a rather rapid movement of the pressure units during the last 24 hours. The high that was centered over the Ohio Valley states is now centered over the Middle Atlantic coast, and the western low pressure areas developed into a trough formation, extending from the upper lakes southwestward over the central plains to Arizona, with the principal center over the upper lake region. This disturbance is causing cloudy weather throughout the Central Valley states and light showers and thunderstorms over Michigan, Wisconsin, Southern Minnesota, Northern Illinois and at scattered places southwestward to the far Southwest.

Relatively high pressure covers the northern plains and northward over Manitoba and Saskatchewan. It caused a drop in temperature again over that section to slightly below freezing in Northern North Dakota and northward. East of the Mississippi River the temperature changes are towards rising.

River Conditions.

The rivers are now falling everywhere in the district. Stage at Franklin is 5.7 feet; Lock No. 7, 17.5; Pittsburgh, 17.9; Dam No. 2, 10.5; Dam No. 6, 19.2; Dam No. 9, 19.8, and Dam No. 12, 19.9.

ZEP'S ENGINES 'COLLAPSED'

By SIR HUBERT WILKINS.

[Famous explorer, who will be a passenger on the Graf Zeppelin in its flight from the Cuers-Pierrefeu Air Harbor to Friedrichshafen, and on its second Trans-Atlantic flight.]

(Copyright, 1929, by King Features Syndicate, Inc., in the United States, Canada, Great Britain, Ireland, Mexico, South America and Continental Europe, except Germany. All Rights Reserved, and reproduction in whole or part prohibited.)

TOULON, France, May 23.—(By Cable.—Four of the Graf Zeppelin's nacelles (motor gondolas) are now occpied by four sound engines, including the one which brought us to Cuers. The stern nacelle is empty.

The three new engines were run at low speeds in the hangar yesterday, and appear to be in perfect condition. Two thousand, four hundred cubic feet of gas was forced into the cells, and 1,000 pounds of water ballast loaded aboard the Graf.

WEATHER TO RULE

Meteorological conditions will control the departure of the airliner for Friedrichshafen today, and the weather over the Rhone Valley yesterday augured well for the start.

Because there is not sufficient meteorological data available to forecast accurately the air movements, it is difficult for pilots to announce the times of their departures previous to their start, and conditions here warrant a better meteorological organization.

A cursory examination of the engines during their removal revealed two with broken crankshafts and one with the crankcase shattered by a flying counterbalance on the crankshaft. This piece went through the case, and also caused some trouble and breakage. Other trouble was caused, probably, by the rearrangement of cylinders before the flight, dividing them instead of leaving them en bloc.

JUST COLLAPSED

But since there are no conspicuous flaws in the engines themselves, the main cause for their breaking down was "metallic fatigue," and the four engines now removed have done many hours of splendid service. Like "One Hoss Shay," they just collapsed, after doing heavy duty over their required number of hours.

This experience proves the necessity of frequent renewals and the danger of making changes in the machinery already proved and worn. Rearrangement brings a strain in fresh places, and then, due to the crystallization of metal, fractures are bound to occur.

The passengers are confident of the safety of airship operation, having absolute faith in these fine Meybach engines. They are eagerly awaiting an opportunity to step aboard again, and fly, irrespective of route or destination.

Trade Tour Party Feted In Three More Cities

By EDWARD GOSS,
Staff Correspondent.

WARREN, Pa., May 23.—The Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce "Goodwill" special, leaving here this morning, was scheduled to visit Franklin and Oil City today before reaching Erie for the night stop. Yesterday the "Goodwill" messengers visited Clearfield, DuBois and Warren.

The Pittsburgh representatives were received by the Clearfield Chamber of Commerce, headed by John Short, editor of the Clearfield Republican.

Completing one hour and 15 minutes in Clearfield, the visitors' train was switched to the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh Railroad, over which line the run from Clearfield to DuBois was made.

Dr. James P. Pollin, mayor of DuBois, greeted the Pittsburghers in a short speech of good fellowship. E. W. Curry responded in behalf of the party.

Upon arrival in Warren, the party scattered to see the town and met at 6:30 p. m., in the Y. W. C. A., where they were guests at a dinner given by the Warren Chamber of Commerce.

O. A. Pressel, a director of the Warren trade body, opened the after-dinner speaking, and turned the meeting over the President James Rae, W. Denny Shaler and Arthur V. Snell, of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce.

Fashion's Decree Speeded by Planes

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(AP.)—Development in airplane transportation has now reached the point where it is possible to display the latest fashion creations of New York and Paris at almost the same time in all parts of the United States. This fashion note was contained in an address today by J. H. Butler of New York, general manager of the department of public relations of the Railway Express Agency, Inc., before the annual convention of the freight claims division of the American Railway Association.

Cowboy, 100, Leg Broken, Would Bust Cayuse

CHILDRESS, Tex., May 23.—Reece Barton will be a hundred years old on his next birthday, but he is still a cowboy at heart as well as in actuality. He is suffering with a fractured leg crushed while riding a bronco on a ranch where he is employed near Childress. Commenting on his misfortune today he said:

'TYPICAL GIRL' MIAMI MISS

NEW YORK, May 23.—Smart Set Magazine announced here today that its national jury of award had chosen Miss Edna Peters, of Miami, Fla., as the Typical American Girl. She was entered in the finals by the Miami Daily News.

Miss Peters was one of the 18 young American women who appeared before Smart Set's national jury of award at the Hotel Montclair in this city.

She has dark brown hair and hazel eyes; is five feet four inches tall, and weighs 109 pounds. Like all of the girls who appeared before the national jury, she is greatly interested in sports and has taken an active part in the social and civil activities of her home town.

Although she lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Peters, who are pioneers in the development of Southern Florida, Edna earns her own living as a teacher in the Wise School of the spoken word and by filling public engagements as an elocutionist.

Every one of the 18 girls who appeared in the quest had a highly creditable record and the judges expressed regret that it was possible to choose only one girl for the honor of being the typical American girl, a title which carries with it an award of $5,000 in cash and a trip to Europe with her mother as companion.

In the quest, Miss Nellie Hoover, of Pittsburgh, was the entry of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

Harris Urges Clubwomen To Back Voting Machines

Seventy-five women representing 34 women's organizations Allegheny county at a meeting in the Congress of Women's Clubs yesterday were urged by State Senator Frank J. Harris to throw their support back of his bill for voting machines in Pennsylvania. Following the address a body of women was organized to carry the campaign to all sections of the county.

Mrs. J. O. Miller, former state chairman of the League of Women Voters, was elected chairman of the new organization; Mrs. George Bray, secretary, and Mrs. J. Andrew Gettig, treasurer.

Ten vice chairmen were named to supervise the drive.

The next meeting of the organization will be held June 24. The executive committee will meet next Tuesday to select a name for the organization.

Robert Lewin's 70th Birthday Observed

The seventieth birthday of Robert Lewin, one of Pittsburgh's pioneer merchants and citizens, was celebrated last night at a dinner in the Concordia Club. Born May 22, 1859, near Berlin, Mr. Lewin was engaged in business in Smithfield street until his retirement ten years ago. Among his philanthropic interests are the Gusky Home, the United Hebrew Relief Association and the B'nai Brith Home for Friendless Children, at Erie.

AMBUSH FATAL FOR BARBER

DETROIT, Mich., May 23.—(AP.)—Medis Hull, 30, operator of a barber shop, was shot and killed last night when he unwittingly drove his automobile into a gangster's ambush at an isolated spot on Telegraph road. He died early this morning.

Police today were seeking to ascertain whether Hull was marked for death by the gangsters or was the victim of mistaken identity. They said reports had reached them that Hull's barber shop was run merely as a "blind" for rum running.

Hull and two companions were returning to Detroit from Wyandotte when they drew near an automobile parked with its lights out. As they came alongside a shot was fired, shattering the windshield and entering Hull's head.

Schools and Clubs Plan Debates on Town Hall

Requests for material for debates on the proposed Town Hall are being received daily by the Allegheny County Town Hall Association from schools and colleges in the Pittsburgh district, officials said today.

Requests for material on the location question have come from students of the University of Pittsburgh and Duquesne University, English composition classes at these institutions, it was said, have written many themes during the last few days on the subject.

A debate is to be held within the next few days at the Taylor Allerdice High School on the comparative merits of a downtown and an Oakland site, and similar functions are planned in other high schools.

Further evidence of the interest which has been aroused over the subject is seen in the fact that clubs and organizations are asking for speakers to discuss the question. Speakers representing the association have already talked in favor of a downtown location before more than 60 clubs and many more are scheduled. Meetings are already scheduled as far ahead as the middle of June and others are being added to the list daily, according to Pressley H. Bailey, chairman of the speakers committee of the association. Today's meetings were to include one at the Bloomfield Board of Trade tonight and a second was scheduled at 2:30 p. m. for the Ben Avon League of Women's Voters.

Perry High Seniors Rehearse Playlet

Rehearsals are in progress at Perry High School, North Side, for presentation of "The Passing of the Third Floor Back," by senior class members, June 6 and 7. J. C. S. Hull, dramatic director, has charge.

K. T. CONCLAVE OPENS MONDAY

Buildings in the downtown district are being decorated with black and white bunting and the national colors in honor of the seventy-sixth annual conclave of the Grand Commandery, Knights Templar of Pennsylvania, which opens Monday and continues three days. The cross and crown insignia of the order also is being used in the decorations. In some instances, this has been made up in electric lights for night display.

Stands with a seating capacity of 6,000 have been erected in the park parallel to Cedar avenue, North Side, from Church avenue to North avenue, in preparation for the parade Tuesday morning. It will move through the downtown district to the North Side, where it will pass the reviewing stand and disband.

Thousands of visiting members of the order are expected to begin to arrive in Pittsburgh tomorrow and Saturday. In addition to the Knights from Pennsylvania, grand commanders in states adjacent to Pennsylvania have been invited to be the guests of Grand Commander John A. Murphy of Pittsburgh. The headquarters of the Grand Commandery will be in the William Penn hotel.

Two Women Injured By Truck Downtown

Mrs. Virginia Gibson, 36, of 232 Meridan street, Mt. Washington, was seriously injured, and Louise Vallowe, 64, of 641 Highland avenue, Bellevue, suffered cuts and bruises when, according to police, they walked into the side of a truck driven by Frank Kerchen, 26, of 1213 Broadway, McKees Rocks, at Liberty avenue and Seventh street, last night.

The victims were taken to the Allegheny General Hospital. Kerchen was not arrested.

Dumb Waiter Fire Does $600 Damage

Damage estimated by firemen at $600 resulted last night from a fire which started in the shaft of a dumb waiter in the book and calendar store of J. Janiszewski, at 2637 Penn avenue. Mrs. Julia Rabcewig, 69, residing on the third floor, was led to safety by a nephew. The offices of the Polish Daily Pittsburgher, on the second floor, were filled with smoke.

Regrouping of Coats

$25

A wonderful opportunity, tomorrow, for women, who need handsome, dressy coats for present wear, for the inevitable cool days of summer, and for early fall. A hundred and fifty coats from our finer spring lines have been re-marked to this moderate figure—how much more they were originally priced will be obvious to those who see them.

The Group Includes Regular, Large and Small Women's Sizes, But Choice Is Especially Good in Sizes 42 to 50

The coats are of fine, dull-surfaced and broadcloth weaves, many of them in black, some also in dark blue, gray and tan shades. In straightline, staple models, which have the advantage of lasting style.

All of them are trimmed with furs, in self or contrasting shade. They have variously styled collars of favorite summer furs, including squirrel, American broadtail, monkey, kid and goat.

ADVERTISE YOUR WANTS IN THE SUN-TELEGRAPH

A COMFORTABLE STEP-IN CHEMISE

Crepe de chine was chosen for this pleasing model, with a trimming of filet lace and edging, and lingerie ribbon for straps and string girdle. Asymmetric lines and surplice effect is featured in this style. The right front and right back portions lap over the left portions. The girdle holds the back portions, and confines the fullness of the fronts. Rayon, dimity and batiste are also suggested for this style.

The pattern is cut in four sizes: small, 34-36; medium, 38-40; large, 42-44, extra large, 46-48 inches bust measure. To make the garment for a medium size will require 2¼ yards of 39-inch material. For shoulder straps and string girdle of ribbon 2¾ yards will be required. The vestee of lace or contrasting material requires ¼ yard 18 inches wide.

Two Captured in Chase After Auto Collision

A chase from the North Side, over the Manchester Bridge and through the business district last night ended at Sixth and Webster avenues when police arrested two men in an automobile alleged to have fled after colliding with an automobile at Galveston avenue and Reedsdale street.

At the North Side Police Station they gave their names as Joe Davies, 25, of 1219 Winterton street, and Ralph St. John, 44, of 1114 West North avenue. Davies, alleged driver of the car, was charged with violation of the automobile laws, and St. John, a passenger, with being a suspicious person.

According to police the car hit another owned by Miss Pauline Hillegas and driven by her father, Ralph Hillegas, of 525 Oxford street, resulting in damage of $200 to the machine. No one was injured.

RAIDERS VISIT 6 SALOONS

Six saloons were raided and a beer-laden truck was seized by Federal prohibition agents last night. Three of six persons arrested were released on their own recognizance.

Observing two men unload beer from a truck into a saloon at 105 East General Robinson street, the agents arrested John Verdi, 29, a helper on the truck. The driver escaped. The raiders then visited the saloon and reported seizing several bottles of whisky. The truck, said to contain three barrels of beer, also was seized.

Saloons where liquor law violations were discovered and persons arrested, according to the agents' report, were at 519 Brownsville avenue, Andrew Hoag; 18 Mt. Oliver street, Edmund H. Nock; 153 South Twenty-second street, Mrs. Evelyn Wasical; 1014 Madison avenue, Earl Mills, and 5420 Second avenue, Foster K. Evrly.

The latter three were released on their own recognizance, while the others were held in $1,000 bond each.

Blood Cell Protein Serums

(Copyright, 1909)

MEANS HERITAGE for the WORLD! WHAT IS MORE VALUABLE!

"Nature Cannot Be Drugged"

FOR her laws are infallible, and cannot be set aside by the hand of man. Good health is natural and disease is unnatural, because contrary to nature; sickness is merely a deficiency of one or more of the basic elements out of which the human body is composed. Supply the needful substances and nature with her marvelous selective mechanism will choose the right elements needed, send them through that great purifying organ, the Blood Stream, to the parts that need them, and good health follows, and that is the function of Blood Cell Protein Serum—to supply the constituents the body needs to maintain good health.

Blood Cell Protein Serums are the result of careful, patient study. The method of preparing these Protein Serums as well as the principle upon which they are built is scientific. Their therapeutic value has been conclusively proven by thousands whom they have benefited.

Blood Cell Serums affect not only one organ, but have a corrective influence on every part of the body. Why drug your stomach day after day from year to year? Come to our Laboratory, and we will give you a thorough physical and Laboratory examination, which will disclose the cause of your trouble. We will then determine just what Serum should be used in your case. We have helped thousands to renewed health and strength. One correct Serum often affords relief. Chronic cases which have long resisted treatment respond readily to the action of Blood Cell Protein Serum. There is no pain—no risk, for these Serums are safe and reliable. They contain no opiates or narcotics.

Records show that thousands given in the past year at our Laboratories established in many of the largest cities for the benefit of the sick have been successful.

A serum for every chronic ailment.

BANK IS CLOSED BY SUICIDE TRY

SHINNSTON, W. Va., May 23.—(AP.)—Jesse Nuzum, president of the First National Bank here, which failed to open for business yesterday, issued a statement in which he said the officers of the bank felt the "depositors are amply protected." The bank is in the hands of national bank examiners.

Clyde A. Cole, cashier of the bank, shot himself last Thursday, but was only slightly wounded, having been discharged from a hospital yesterday. President Nuzum, in his statement, said the board of directors decided to close the bank "owing to the incident that happened last Thursday."

La Follette Would Admit Scribes to Senate Floor

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Amendment of the Senate rules to extend the privileges of visiting the Senate floor to representatives of the press associations was proposed today by Senator La Follette (Rep.), Wisconsin, who yesterday objected to the use of the floor by any newspaperman after the rules committee had voted to deny the privilege to the United Press Associations.

The action against the United Press Associations was taken on the basis of the publication of a purported roll call of a secret meeting of the senate by which Irvine L. Lenroot, of Wisconsin, was confirmed as a federal judge. The roll call has been described as inaccurate. Soon afterwards Vice President Curtis announced that the rules prohibited newspapermen from going on the senate floor in doing their work.

Senator Norris, (Rep.) Nebraska, lodged a protest today against the authority of the rules committee to report out a resolution asking the senate to condemn the senator or senate employee who divulged information on a secret session. He contended the committee was without authority to propose such a resolution which is now on the senate calendar.

Abolition of the ancient custom of holding secret sessions of the Senate to consider presidential nominations seemed probable today as the warfare between senatorial groups boiled merrily on.

Inquiry by International News Service disclosed that a majority of senators favor throwing all sessions of the Senate open to the public, except in comparatively rare instances where the foreign relations of the United States might be embarrassed by public discussion.

$7,800 PAID U.S. IN DRY FINES

Coffers of the United States Treasury received $7,800 by the payment of fines imposed in Federal court by violators of the prohibition law. Forty-one defendants, among them several women, had fines ranging from $50 to $500 imposed on them when they entered pleas of guilty before Judge R. M. Gibson. Most of the violators were first offenders and in only a few cases were the violations after the Jones act became effective. A large number of the dfendeants were charged with maintaining common nuisances, in addition to other offenses.

The defendants, together with the amount of fines and places where the offenses occurred were as follows: Joe Sonowitz, 126 Third avenue, McKeesport, $500; Charles Nauman, Summit House, Steubenville pike, $300; Philip Heller, 4921 Broad street, $250; Anthony E. Winkler, Wilmerding, $300; Frank Walkaukas, 1219 Beaver avenue, $300; Alex Passarello, $150; Charles Gmuer, 1700 Lowrie street, $200; Ida Danenberg, 1704 Center avenue, $150; Joseph Diest, Stoyestown, Bedford county, $250; A. Bennett, 6320 Frankstown avenue, $300; Charles Dwyer, 5406 Butler street, $100; Joseph Zogelis, 1020 Braddock avenue, Braddock, $300; and John Goulan, Pittsburgh, $300.

Other defendants were fined as follows: William J. Gordon, $400; Frederick Redeker and Philip Amen, $300 each; Clarence Baer, Thomas McTighe and Thomas J. Stack, $250 each; A. J. Stugan, Sophia Lucas, Ralph Samuels, and John Lane, $200 each; George Reese, Walter E. Rice, Frank Bruscemi and John Bontempi, $150 each; William Hamilton, Philip J. Platt, Henry Wigmore, Walter Dempski, George W. Davis and Sam Zappia, $100 each; Michael Capone and Frank Rodgers, $75 each; Mildred Stugan, Joe Dempski, Mike Toocek, and John J. Welsh, $50 each.

this simple way

This simple way of treating dandruff has been proved successful by tens of thousands—after complicated methods failed. Simply douse full strength Listerine on the scalp and massage thoroughly. Keep this treatment up systematically. You will be delighted by results.

Dandruff is a germ condition which yields to Listerine because the latter is powerful against germs.

Laboratory tests show that full strength Listerine destroys even the stubborn Staphylococcus Aureus (pus) and also kills 200,000,000 of the Bacillus Typhosus (typhoid) germs in 15 seconds. We could not make such a statement unless we were prepared to prove it to the entire satisfaction of the medical profession and the U. S. Government.

Old Favorites to Be Heard On Radio Programs

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor.

TWO solos with wide appeal appear on tonight's programs. Frank Luther, tenor, guest soloist with Lehn and Fink, KDKA at 8 p. m., will sing the "Gypsy Love Song" from Herbert's "Fortune Teller," and Jessica Dragonette, the incomparable, supported by a male quartet, will sing the "Barcarolle" from "Tales of Hoffman," WCAE at 8:30 o'clock.

Liszt's "Second Hungarian Rhapsody" is the outstanding number on the U. S. Marine Band concert over WJAS at 8:30 o'clock.

WJAS also has lots of love interest tonight with a Japanese love tale on the Arabesque period at 8 o'clock and a revelation of secret love letters in the Lilliendahl murder case, the Detective Mystery at 9.

"Broadway Lights" is a new feature over WCAE at 9:30 o'clock. At an earlier hour over this station, Buck and Wing will be found earning their eats as "singing waiters."

Orth's novelty descriptive, "In a Clock Store," has been selected by Victor Saudek as one of the selections to be played at 6:01 p. m. during the Little Symphony concert at KDKA.

"The Clue of the Secret Love Letters" will give the real story of the solving of the Lilliendahl murder case.
"The Clue of the Secret Love Letters" concerns the murder of Dr. A. William Lilliendahl, of South Jersey. His widow's story that they were attacked while driving in their car by two giant Negroes, who killed her husband, was almost believed. The flaw in the story came to light, however, when the secret love letters between her and her lover, Willis Beach, were discovered. They are both now in prison, convicted of murder, and the detective methods that led to their conviction will be dramatically portrayed.

30 PITTSBURGH MAGICIANS SADDLE BROOMSTICKS TO LIMA CONVENTION

By GEORGE SEIBEL

THIRTY magicians of Pittsburgh will pack up their wands June 4 and flit to the thriving town of Lima, in the Buckeye State, where the annual convention of the International Brotherhood of Magicians takes place June 5 to 7. The Pittsburgh delegation will be one of the largest at the convention, and they will have a float to glorify their art and their city. Signor Antonio Mascaro, one of the local Merlins, will go on to Lima a week earlier to build this float, which will be appropriately emblematic of Ring 13, the Pittsburgh branch of the Brotherhood.

This Pittsburgh branch has 60 members, and the Brotherhood itself has about 2,500 members. So it doesn't look as if the Black Art were dying out since the conventions aren't held on the Brocken any longer.

George Seibel

That float of Lucky Ring No. 13 will be draped with the Pittsburgh colors, black and yellow. The wizards riding on the float will wear black shirts and yellow ties, black stovepipe hats from which cannon balls can be produced, and a yellow 13 embroidered on each hat. Around the float 13 large silver linking rings, such as Chinese magicians use, will be suspended. Above the float will be a large linking ring, turned into a swing, in which the Queen of Magic will be surrounded by smoke—symbolizing both the Pittsburgh mills and the Bottomless Pit.

Rumor has it that the Queen of Magic will be Miss I. C. Egler, one of the few women magicians in the world. She is secretary of the Pittsburgh Ring. The Pittsburgh Ring also has one of the few preacher magicians in the world. He is the Rev. T. V. Voorhees, who is pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church at Venetia, when he is not attending a Sabbat of the Sorcerers.

The vice president of the Pittsburgh Ring is M. G. Rensland and the treasurer is E. H. Maier. There are some very well-known performers among the membership—including Vasco, Edward Menke and the team of Schreck and Johnston. Then there is the dean of the Pittsburgh magical fraternity, Robert H. Hartley, who has known all the famous prestidigitators from Hermann the Great.

Prof. Hartley—every magician is a professor—builds his own apparatus in a shop that occupies the third floor of his Shady avenue mansion. He gives scores of performances every year—but only for charitable purposes.

Lima Convention To Break Record

They are expecting at least 600 magicians at the Lima convention. Though many of the big people in the profession, like Howard Thurston, will still be scattered all over the land, playing every night, some of them have timed their routes so that they can drop in on the convention. And, of course, all the distinguished amateurs will be there.

The Lima convention will have a contest among the amateurs, with prizes offered for the best card trick, the best coin trick, the best tricks with balls, silk, ribbons, handkerchiefs, flowers, etc. There are 17 such contests with four prizes offered in each.

Besides the 600 magicians, it is estimated that the population of Lima will be increased by about 500 Bunnies, 400 guinea pigs, 200 trained doves, 50 ducks and geese, 99 canaries and 57 animals of other species.

W. W. Durbin, of Kenton, O., who is president of the I. B. M., and also is prominent in Ohio state politics, has arranged with the local police authorities to give the visiting necromancers the freedom of the city. That, of course, is merely a formality, because it would be impossible to handcuff or lock up any of the fraternity—like Houdini, they would escape in 30 seconds.

STAGE AND SCREEN PLAYERS OF COMING WEEK

Mary Pickford's first talkie, "Coquette," stays in Aldine another week.

Kenneth Daigneau has a leading role in "So This Is London," Pitt comedy.

Estelle Taylor will be with Lon Chaney in "Where East Is East," Penn film.

Will Rogers and Andrew Tombs have comedy roles in "Three Cheers," musical comedy coming to the Nixon with Dorothy Stone co-starring with Rogers.

Jones' Exposition Is Open for Two Weeks

Johnny J. Jones' exposition is showing here for two weeks in old Exposition Park. Despite heavy rain there is said to be but little mud. Jones has strewn the midway with carloads of cinders, shavings and sawdust.

Crowds attending find many new rides. A big feature this year is the "Whoopee" ride, giving practically all the thrills of an airplane crash, with all the danger eliminated. In the show are huge alligators and turtles from Florida everglades and Ituri pygmies from the Belgian Congo, as well as Hawaiian singers, freak animals, human oddities, fun houses, trained monkeys, scenic and electrical revues, dancing elephants and human midgets.

MIRTH, TUNES IN COMING BILLS

George M. Cohan's comedy satire, "So This Is London," will be presented in the Pitt by the George Sharp Players next week.

Will Rogers, substitute for Fred Stone, and Dorothy Stone will be seen in "Three Cheers in the Nixon next week with matinees Wednesday and Saturday. Seats are on sale in the box office.

"Where East Is East," Lon Chaney's latest starring picture, will be the next attraction in the Penn. Lupe Velez and Estelle Taylor are featured. Wesley Eddy's second stage presentation as master of ceremonies in the Penn is called "Bright Lights."

Dorothy Mackaill and Jack Mulhall talk together for the first time and play together for the last time in "Two Weeks Off," which comes to the Stanley Monday. Both have become stars in their own right.

TWO FILMS HELD OVER

Carlotta King and John Boles are featured in "The Desert Song," current attraction at the Grand, which is to remain next week.

Mary Pickford is to remain in the Aldine for a second week, beginning Monday, appearing in her first talk picture, "Coquette."

Betty Blythe, screen and stage star, will appear in person at the Harris the last half of this week in Desert," featuring Noah Berry, will be the screen attraction.

Harry Evanson is the leading comic with "Jazztime Revue," which closes the Academy's season this week.

BILLS IN EAST END

Audrey Ferris adopts a disguise which hardly makes her recognizable in part of "Fancy Baggage," which comes to the Regent Saturday.

Corinne Griffith's first talking picture is "Saturday's Children," from the Broadway stage play of the same name which comes to the Enright Saturday.

The vaudeville in the Sheridan Square for the last three days of this week will be headed by the Alexander and Olson Revue. "Love in the Desert," featuring Noah Berry, will be the screen presentation.

Admits Attempting to Rob Postoffice, Gets 2 Years

Earl C. Redcross, 34, Negro, was sentenced by Federal Judge R. M. Gibson to two years in the Atlanta penitentiary when he pleaded guilty to attempting to break into the postoffice at Dravosburg on May 12.

Recently he was released from the Western Penitentiary where he served nine years for robbing homes in East Liberty, it was said.

A few days after the attempt to enter the postoffice, Redcross was arrested in East Pittsburgh, in possession of a brace and two bits that were used in attempting to effect entry to the postoffice.

Joe Jackson, 30, Negro, was named as a co-defendant with Redcross. He escaped when Redcross was captured by Union Railroad Company police. The latter turned Redcross over to postal authorities.

Woodside to Give Memorial Address

WAYNESBURG, Pa., May 23.—Robert G. Woodside, Pittsburgh war veteran and Allegheny county controller, will be the principal speaker at the Memorial Day exercises here.

The services will be in charge of the James Farrell Post of the American Legion. Members of the Volunteer Fire Department, Company K, One Hundred Tenth Infantry, and numerous other local organizations, will appear in the parade.

Special services in honor of G. A. R. members of Greene county will be held in the Waynesburg Methodist Episcopal Church Sunday.

Woman Hurt in Crash $10,000 Suit Brought

James E. Routley, chief clerk in the office of County Commissioners, and his wife, Anne M. Routley, filed suit against the Yellow Cab Company, in Common Pleas Court, asking $10,000 damages for personal injuries to Mrs. Routley. On May 22, 1927, while Mrs. Routley was standing beside an automobile owned by James L. Reddington on Third avenue near Grant street, a taxicab, operated by an intoxicated driver, collided with the Reddington car and hurled her to the street, causing serious injury, according to the statement of claim.

Internal Revenue Collectors to Dine

D. B. Heiner, Collector of Internal Revenue, will be toastmaster at a testimonial banquet to be given in honor of all deputy collectors tonight at Kaufmann's dining room. The banquet will start at 7:00 p. m. It will be followed by a dance and card party.

Bellevue Minister At 111th Memorial

The Rev. John B. Magee, of Bellevue, has been chosen as one of the speakers for the mmorial srvices which the One Hundred and Eleventh Infantry Veterans' Association will conduct for the regiment's dead heroes, Sunday, May 26, at 2:30 p. m., in the Gen. Albert J. Logan Armory, Oakland.

Capt. Robert S. Cain, commander of the association, will preside. Gen. E. C. Shannon will speak and Rabbi Herman Hailperin of the Tree of Life Synagogue, will deliver the invocation. The Stanley Theater Quartet will sing.

COUNTY BRIDGE PLANS O. K.'D

HARRISBURG, May 23.—(AP).—Permits for the construction of 29 bridges and three dams were approved yesterday by the State Water and Power Resources board.

Among the applications granted were:

Commissioners of Allegheny county, West End, for North Side bridge No. 3, across Ohio river, in Pittsburgh; for bridge across Jack's Run, in Bellevue borough and Pittsburgh; for bridge No. 2 and change in channel of Lowries Run, Emsworth borough, and for bridge No. 12, across Chartiers Creek, Bridgeville borough. Also for wall along Turtle Creek in East Pittsburgh.

Montour Railroad Company, for change in channel and construction of two bridges across Piney Fork Creek and one across Catfish Creek, all in Snowden township, Allegheny county.

Mausoleum's Formal Dedication Sunday

The formal dedication of Mt. Royal Memorial Mausoleum, in Mt. Royal cemetery on the Butler pike, is scheduled for 3:00 p. m. Saturday. There will be several addresses and a musical program. The Rev. Dr. S. B. Linhart will deliver the invocation.

Schwab Buys Slumping Plant 'For Sentiment'

DANVILLE, Pa., May 23.—(AP.)—Charles M. Schwab carries sentiment into his business.

The one-time water boy who rose to the chairmanship of the board of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, during an address yesterday before the annual convention of the Rail Steel Works Managers and Superintendents of the United States and Canada, said in reference to his Danville plant:

"I am in business here for sentiment rather than money."

Schwab took over the plant for his company from his nephew, C. S. Wagner, during whose ownership the manufactory took a financial slump. The steel magnate said he has never yet been associated with any concern that lost money.

In addition to making his annual inspection of the mills and attending the steel men's convention, he addressed the nurses graduating at the Geisinger Hospital.

Farce to Be Given At 7th U. P. Church

Fatigue, "Worn Out," and "Tired Feeling"

TELL ME WHAT YOU EAT, and how you chew it, and I'll tell you how you feel. Most of the fatigue, or tired feeling complained of, is due to badly chewed, hence undigested food, then faulty elimination, and absorption of germs and poisons back into the blood, which should have passed out of the body.

SPECIALISTS HAVE FOUND THAT BAD TEETH and lack of teeth are easily the chief source of disease, expressed in mental and physical fatigue, tired or worn out feelings.

I WANT YOU TO FEEL FREE TO COME in at any time, and see me about your teeth, beauty, and health. My training as physician-dentist is at your service. I TAKE PLEASURE in serving the many at lower prices instead of the few. I BELIEVE in the greatest good for the greatest number. I EMPHASIZE as an experienced physician-dentist, the value of good teeth to your beauty and health. I have SUCCESSFULLY BANISHED ALL FEAR OF PAIN in extracting teeth so tha today it is unwise to neglect to remove bad teeth, which are the chief cause of ill health, and which EVERY PHYSICIAN KNOWS affects your appearance. You must realize that my methods of extraction by GAS AND OXYGEN (vital air—so called because it is almost like the AIR WE BREATHE), the SAFEST ANAESTHETIC KNOWN and used by SURGEONS THROUGHOUT THE WORLD. Suitable to ALMOST ANY AGE and ABSOLUTELY PAINLESS or sweet air, called somnoform, meaning sleeplike, and NOVOCAINE, which NUMBS the NERVES, if you choose.

I AM OFFERING THESE SPECIALS this week. A PLATE MADE of an olive vulcanite, LIGHT but STRONG, selected teeth in SHAPE and SHADE, NATURAL LOOKING, guaranteed fit at a price never before offered, $17.50. Also a velvo-lined plate, the plate that "Sits and grips." Beautiful, COMFORTABLE, LASTING and STAYS UP when OTHERS FALL. Special this week, $22.50. Other plates as low as $5.

How many eggs will a basket hold?

THE size of a basket controls the number of eggs it will carry. And the size of a newspaper's circulation governs the advertising results it can produce.

Trying to put all your eggs in one basket is taking a long-shot chance under any circumstances—but it's utter folly when the basket isn't half big enough.

The Pittsburgh Press INTIMATES (it is careful not to say so outright) in the advertisement reproduced to the left, that the Press' coverage of the Pittsburgh market is sufficient to meet an advertiser's requirements.

But Advertisers who know present Pittsburgh newspaper circulations—and like to see real results from their advertising dollars—appreciate that Pittsburgh is a TWO newspaper town.

The circulation of the Sunday Sun-Telegraph is far ahead of that of the Sunday Press. Daily Press and Daily Sun-Telegraph circulations are almost the same.

If you, Mr. Advertiser, are SATISFIED with HALF a market, use the Press, or the Sun-Telegraph, alone. But if you want ALL of the business available in the evening and Sunday fields, use BOTH evening and Sunday papers.

That's a common sense fact that far outweighs theory or any attempt on the part of one newspaper to "get it all."

Campaign to Aid Hospital In Japan Opens Here

How the hand of mercy is extended, with that of friendship, toward the people of Japan was described to a large gathering of Pittsburghers last night at a dinner in the Hotel Schenley under the auspices of the Pittsburgh committee for St. Luke's International Medical Center, Tokio, Japan.

Dr. Rudolf Bolling Teusler, director of the institution, declared that it was the greatest practical tie of friendship between the United States and Japan.

The Tokio Hospital was established by Dr. Teusler, a native of Virginia, who was sent to Japan as a medical missionary by the Protestant Episcopal Church in 1902. Temporary buildings have been erected since the Japanese earthquake and serve 6,500 bed patients and 156,000 dispensary patients yearly. A fund of $2,656,500 is required for permanent buildings, Dr. Teusler said. Addresses were made by Dr. Mabel E. Elliott, member of the hospital staff, and Mrs. Henry P. Davison, of New York. Bishop Alexander Mann presided.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Ellen Page Selects Girls Of Bridal Party for Wedding June 10

AS THE days pass and we come nearer and nearer to the end of May, I am beginning to wonder whether our society folks are going to have even one free day next month. Between weddings and debut parties, it's going to be one busy time. The weddings, of course, far outnumber the coming-out parties, but, as I told you before, the smaller entertainments for the buds will be held almost every day throughout June.

So far, we haven't heard about many of the weddings set for the latter part of the month, but there are several important ones scattered through the first couple of weeks. One of these is set for June 10, when Ellen Page, daughter of the Benjamin Pages, of Colonial place, will marry Samuel Durand Ringsdorf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henry Ringsdorf, of Wilkes-Barre. You remember, perhaps, my telling you that the ceremony will be performed at 5 o'clock in Trinity Cathedral.

Ellen is having her brother's wife, Mrs. Francis LeMoyne Page, for her matron of honor, and there will be eight bridesmaids. These girls include Mr. Ringsdorf's two sisters, Mrs. Anson Barker, of Lawrenceville, N. J., and Anne Ringsdorf, of Wilkes-Barre; Ruth Pedersen, of New York; Ellen's cousins, Lucretia Billings, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic T. Billings, and Mrs. Louis E. Schmertz, Jr., the former Marcia LeMoyne; Mrs. Charles Chauncey Mellor II, who was Katherine Whitten, of Greensburg, before her marriage on February 2; Wilhelmina Balken, daughter of Edward Duff Balken, and Mrs. Reginald C. Quaile, the former Roberta Rhodes.

ANOTHER June wedding you will be interested in hearing about is set for two days later, June 12. This is the marriage of Verna Louise Brenneman, of Amberson avenue, and William Seward Lyon, son of the Edward A. Lyons, of Plainfield, N. J., and it will be solemnized in the bride's New York home in Park avenue. Verna, you know, is the daughter of Mrs. Griffith Robinson and the late Louis A. Brenneman, of Amberson avenue.

ONE of yesterday's social events was the luncheon which Mrs. Alexander Laughlin, of Linganore, Sewickley, gave in honor of Mrs. Henry P. Davison, of New York. Mrs. Davison is in Pittsburgh in the interests of the movement to build a new medical center at St. Luke's International Hospital in Tokio, Japan, and was one of the guests of honor at a dinner given last night in the Hotel Schenley by the local committee.

AND while we're talking about Sewickleyans, did you know that Mrs. William Arrott is going to leave next week to motor to Hyannisport, Mass., where she has taken a cottage for the season? Her sister, Mrs. Bond Valentine Summerville, of Carnegie, will go with her and will spend several weeks in the East. Mrs. William Welch Collin, Jr., and her daughter, Katherine, are also among the Sewickleyans going East. They are planning to go to the Westover School at Middlebury, Conn., to be guests of another daughter, Georgiana, for visitors' day.

Mrs. John B. Booth, of Grant street, Sewickley, will be going over East shortly, too. She is the alumnae delegate chosen to represent the Pittsburgh Abbot Club at the centennial celebration of the founding of Abbot Academy at Andover, Mass. The celebration will be held from June 1 to 5.

I UNDERSTAND that all the parking space about the horse show ring at the Allegheny Country Club has been sold for the horse show, to be held June 6, 7 and 8. The committee, which is headed by Mrs. William Christopher Robinson, also has sold many of the boxes, and among the boxholders are Mrs. Henry R. Rea, Mrs. William Penn Snyder, Mrs. Richard B. Mellon, Mrs. Leonard Woods, Mrs. J. Frederic Byers and Mrs. Harvey N. Van Voorhis.

* * *

ROBERT BRINKER is chairman for the University of Pittsburgh senior ball which will be held Monday night, June 3, in the Hotel Schenley. His committee includes Miss Anna Watts Arthur, Joseph C. Barr, Robert Cohen, Henry Cossitt, Miss Agnes Davis, Alex Fox, George Gage, Ogden Gensheimer, Miss Mary Gush, Donald S. Gwinn, Don Hume, Emmons Mortson and John Schaub. The chaperons will be Mr. and Mrs. James Calvin Reed, Dr. and Mrs. William Fredin Swanson and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel R. Williams.

Hadassah Members Honor Mrs. Vixman

HADASSAH DAY, as observed yesterday by the Pittsburgh Chapter, was one prolonged tribute to Mrs. A. H. Vixman, one of the founders, who is leaving Pittsburgh to make her home in New York after a summer's sojourn in Palestine. The ceremonies began with luncheon in the Y. M. and W. H. A., where covers were laid for 308. Mrs. Moses Krieger, another of the founders, presiding in the absence of the new president, Mrs. I. H. Levin, introduced the speakers, all of whom extolled Mrs. Vixman's character and work. Among them were Mrs. Morris Cohen, of New Castle, regional president for Western Pennsylvania, East Ohio and West Virginia; Mrs. Julian Pack, of Johnstown, state president of the Council of Jewish Women; Mrs. Leo Half, president of the Jewish Women's Organizations; Miss Flora Snyder, national president Junior Hadassah; Miss Racille Strolovitz, president of Pittsburgh Junior Hadassah; Mrs. Julius Cohen, retiring president of the hostess group, and Dr. Luba Robin Goldsmith.

In addition to the speeches there was a delightful program by Mrs. Caroline Himelblau, accompanied by the juniors. Participating in this were Freda Cazen, Leah Colker, Rhea Colker, Helen Sisenwain, Mrs. Sidney Shubin, Mrs. William Fink and Mrs. Morris Lyons. Hadassah's colors, blue and white, were carried out in the decorations of tapers and spring blossoms, a toy ship topping the counterpiece at the honor table.

A BRIDGE and "500" party will be held Saturday afternoon by the evening department of the Aspinwall Woman's Club as a benefit for the clubhouse fund. Miss Sarah Tesh, general chairman, is being assisted by Mrs. Gladys Jardine, Mrs. Fred Sauer, Miss Gladys Darby, Mrs. Thomas Fulton and Miss Alice McKean, chairmen of the various committees. The civic department of the Woman's Club has chosen its new heads as follows: Chairman, Mrs. S. F. Herr; school committee, Mrs. John Konstanzer and Mrs. H. P. Hamilton, chairman and vice chairman; blind committee, Mrs. E. W. Young, chairman; legislative, Mrs. L. W. Hagmaier; welfare, Mrs. D. E. Bealor.

IN addition to the entertainment features already announced for the drama meeting at the Congress of Clubs tomorrow, the program will include "Rolls and Salt," Edna St. Vincent Millay's playlet as it was presented before the Twentieth Century Club recently by Mrs. E. F. Salisbury and Mrs. Leonard K. Guiler. Chester M. Wallace, director of the School of Drama, Carnegie Institute of Technology, will read a play and Mrs. Delphine Heimert and Miss Harriet Werle will appear in a costume recital. Members of the drama department of the Wilkinsburg Woman's Club will serve as hostesses.

THE Wilkinsburg Women's Club will bring its season to a close with the annual luncheon tomorrow in the Edgewood Country Club. The program will include contralto numbers by Miss Virginia Kendrick, selections by the club choral and readings by Mrs. Nelle Moore Sprowls. The junior members of the club will be guests of the seniors.

ELECTION held by the Ohio State University Women's Club has resulted as follows: President, Mrs. Florence D. Kinney; vice president, Miss Elizabeth Collette; treasurer, Mrs. Spencer Hunt; secretary, Mrs. Clarence Seavers. Mrs. Seavers will leave late in June for Camp Neecarius in Northern Michigan where she will be counsellor this season.

Vets' Poppy Day Drive Indorsed by Mrs. Rauh

Mrs. Enoch Rauh, director of the Pittsburgh Department of Public Welfare, today indorsed the Poppy Day drive of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, to be held Saturday. She called for a generous response to the drive for veterans' welfare.

The indorsement was made public by P. D. Seybold, county commander of the Allegheny County Council of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

"My heartiest indorsement goes to the Veterans of Foreign Wars in their effort, through Buddy Poppy Day, to secure from the public sufficient funds to provide properly and adequately for the welfare and well being of those brave, self-sacrificing noble men who gave of their best to protect the highest interests of this country," Mrs. Rauh declared.

So exceedingly rare is the beauty which Hepplewhite imparted to his furniture that a Hepplewhite sideboard recently sold for $13,000. Much of that same beauty has been recaptured in the lines of the J. & C. Fischer Baby Grand. Before Hepplewhite's time, furniture legs were generally curved and often clumsy; he introduced the straight, slender, tapering leg which has become the ideal today and which is found in the J. & C. Fischer Baby Grand. He inlaid delicate designs upon his chairs and tables, and so the J. & C. Fischer bears a classic Greek shell motif, beautifully inlaid, to give just the authentic dash of color. Full-toned yet compact, this charming baby grand is particularly appropriate for the small room.

So that all may enjoy healthful vegetables

Cook with sugar in only a little water

A GROUP of cooking experts recently made extensive tests in New York on the correct way of cooking vegetables. They made a discovery so simple and yet so far-reaching that every woman interested in good foods should know about it.

The vegetables were cooked in various ways. The various dishes were numbered. Then the experts tested them and voted. In every case the vegetables prepared with sugar and little water won unanimously.

Try, for example, this delicious Corn Pudding. Use either fresh or canned corn. To 2 cups of corn add 1 canned pimiento and 1 small green pepper shredded coarsely, ½ small grated onion, 2 well-beaten eggs, 2 level tablespoons of sugar, 1 teaspoon of salt, ¼ teaspoon of pepper and paprika, 2 tablespoons of flour, 1 teaspoon of baking powder and 1 cup of milk. Mix all ingredients together, add 2 teaspoons of melted butter. Drain into a well-buttered casserole and bake half an hour. Then remove cover and delicately brown.

Try this new discovery every time you cook a vegetable. Note how much more both children and adults like vegetables cooked in this way because the added sugar develops and brings out all the natural, tasteful flavors of the foods. Sugar restores the flavor of freshness to vegetables that are wilted and to canned vegetables. Add a dash or more of sugar, depending on quantity, when cooking peas, lima beans, string beans, corn, carrots, beets, parsnips, sweet potatoes, squash, onions and tomatoes. Good food promotes good health. The Sugar Institute.

SHE THOUGHT: "I'll never invite you again,"
Yet, to be polite, SHE SAID: "It's nice to have you here, Ruth"

Charming—yet unwelcome . . . can it be "B. O."? (Body Odor)

"I DID enjoy Alice Cole's bridge," Ruth was thinking some weeks later. "But she's never asked me again.

"Same old story—people like me at first—but quickly lose interest."

Then Ruth began to suspect the trouble. Read what she learned about "B. O."

"I'd never believe a person could be guilty of body odor—and not know it—except that it happened to me.

"'B. O.' fools us like that, my doctor explained, because we become insensitive to familiar odors. But even on cool days the pores give off as much as a quart of odor-causing waste.

"Now, thanks to Lifebuoy, I never worry about offending. Its wonderful antiseptic lather is so purifying, you feel 'like a million dollars' after a Lifebuoy bath. Lifebuoy removes even cigarette odors from the hands, my brother says."

For healthier skins, too

"I think Lifebuoy's a marvelous complexion soap, too. And it safeguards us all against germs. You can tell Lifebuoy purifies from its pleasant, extra-clean scent that vanishes as you rinse."

"Joy of Living" ...and that's how Breakfast became a Delight instead of a Duty

There used to be a time when breakfast was simply something that had to be eaten.

Then Heinz discovered a new process of cereal-making and, presto, everything was changed. Instead of tasteless foods—Heinz Rice Flakes! Fairy flakes of toasty goodness fit for a king. Crispy, crunchy, with a flavor like butter-browned nut-meats.

Something else was changed too. Days of lazy loginess were changed to days of happy vigor. For this new Heinz process transforms the natural roughage of the rice into a pure cellulose—giving the flakes the healthful qualities of a gentle, natural laxative.

So there you are. A breakfast that's good to eat as well as good for you to eat—and it's name is Heinz Rice Flakes!

Be Slender in a Smart New Coat

From the Duchess Shop

39.75 to 59.00

Women who wear sizes 38½ to 52½, if they are wise, choose coats that have an illusion of slenderness in every line from collar to hem. And the Duchess Shop exists for that very reason. Every coat is designed for the larger woman.

The black silks in these groups include moire, faille, crepe, and bengaline. Usually they are without fur. The cloth coats are of dull or smooth-finished fabrics..., often fur-trimmed, but just as often without fur. Sports and travel coats are of tweeds in monotone effects. Black silk coat sketched, 49.75.

RAILWAYS WORKERS LAUNCH SAFETY WEEK

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

"I HAVE just come from a visit to your old friend Milt Crandall," writes Spy 1492-A, now in New York City. "Mr. Crandall is putting on another of his things in Madison Square Garden. You will be glad to hear that Mr. Crandall's show, if not setting the world in flames, is going over, and that Mr. Crandall is again approaching the top of the world.

"The show is the champion dance marathon, the champion rocker chair contest and the champion flag-pole sitting contest, but none of these is the biggest attraction. Mr. Crandall, himself, is the biggest attraction wherever he desires to be. The customers are always willing to forget the show proper once Mr. Crandall goes into his act.

"Milt escorted me from place to place in the Garden, describing with gusto and gestures his various freaks and in each instance the customers were more interested in the arm-waving, back-bending, verb-splitting activities of Pittsburgh's Barnum than in the so-called freaks.

"With the newspapermen in this town Milt is the fair-haired boy. Every night, from midnight past dawn, you'll find a dozen or two dozen good reporters, good and bad columnists (yes, there are a few good ones) and other typewriter-hounds not on the floor of the Garden, but in Mr. Crandall's private office where good cheer is distilled and poured out in Mr. Crandall's inimitable manner.

"Mr. Crandall, himself, struts the floor, using three adjectives where one might suffice, uttering unweighty remarks which later will find their way into print to edify the great New York public.

"I never saw anything like it. If the newspaper space for this show is not so liberal as it was for previous Crandallian offerings what does find its way into print always plugs Mr. Crandall.

"Incidentally, so you may be warned, Mr. Crandall is considering bringing his rocking-chair rockers to Pittsburgh with the sole motive of adding to the city's culture. The rocking chair racket is operated without rocking chairs. The piffawmers sit in ordinary, straight back chairs and indulge in the bending motions produced by a rocking chair. It is positively the goofiest stunt I ever saw. You get the impression all the boys and girls in the contest have been eating unwisely of green apples.

"Spider Kelly, the flag-pole sitter, amuses himself lighting one cigaret after another, but he was too high for me to ask him which brand, at the point of a gun, he would indorse.

"I SHOULD like to be able to tell you about the gum-chewing contest, an added feature, but this is a rough affair now as M. Crandall has not yet worked it out to suit his artistic sense.

"Pittsburgh representatives in the marathon dance contest are Tommy Nolan and Anna King, but officially they are representing

New York. Nolan left our home town flat on its back when, after he had brought to our city, as he described them, two world championships, the city fathers gave him the key to the city, but then changed all the locks."

It is certainly refreshing to hear of the dignified contests Mr. Crandall is staging to help uplift New York from the sordid things. Milt is a local boy who wants to make the world a better place in which to live, provided he can sock away a few thousand of the public's money in the process.

FORMER MALTA HEADS PLAN PILGRIMAGE

Swissvale to Be Host to Past Commanders' Association of Order in State

Announcement of a pilgrimage to Swissvale, an entertainment and the annual spring dance and card party was made today by Howard L. Jordan, secretary of the Knights of Malta Past Commanders' Association of Pennsylvania, with headquarters in Wilkinsburg.

The pilgrimage to Swissvale commandery will take place tomorrow evening. The meeting will be held in the I. O. O. F. hall, Noble street. After the business session, an entertainment program will be carried out.

Next Tuesday the association will entertain the ladies and children in the Malta Temple, South avenue and Coal street, Wilkinsburg. Entertainment, dancing and refreshments are planned.

The spring dance and card party of the association will be held June 11 in the Malta Temple, Wilkinsburg. Dancing will be from 8:30 until midnight and cards from 9:00 o'clock until 11:00 o'clock. Prizes will be awarded for high scores.

COURT TO SCAN ORIE DECISION

Probe of an action of former Police Magistrate John W. Orie has been instituted by Judge James H. Gray in Criminal Court, as the result of a case that came before him yesterday. Orie, convicted on an income tax charge in United States Court recently, is awaiting the result of an application for a new trial.

"Eddie" Burke, of 335 Main street, alleged political factionist, was placed on trial on five indictments charging attempted robbery, impersonating an officer and pointing firearms.

DENY "SHAKE DOWN"

The case "blew up" when two storekeepers, John Fiorucee, 1228 Herron avenue, and John Galadyna, 954 Herron avenue, took the witness stand and testified that Burke and two others, not arrested, had not demanded money in a "shake down."

Judge Gray ordered made a record of the testimony and declared he was going to present it to the district attorney.

The Judge directed a verdict of acquittal, saying there was no other alternative.

The storekeepers testified that Burke and his companions did enter their stores, but did not attempt to rob or "shake them down," and left peaceably.

MALFEASANCE CHARGED

Later, they testified, the police had the storekeepers sign informations against Burke. Judge Gray called for the warrants on which Burke was arrested and found these were dated in July, 1928. The informations were then called for and showed they were sworn to in August.

"It appears that Magistrate Orie was guilty of malfeasance in office by issuing warrants without first holding an investigation," said Judge Gray.

WORD SENT TO TRAIN HOUSES

'Do It for Mike' Is Slogan Adopted for Week's Drive To Start Saturday Night

"Do it for Mike," is the slogan of the safety week campaign which will be started by the trainmen of the Pittsburgh Railways Company at midnight Saturday and which will continue until midnight, June 1.

The campaign, an original idea with the men, is sponsored by the trainmen's safety committee as a tribute to J. M. (Mike) Loftis, superintendent of transportation for the railways company. D. J. Mahoney is given the credit for the idea. He reports at the Highland train house.

Last night in the Homewood train house the men gave a reception and entertainment in honor of Loftis. Refreshments and a program of music, dances and songs, all given by trainmen, featured the affair. Loftis, who is a past president of the local division of the Street Railway Men's Union, was the speaker.

Posters have been distributed to all the train houses by the men urging all trainmen to operate carefully, courteously, and as they would if they themselves owned the cars. And they are asked to "do it for Mike."

A day-by-day record of runs will be kept at all houses with the two-men car reports in black lettering and those of the one-man cars in red.

STRIKE AWAITS DAVIS ACTION

With neither side willing to yield, and the preliminary injunction issued by Judge Thomas J. Ford apparently having its desired effect, Pittsburgh's milk strike today appeared no nearer a solution than when it started two weeks ago. The one point at issue now is recognition by the Liberty Dairy Products Corporation of the union of its drivers, recently organized, as a member of the American Federation of Labor.

"We intend to stick until they sign up," was the declaration of Henry G. Burger, organizer.

Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, in Washington, was to confer today with Miss M. Emmeline Pitt, local mediator for the Department of Labor, whose efforts to bring the company and its striking drivers into a settlement were fruitless. Just what action he will take after he receives Miss Pitt's report was a question which neither side today cared to discuss, they said.

Boy Goes to Jail Unescorted To Begin Term

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., May 23.—(AP.)—Louis Joseph, 21, of Elkins, W. Va., arrived at the state prison here yesterday unescorted to begin a five-year term for robbery. The youth identified himself at the penitentiary with a letter signed by Stanley Bosworth, Randolph County prosecutor.

Joseph was convicted of robbing an Elkins grocery store after two companions had pleaded guilty to the same charge. Joseph appealed, but on Tuesday decided to withdraw the motion. He was then given the letter by Prosecutor Bosworth and placed on board a train for Moundsville.

COUNCIL TO GET BLAST REPORT

Volatilization of four and one-half tons of X-ray films stored in the Cleveland Clinic Hospital caused the explosion that resulted in 125 deaths and hundreds of injured, according to H. L. Ley, superintendent of the Bureau of Building Inspection, who returned today after making an investigation of the disaster site.

President of Council James F. Malone conferred with Ley and asked him to submit a preliminary report to Council Monday. Malone assured Ley that authority would be granted to make an exhaustive report and any recommendations that might insure Pittsburgh against a similar explosion.

Safety Director James M. Clark said he would study Ley's report and go before Council to urge passage of a pending ordinance creating a bureau of fire prevention. Ley has begun a survey of Pittsburgh's institutions to determine whether existing regulations for safety are being observed.

BANDIT, FOILED, USES KNIFE

City Detectives Michael Carney and Vincent Cavanaugh reported battling with a Negro they found holding up John McCormick, of 85 Bates street, at the north end of the South Twenty-second Street Bridge, early today.

The Negro tried to slash them with a knife, the detectives said, and was subdued only after a hard fight. McCormick told the sleuths the Negro had taken 75 cents and a street car pass from him.

A short time previously, Mrs. Anna Brogan, of 130 Moultrie street, and her niece, Katie Moore, 151 Moultrie street, reported having been followed by a Negro that answered the description of the alleged holdup man. At Central Station the Negro gave his name as George Ferguson, 2518 Fifth avenue.

POLICE SCHOOL HERE URGED

Creation of a policemen's training school was urged today by Mayor Charles H. Kline in a letter to Safety Director James M. Clark.

The Mayor recalled that Council rejected the idea when Kline proposed it some months ago. He suggested beginning a school by assigning police officers qualified as instructors and ordering patrolmen with three years' service or less to attend classes.

HOLD SOCIAL FOR MOTHERS

At the regular monthly social meeting of the Catholic Daughters of America, Court Swissvale, mothers of the members were honored. The meeting was held in the Moose Temple, Park avenue, Swissvale. Each of the mothers was presented with a rose.

Refreshments were in charge of Mary Morrissey. Mrs. Mae Kramer was chairman of the entertainment committee. Solos were given by Raymond Boyle, Mary Wilson and Mrs. Alma McCloskey. Grand regents of courts Braddock, McKeesport and Pittsburgh attended the session.

Class Arranges Social

The Alphedelta class of the Evangelical Church of North Braddock will hold a social tomorrow evening in the church social rooms at Kirkpatrick and Jones avenues. Mrs. Mabel Walker, the teacher of the class, is arranging the program. Lunch will be served by the young ladies' class.

PARISH WILL STAGE PLAY

A cast of 45 young people from the Madona del Castello parish of Rankin and Swissvale will present "The Martyrdom of St. Lucy" at the Capitol Theater of Braddock, May 26. The sacred performance depicts one of the most cruel and touching tragedies of the persecution of early Christians. A. di Bernardo, of Rankin, is in charge of arrangements.

F. H. C. Class Will Meet in Braddock

The next meeting of the F. H. C. class of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Braddock will be held tomorrow at the church. Business of importance will be discussed and every member of the class has been urged to attend. Mrs. Agnes Guy, Mrs. Anna Grannis, Mrs. Elizabeth George, Mrs. Florence Ford and Mrs. Margery House, compose the program committee.

Braddock Church to Hold Bake Sale

Plans have been made for the bake sale to be held Saturday by the Fourth Street Methodist Episcopal Church of Braddock, under the auspices of the missionary class. The sale will be held at Hering's drug store, Fourth street and Lobinger avenue. Proceeds will go to the building fund of the church.

Braddock Students Win Eleven Awards

The First Ward School of Braddock had 11 winners in the nature study contest conducted by the schools of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County. The charts of the Braddock winners will be on display in Braddock stores during the week. Miss Mary Reardon is the teacher of the class that won the honors.

Teachers Give Dinner To P. C. W. Graduates

Seventy members of the graduating class of the Pennsylvania College for Women attended a dinner as guests of President Cora Helen Coolidge, Dean Helen Marks and Miss Effie Walker, honorary faculty members of the Student Government Association, in Woodland Hall, Woodland road, last night. Entertainment was furnished by under-class women of the school. The dinner was the opening event in the concluding program of the school year.

WILL FEATURE FLOOR SHOW

The floor show, consisting of song and dance numbers, is to be the feature of the banquet and reception being held at the Swan, Leechburg-Frankstown road, this evening in connection with the Fraternity night exercises.

Wally Boyles, of Beta Theta Chapter, Delta Sigma Upsilon, is general chairman of the affair. He will be assisted by Edward Murphy, chairman of the dance committee; Verner McLeod, chairman of the program committee and John Stanton, chairman of the reception committee.

St. Joseph's Church Plans Program

A variety program will feature the entertainment planned by the women of St. Joseph's Church, Braddock, for June 5, in the Braddock Carnegie Hall. Fifty women of the parish will take part, and have begun rehearsals. The program will consist of a minstrel, "A Parade of Wooden Soldiers," by the children of the church, a barn dance, a comedy skit and song and dance acts.

Lions Hear Former German Army Officer

Dr. Heinz Langer, former German army officer, was the speaker at yesterday's noon luncheon of the East Liberty Lions Club in the Carlo restaurant. He related anecdotes pertaining to army life. Musical entertainment was furnished by Miss Helena Baschcops, Miss Elizabeth J. Davis and W. A. Davis. The luncheon meeting was well attended by members and visiting Lions.

Legion Alumni Body Will Enjoy Swim

The swimming party of the Medal Award Alumni Association, recently formed by the Kathryn Mae Joyce Post and the Homewood Post of the American Legion, will be held tonight in the Horner school pool, Wilkinsburg. Miss Sarah Gahagen, commander, is in charge of the affair which is open to the public.

Director Is Host To School Orchestra

Prof. B. P. Obson, musical director of the North Braddock schools, entertained members of the Scott High School Orchestra at their last meeting in the Capitol Theater, Braddock. After the theater entertainment the members went to the home of Ruth Truxal, where lunch was served.

Officers Elected By Swissvale Women

New officers of the Women's Club of Swissvale, chosen at the last business meeting, include Mrs. C. E. Hague, president; Mrs. H. K. McKim and Mrs. C. L. Wilson, vice presidents; Mrs. John R. Smith, recording secretary; Mrs. F. D. McCloy, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. G. M. Horne, treasurer.

Winners in Flag Contest To Leave Soon on Tour

The day of departure from Pittsburgh of the regional winners in the Flag Contest of the United States Flag Association is drawing near.

The essays and answers to the questions from all local winners are now in the hands of the judges. The Sun-Telegraph will soon announce the names of the boy and girl who will go to Washington, accompanied by Mrs. Eva M. Barrett, their chaperon for the trip.

Mrs. Barrett

The regional winners will leave Pittsburgh on the evening of May 31. Mrs. Barrett will meet the regional winners from Detroit at the station here and will act as their chaperon also throughout the remainder of the trip.

The regional flag champions with their chaperons will join Mrs. John Allen Dougherty in Philadelphia, Saturday morning, June 1. The patriotic pilgrimage will begin there, continuing through Boston, Saratoga, New York, Baltimore, Washington, Gettysburg and other points of historical interest.

The final contest will be June 14, Flag Day.

Confectioner's Name Used by Milk Driver

Michael Manion, confectioner, of 2206 Fifth avenue, has instigated an investigation to determine the identity of a man accused of using his name while employed as a driver on a delivery wagon of the Liberty Dairy Products Company. The man who said he was Manion, was employed by the company in its effort to break the strike and was one of the drivers attacked by strike sympathizers. Manion and his friends assert that the confectioner was never employed by the dairy and that no other Michael Manion lives at 2206 Fifth avenue.

Cruelty Charged In Wife's Suit

Marie L. Hillman, 3774 East street, North Side, asked a divorce from John P. Hillman, of Monessen, in an action filed in Common Pleas Court, alleging cruel and barbarous treatment. They were married September 4, 1926, and separated February 18, 1928.

IN COSTUME RECITAL

HARRIET WERLE — MRS. DELPHINE HEIMERT

Miss Werle and Mrs. Heimert will give a recital in costume at the luncheon meeting to be held tomorrow by the drama department, Congress of Clubs.

Detroit Says

DETROIT, May 23.

Did you read about the latest big financial merger? It's in Chicago. All the various competing gangs of racketeers have united under one board of directors, headed by the chairman.

It's a sixteen million dollar corporation. Each gang gets preferred stock in proportion to the notches on their present machine guns. They figure it will reduce their present overhead, which consists mostly now of flowers and caskets.

With everybody working in harmony it should increase service to the customers. So don't sell "American Racketeers Corporation" short.

Yours, WILL.

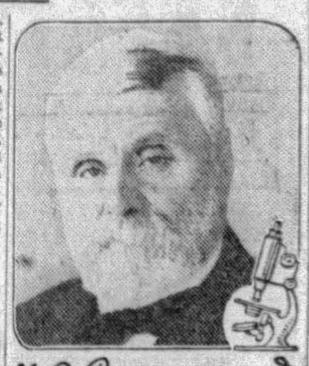
Doctor Found Women and Children Sick More Often than Men

As a family doctor at Monticello, Illinois, the whole human body, not any small part of it, was Dr. Caldwell's practice. More than half his "calls" were on women, children and babies. They are the ones most often sick. But their illnesses were usually of a minor nature—colds, fevers, headaches, biliousness—and all of them required first a thorough evacuation. They were constipated.

In the course of Dr. Caldwell's 47 years' practice, he found a good deal of success in such cases with a prescription of his own containing simple laxative herbs with pepsin. In 1892 he decided to use this formula in the manufacture of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and placed it on the market.

The preparation immediately had as great a public success as it previously had in Dr. Caldwell's private practice. Now, the third generation is using it. Mothers are giving it to their children who were given it by their mothers. Every second of the working day someone somewhere is going into a drug store to buy it. There are thousands of homes in this country that are never without a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and we have many hundreds of letters from grateful people telling us it helped when everything else failed.



W. B. Caldwell M.D.
AT AGE 83

While women, children and elderly people are especially benefited by Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, its mild, gentle action is promptly effective on the most robust constitution and in the most obstinate cases. Containing neither opiates nor narcotics, it is safe for the tiniest baby. Children like it and take it willingly. Every drug store sells Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Mr. George H. Lant Tells How Cuticura Healed Pimples.

"My facial trouble started with hard pimples that festered. They were dark red in color and about the size of a pea. I squeezed them which only made them more unsightly. After washing my face they sometimes became irritated. The trouble lasted about nine months.

"I tried other remedies with no marked success. A friend advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment so I sent for a free sample. Good results were noted so I purchased more and in about two months I was completely healed." (Signed) George H. Lant, Box 45, Eagleville, Pa., July 10, 1928.

Easy Philosopher Scored At Bible Conference

"Any movement for justice and right in this world must make its way in the face of storms of opposition," Dr. A. Z. Conrad, pastor of Park Street Congregational Church, Boston, declared last night at the third evening session of the Moody Bible conference in the First Presbyterian Church.

Only serene, unshakable faith in the doctrines of Biblical Christianity can remain steadfast in the face of modern ethical complexities, said Dr. Conrad, in an address on "Unshaken Validities in a World of Storm."

STORM OF UNBELIEF

On all sides, he said, easy philosophies are offered to allure man to a truce with his senses, and his intellect often plays traitor to his interest.

"But we need ask ourselves," said the speaker, 'Is this approved in God's word as expressed in God's book?' The answer is there. If we seek it, we need have no parley with our fears.

"A storm of unbelief is raging now. There are many who say 'One world at a time.' But we who have faith are not willing to accept one world that ends with the death of the body. We have faith that we are citizens of two worlds, and he who believes need not stoop to justify his faith through mental gymnastics. It is only unbelief that needs the acrobatics of logicians."

SERVICE AT NOON

There will be a service for business people at 12:20 o'clock today with an address by Dr. James M. Gray. At 3:30 o'clock Dr. Gray will speak on "The Gospel of John."

At the evening session at 7:45 o'clock, the Rev. Dr. P. W. Philpott pastor of the Moody Memorial Church, of Chicago will speak on "Christ in the Social Life."

The closing sessions of the conference will be held tomorrow. Dr. Philpott will address the business people's session at 12:20 o'clock, and Dr. Gray will speak at 3:30 o'clock. At the evening session, Dr. Philpott will speak on "Can the Modern Man Be Reached with the Gospel—and How?"

Westminster Honors Pittsburgh Co-Ed

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., May 23.—Miss Katherine Boobyer, Pittsburgh, has been elected president of Psi Nu, honorary journalistic sorority at Westminster College for the coming year. Miss Boobyer, a junior, was recently appointed editor of the campus newspaper. She is the first co-ed ever to hold the chief position on the weekly. She has also been elected president of the Y. W. C. A. and president of Sigma Kappa Sorority within the last two weeks.

Other officers elected for Psi Nu were Miss Jane Macrum, Oakmont, vice president, and Miss Ruth Lewis, New Castle, secretary-treasurer.

40 Years at Thiel, Professor to Quit

GREENVILLE, Pa., May 23.—After serving 40 years at Thiel College, Dr. T. B. Roth will retire June 5. Dr. Roth has been named professor emeritus of Latin and religion.

As his final active work at the college, Dr. Roth will preach the baccalaureate sermon on June 2. Dr. Roth entered Thiel in 1870 when the Monaca Preparatory School was chartered and located here. He was a member of the first graduating class of 1874. John Bott, of Greensburg, is the only other graduate of that year still living.

Playground Chief To Address Girls

Cyrus F. Stimson, director of the Playground and Recreation Association of America, will speak at the annual luncheon of the Pittsburgh Girls' Conference in the Central Y. W. C. A., Chatham street, June 6. Mrs. Richard B. Perry is chairman of the committee on arrangements.

FILM BLACKLIST HEARING ENDS

The hearing before Judge Frank P. Patterson in Common Pleas Court on an action in equity, initiated about a year ago, through which motion picture exhibitors seek a permanent injunction against producers and distributors in an alleged combination to blacklist exhibitors, was concluded yesterday. It will be argued later.

The constitutionality of the Pennsylvania act of 1927, providing for arbitration of controversies, was attacked during the hearing by Attorney Oliver K. Eaton, counsel for exhibitors.

The standard uniform contract, the alleged medium through which producers unfairly and illegally exercised control over exhibitors, also was attacked. The arbitration clause in this contract gave an unfair advantage to producers through domination of arbitration boards, it was contended.

AILMENTS LEAVE WHEN KONJOLA IS GIVEN A TRIAL

Pittsburgh Lady Finds First Relief From Double Disease Through Master Medicine

Many of the recoveries brought about by Konjola, the new medicine, are so remarkable as to be almost incredible, were the facts of the cases not known and verified. It is astonishing how this master compound triumphs over stubborn cases that have obstinately defied every other medicine and treatment tried. It is amazing how the 32 ingredients of Konjola, 22 of them the juices of roots and herbs, go to the very seat and cause of the troubles. How Konjola does this is being explained daily by the Konjola Man, who is at the Dow Drug Company (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh. There come daily those who would make inquiry about this super-remedy of which they have heard so many wonderful things. Konjola, remember, is not a medicine of claims and promises, but of deeds; of success when all else failed. After all, the proof of a medicine's worth is its achievements, as in the case of Mrs. Mary V. Brown, 2311 Glenmawr Avenue, Pittsburgh, who made this remarkable statement to the Konjola Man a few days ago:

MRS. MARY V. BROWN

"The small amount of money I invested in Konjola brought me health that is more valuable than all the gold and riches in the mint. For a long time I was the victim of two ailments that did not yield to any medicine or treatment until I took Konjola. My stomach and kidneys were in a dreadful state. There was never a meal that did not cause suffering afterward. Foods fermented gases that bloated me most uncomfortably. The kidney and bladder troubles were agonizing. During the night I was forced to rise from five to six times. Consequently my sleep was so disturbed that I felt just as tired in the morning as when I retired. I had about given up all hope of relief when Konjola was recommended.

"It certainly was a stubborn and chronic case that this medicine was confronted with. But do you think that made any difference? Certainly not. Konjola, just as I was told it would, went right to work and before I knew what was happening it started to bring back my lost health. Cleansing and stimulating my organs, it restored my digestion and increased my appetite. Then it began to work on my kidneys and soon they were functioning as Nature intends. I sleep soundly through the night; every night, without having to rise a single time. I have greater energy and strength and feel sure the relief is lasting. No wonder Konjola is called the master medicine of them all."

Same old story—success—when Konjola is put to the test, no matter how long the suffering has been endured; no matter what medicines and treatments have been weighed in the balance and found wanting.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Company (formerly McCulloch's), Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where he is meeting the public daily, introducing and explaing the merits of this master medicine.

Quick Relief from Pains and Aches

If words could run an automobile you wouldn't need AMOCO-GAS

For experimental purposes—and for children's toys—engines have been made which actually operate on hot air. But present-day automobile motors need something more efficient in the way of fuel!

All the words in the world won't make an inferior fuel perform with the efficiency of AMOCO-GAS! For your motor can't read advertisements—can't be influenced by words. But it does know a good fuel when it gets one!

The instant you start using AMOCO-GAS you'll detect the improvement by the way your motor responds, by the greater power, the quicker pick-up, the easier way in which you slip over the hills.

And the more carefully you check costs—the more closely you check "miles per gallon"—the quicker you'll be convinced of the real economy of AMOCO-GAS!

"STRIP" LIQUOR TRIAL MONDAY

The "Strip" rum conspiracy case, with 27 defendants, including politicians and police officers, will go to trial Monday. United States Attorney John D. Meyer made the announcement after a conference with Judge R. M. Gibson. The case was postponed from the special term in April to last Monday, when a further postponement was announced.

The government attorney ordered notices sent to 150 men and women under summons to appear as government witnesses. Counsel for the defendants also are being advised that the case will begin Monday, without fail.

The government will be represented by Assistant United States Attorney Ralph H. Smith. Among the defendants are Luke Sullivan, a member of the State House of Representatives; John W. Orie, former police magistrate, and his brother, Stanley Orie. The indictment was handed down last June by the Federal grand jury that conducted the investigation of illicit liquor traffic in Pittsburgh.

Beautiful Complexion Without Rouge

Do you want a beautiful complexion? Without the use of rouge? And color that is all your own? Then give your system just a tiny calcium wafer! Don't take that customary pill on Saturday night—let a Stuart calcium wafer do its magic work for you!

Stuart's calcium wafers clear away every impurity that keeps the skin sallow or dull. It keeps pores purged and the cuticle clean. You will feel and see the difference from the very first day you take a tiny, sugar-coated Stuart calcium wafer!

Don't take anything you have to double each time—take something you can cut in two each time.

Try This Five Day Test

Unaware of their condition, thousands of men and women have been delightfully amazed at the newer, fuller life they found after a few days' use of Stuart's Calcium Wafers: Quickened energy, ready for any task! Mental alertness and sharpened perception! Breath and body free from odor! Calcium Wafers (Stuart's) will work wonders for any septic. Try them.

CAN'T TELL HOW SHE SUFFERED

Ten Herbs Gave Blessed Relief; Rheumatism and Other Ailments Gone.

If you suffer from stomach, liver, kidney or bowel disorders, rheumatism, neuritis, or nervousness, or are troubled with a weak, rundown feeling, you need Ten Herbs. It is the medicine that has brought blessed health to thousands of men and women of this section. Probably no other medical preparation has ever been endorsed in Pittsburgh papers by so many local persons as Ten Herbs. Find out for yourself about this famous new compound with the ten wonderful herbal ingredients by calling at May's Main Store, Fifth and Liberty, Pittsburgh, where it is being introduced.

"I am enjoying the best of health since using Ten Herbs," said Mrs. Constanti Latkowski, 17 Enon Way (South Side), Pittsburgh. "No one knows how I suffered before taking this medicine. I had terrible rheumatic pains in my limbs. These pains would shoot up through my body and into my arms until I would almost scream. Constipation troubled me. My appetite was very poor, and what I ate did not digest properly. It would sour and ferment, and then I would fill with gas and be in misery. My nerves got unstrung, and I did not sleep well—had to get up several times nightly. I finally became so weak and rundown that I could not do my housework.

"Some of my friends were taking Ten Herbs with such splendid results that I started using it. Rheumatic pains disappeared. Now I can eat anything without fear of misery afterwards—no more sour stomach or bloating. My nerves are stronger. I can sleep through the whole night without having to get up, and in the morning I feel refreshed. I feel better and stronger in every respect. Ten Herbs has helped me in so many different ways that I do not hesitate to recommend this medicine to the public."

Ten Herbs is being introduced at May's Main Store, Fifth and Liberty, Pittsburgh, and is sold at all May's Drug Stores.

Nahuli's Wife Seeks to Save Don From the Power Of Her Husband

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Don Carlos Whiting goes to Hawaii after he discovers that his wife, Eve, is carrying on an affair with George Phillips, a neighbor. She is a pretty, selfish person, with whose beauty Don Carlos had fallen in love. On landing in the islands he is accosted by a native, David Nahuli, who offers him $2,000 for delivering a black bag. In carrying out this mission he sees Eugenie, Nahuli's wife, a gorgeous creature who fascinates him. In the meantime Phillips carries on his suit for Eve's love, but quarreling brings unhappiness. Then, in wandering around, Don Carlos meets Selma Wilson, crippled mother of an unusual family, which includes a daughter, Ruth. The latter plans a companionate marriage with Al Harding, much to the disgust of her father, Big Tim Wilson. One day while Don Carlos is loafing at his hotel a mysterious letter is dropped at his feet and a woman motions for him to read it. It contains an invitation to meet her at the crest of Tantalus road. The same day Nahuli orders him to carry the black bag again. He delivers the package to an out-of-the-way seashore retreat, thinks he has been followed, but arrives home in safety. The night for his meeting with the woman of the mysterious letter arrives, and he learns that she is Nahuli's wife, the same one he had seen when he first carried the bag for Nahuli.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XII.

HER dark eyes seemed to be probing the past. A tragic past, to judge from her expression. Don Carlos broke the silence.

"I beg your pardon. I spoke hastily."

"But I want you to know—you, who think that romance no longer lives in these far islands, that adventure no longer beckons to us, and perhaps when I have told you my little tale you may think otherwise. As yet they have made no appeal to you. Did I not overhear your remarks that afternoon?"

"An appeal of beauty, Eugenie Nahuli, yes?"

"You are skeptical, my friend. Life in the vast world outside throws stardust in your eyes. But who shall deny me when I say it creates illusions only for you? Here in this isolated spot primitive strains still live, although your American customs and wealth now seek to blot out the ancient heritage."

She stopped, suddenly.

"No! No! I cannot carry on. I am only clouding the issue for you with my words. He—my husband—told me that I dare not tell you the truth; that I would suffer, if I did. But I cannot let him wreck your life, as he has mine and those related to me. I must tell you, I must."

She arose and paced the lanai in agitation, clasping and unclasping her hands.

Don Carlos was amazed. What had happened here before his very eyes? Some tragedy was gripping her.

"What is it you would tell me, Eugenie Nahuli?"

Careful was he in his choice of words. This woman had moved him strangely, as no other woman had before, but he must not let the beauty of herself and the beauty of the night rob him of his common sense. There was something here he did not understand. Could it be a trap?

"I would tell you that my husband, David Nahuli, and his cursed ring of opium smugglers, have you in their net. They are forcing you to carry the vile stuff to such places as they indicate. Just what hold they have over you I cannot say. But they shall not ruin your life, as they have mine. There is something fine about you; I saw it that day I saw you standing in the bright light before Ah Fong. They shall not break you, as they have broken me."

Don Carlos jumped to his feet. Her disclosures stunned him.

He grasped her arm; shook it. "What is it you are trying to tell me? That I have been taken in by a gang of opium smugglers? Tell me the truth! What is your connection with it? Tell me. I won't be lied to this time. David Nahuli told me that it was only a matter of political interest between the Orientals and the Polynesians and that no harm could come of it. I was seeking excitement plots. What do you know of his movements?"

He shook her again.

"I know that besides being an opium runner, David Nahuli's chief art is lying. He has lied to me the five years I have been married to him; every moment of the day. I tried to stop him from ruining you, as he has me; that day you first came to River street. He has broken my life, and the life of my father before me. That is the hold he had over me—an early escapade of my father's which could have landed him in prison.

"Have you ever seen the inside of a prison, my friend? If you have you know that I was willing to sacrifice anything, myself even, for the sake of my father. My father was my idol—my god—through all the years of my childhood. But you, my friend—what is the hold David Nahuli has over you—that he could force you to become an agent in this cursed traffic? A traffic that ruins men's bodies and souls? You seem so fine—it is so hard to believe you are not."

"Good Lord! You don't imagine that I knew I was carrying opium, do you?"

"How was I to know otherwise?"

"My friend, you are very naive. Do you not understand that silence is the only part you can play? As I have played it for five years?"

"But something must be done. Surely the authorities—"

"They know nothing about it. Only the pawns of fate—such as myself and my father—know of the misdeeds of those evil minds who prey on the weaknesses of men. We are very necessary—those of us who have made mistakes in life. One must always pay, somehow.

"This is monstrous; terrible! What a tragedy it must have been for you—to be wedded to a member of an alien race—because of duty and fear!"

He stopped suddenly, his thoughts arrested in their intensity.

What a play—a book—what unlimited vistas for the imagination to play in! Was it for this reason she had come into his life—this strange woman with the haunting black eyes—eyes as deep as black pools as night.

She was speaking:

"I did not know, at first, that I needed pity. David was a Hawaiian god, bronzed as some statue executed in precious metal; reckless, daring. In the beginning, aside from the ostracism of society, I did not mind. Down in this crossroads of the Pacific many strange bloods intermingle. Certain people have always accepted me. The others—they did not matter. For was not my father safe—for a time, at least?

"That was the price I had to pay. But the years brought their burden of misery. The opium ring became more and more greedy for the huge sums they offered, he lost even the small degree of decency with which he was born. I have seen him grow into a vicious character; of late he has taken to the drugs in which he trafficks. I fear him; what he may do to me.

"He had bought me; I was the price of his silence. I think he has been often consumed with the desire to betray my father's secret.

"Some time, my friend, I shall tell you more about it. But tonight—tonight I am weary. So, if you do not mind—"

Shortly Don Carlos arose, made his adieus and went back to his hotel. Sitting upon the lanai, he became immersed in thought.

His mind kept reverting to her. He thought of her, sitting alone atop Tantalus.

A black-eyed goddess living on Olympus. The blackness of her eyes—eyes as black as the depths of a pool at night. . . .

PETTING PATTY — Be Careful, Paul!

The Lonesome Lady By Bruce F. Richards Daily Short Story

WHEN Maybelle Kirk arrived in the city, the thrill which she felt at the sight of the big buildings, the throngs of hurrying, well-dressed folks, and the endless traffic—was soon swallowed up by the great surge of loneliness which engulfed her.

She didn't know a soul. The position she was taking in the office of Brewster and Brent had been secured for her through an agency, and she wasn't as yet located as to living quarters. Maybelle felt bewildered. How was she ever to make a life for herself in these new and unaccustomed surroundings? She felt a sudden inclination to take the first train back to Middleville, but pride kept her from doing that.

From the Travellers' Aid she secured the names of several safe and desirable boarding places. Maybelle stressed the word "desirable," for she had the idea that only in such surroundings could she expect to meet the right sort of people for her to know. A few telephone inquiries by the kindly, Travellers' Aid, motherly woman, and the young stranger boarded a taxi for her new home. She would get freshened up and present herself at the office according to appointment.

She didn't know her way about, but others had learned the ropes and she told herself sternly that she must expect to do so—and to be about it. Her new landlady met her with a woe-begone countenance. Mrs. Helfer proceeded to inform Maybelle that she was nearly dead with a severe attack of nervous indigestion.

"That's too bad," sympathized the newly arrived. "Auntie has that trouble at home. Try a mustard paste on the back of your neck and sip a cup of hot water with a soda mint tablet dissolved in it," and before the astonished Mrs. Helfer could say a word, Maybelle was unpacking and making herself as presentable as possible—and that is saying a good deal.

Arrived at the office, Maybelle found that her coming was taken as a matter-of-fact occurrence. She was given a rickety typewriter and it had a ribbon on it well punctuated with holes. The new girl asked no assistance, but looked about until she found the necessary tools and with business-like efficiency she proceeded to put it to the good. She asked for a new ribbon, and the copy she turned in to the junior member of the firm a little later was a model of neatness and accuracy.

He made no comment except to inquire what machine she had been given to use and when Maybelle told him, he arched his eyebrows a little and proceeded to dictate some more letters. They were brought back in record time. When the new girl went back to her desk, the whispered conversation between the other stenographers suddenly stopped and Maybelle was certain that they had been discussing her unfavorably. She caught the one word, "Smart Alec" and her cheeks flamed.

She had thought to win their friendship and in some unaccountable way she had apparently prejudiced them already. Suddenly she became self-conscious and nervous, and the next work she did took longer and required many more corrections. The suspicion entered her mind that some one had tampered with the machine in her absence, for it was bothering unaccountably. She saw significant glances exchanged and suddenly Maybelle realized that tears were very near the surface. She would rather have died than burst out crying like an angry, petulant kid.

The office buzzer rang. Maybelle knew it was not her signal, but when one of the old-timers said — "You're wanted" and the rest nodded, she rose at once, and passed out into the entry, but she didn't go to the office, instead she turned to the left instead of to the right and slipped into the cloak room, the door of which was ajar into the stenographic department. She would bathe her face and think a moment.

But before she realized what was happening, she heard the junior partner's voice. "I called Miss Milligan," he said a bit impatiently, "may I ask why you didn't trouble to respond?"

"I started to, sir," Miss Milligan replied sweetly, "but the new girl seems to think she's the whole show and she literally rushed. I might say galloped in ahead of me. Evidently she plans to show that beside her, we are a slow crowd."

It was against Maybelle's code of honor to listen and she opened the cloak room door and went at once to her desk. The girls giggled—all except Miss Milligan and she, casting a furious glance at the new girl, arose, seized her notebook and pencil and followed good-looking Randolph Brewster.

"Say," applauded the other girls softly, "you turned a neat trick on her, all right!"

Maybelle looked up brightly. "Pardon," she returned with a smile, "But I am not a trickster—and I'm even afraid that I consider them too far out of my class even to despise. I might add that I've found what was done to my machine to put it out of commission. If any of the rest have trouble with yours, I'll be glad to try to fix them. I took a course in typewriter mechanics in my uncle's factory."

That night the girls in the office came up one by one and shook Maybelle's hand cordially. Even Miss Milligan grinned sheepishly as she said, "Welcome to our city. We are your friends. Hope you'll not be lonesome."

When Maybelle reached her boarding house the odor of food was in the air, and after slipping on a becoming little silk she had made herself, she made her way to the dining room. To her intense astonishment, the first one to rise to greet her was none other than Randolph Brewster. "Mrs. Helfer has just been telling us what a magical manner of cure you worked upon her sickness this morning, and only then I learned that you were staying here. My people live just around the corner and as they are away, Mrs. Helfer has taken me in.

"By the way, you come from Middleville—do you happen to know Daniel Kirk, of the Kirk Typewriter Works?"

"He is my uncle," smiled Maybelle, acknowledging the other introductions — "and quite disgusted with me. You see, I was his efficiency manager, and when I took a notion to come to the city and work in a law office preparatory to entering law school in the fall, he made quite a fuss—said I'd be getting married and all such nonsense, and that I'd be lonesome and coming right back home in short order."

Everyone laughed, under cover of which, Randy Brewster remarked, "Let's see to it that the first prophecy comes true—but not the second, young lady-able-to-outwit catty Milda Milligan, for old Miss Sanborn told me tonight the way they treated you."

Maybelle blushed. "But everything is all right now," she said.

Randy nodded. "We'll say it is," he assured her, "all right to the very end of the chapter. How about a show tonight—so you'll not be lonesome?"

And Maybelle nodded happily as she helped herself to another flaky roll, for somehow a vista of promise opened before her and there was no place for a lonesome lady in it anywhere.

"I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when I was 14 years old. My mother read your advertisement in the paper and tried the medicine to see if it would build me up. I had been frail and nervous and after taking three bottles I was in normal condition. Since then I occasionally have a run-down feeling which makes me weak, nervous and irritable and I find by taking two or three bottles of the Vegetable Compound I am back to normal. I recommend it to any woman and will answer all letters."—Mrs. Jerry C. Jarvis.

MRS. IRA ARNOLD

"I was all run-down and out of spirits before my third baby was born so I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as I had heard so much about it. It helped me with all my troubles and gave me an appetite where before I didn't eat at all and had to stop work and rest every once in a while. I did all of my housework up to the day my baby came, as I am a farmer's wife and could not afford help before. I feel just dandy now and I will tell every one how good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is."—Mrs. Ira Arnold.

"I was working very hard in the factory and also had to do my housework when I got home. I began to get tired, had no appetite, no strength and finally wasn't able to do anything around the factory or at home. My husband had to do all the work for me. One day I said that I would do anything to get my strength back and a friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took four bottles and I feel very much better, have a good appetite and more strength. I would be very glad to answer any letters asking about it."—Mrs. Anna Soltis.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Chronic Tiredness Makes You Grouchy

EVERY day I meet friends of mine who give evidence of fatigue. They are uncommonly touchy, they are fidgety and nervous, they are fussy and faultfinding, they are unable to concentrate on their daily duties. There is no more unnecessary human experience than the chronic state of tiredness which is the experience of so many individuals.

DR. COPELAND

Life is intended to proceed without friction. All the things we do should be done easily. Our everyday tasks should not get on our nerves. Their duties should be performed patiently and good-naturedly.

A mother may have seemed cross to her children, when, as a matter of fact, she has a heart of gold and the most loving nature in the world. Her true feelings are hidden and smothered by her tiredness and fagged-out condition.

Many a man goes to his office to drive his stenographer and clerks to distraction because of his uppishness and irritability. Nothing pleases him. He growls at the waiter and finds fault with the street car system.

Unfortunately, life is so constituted that everybody has daily experiences that seem to demand some form of resentment. If you happen to get out of bed on the wrong side in the morning these disturbing happenings appear to have been multiplied by the million. This is because you are tired, you are worn out, your nervous system has not recuperated over night.

When you feel this way don't send for a doctor or buy a bottle of nerve tonic. What you need is to revise your way of living so that you will have more rest and more sleep.

Just exactly the amount of sleep you must have depends upon your own nature, but knowing the number of hours you require you should religiously give yourself this much time in bed.

If, for any reason, you do not sleep well do not tear around in the bed as if you were a disturbed alligator. Keep quiet and give nature a chance to send sleep to your eyelids.

Sometimes as a result of indigestion or intestinal fermentation poisons are generated in the body. These seem to have a stimulating effect and result in the prevention of sleep. Every person who suffers from sleeplessness should be governed by this hint and perhaps by the correction of the constipation or of the intestinal fermentation, or whatever it may be, you may find suddenly that the cause for sleeplessness has disappeared.

Fatigue is fatal to effective accomplishment. You may fight off the need of sleep for a few months, but unless you are sensible about it trouble is in store for you. Nature's demands must be met, or disaster is sure to follow. You can add materially to your happiness if you will avoid the causes of fatigue.

YOUNG OSTRICHES—SO CAREFULLY HIDDEN—SO PLAINLY SEEN!

TRAVELING westward from the Atlantic coast to the blue-silk Pacific, almost always peaceful, but, like all usually peaceful things, able to get up an awful mad when it wants to, is even better than the vividly colored, vividly worded booklets on "See Your Own Country" say it is. More fascinating, more romantic, more thought-inciting.

After the great mills, the mighty bridges, the rolling, gentle hills, the big waters, the oceans of grain, the lakes that are like seas, the rich farms—each with a gran'father, it seems, for I saw one ancient sire sitting or strolling on each one, I know—the corn and cattle plains, the mighty blue walls of mountains, the painted desert, the cities grown from rustic babies to cosmopolitan giants, the gorgeous gashes of canyons, the high parks, flower-embroidered soon when the snow goes, ruled over by solemn, musical pines, the small, bright prairie town, with its wide main street, the cedars and the orange trees of the last land's edge, after all these, you find still more romance right on the train.

Outside is the setting and swiftly passing actors, some of them the ghosts of the great pioneer drama. Inside are other very lively points of interest—colorful, amusing, enchanting, and so on—and on—and on.

Among them is the BRIDE-AND-GROOM. The bride-and-groom. Their state so carefully and elaborately concealed—so plain to be seen. Young ostriches with their blissful heads in the sand of Paradise.

Brides-and-grooms are one of the delightful things that happen on the cross-the-continent trains. Not so thick, like dancers on the floors of the night clubs, as they are on the boats to Bermuda. But pleasantly likely to be bestowed at least one pair to each observation car. No rice—no looks at one another—just two young people in extra-smart clothes with a mysterious air of newness about them—newness of journey, newness of frocks and furs and broad-shouldered suit, socks and ties, newness of manner, newness of companionship. Absorbed each in a leather-backed train book, or the scenery—but, oh, so plainly honeymooning! Betrayed by the rainbow apparition of Cupid's presence—given away by some bright mysterious aura, some glimmer of the rare robes of the lady Romance, actually present for a little while.

I wonder if they will ever just happen to see THIS? The Nordic young man and the tiny girl with a pointed chin, going—I wonder where, to be happy—I hope for always. Named what? Just another delightful bride-and-groom seeing America first!

A Continuation of Love's Embers

Lillian Gets the First Word in Long-Dreaded Interview.

"WHERE shall I talk to him?"

Willian's voice as she put the question, following the message I had brought her from Samuel Brixton, held no tremor, and her face was composed. Patiently she had summoned all her reserves to meet the man whose coming she so unreasoningly had dreaded, and I drew a deep breath of relief as I saw that she was her old poised self with her perceptions keen, her judgment, sound.

"In the library," I said promptly.

"Where are the rest?"

"Mary, Carolyn, Marion and Ronald are on the tennis court, playing. Mr. Owen and Mrs. Brixton are watching them, as are Katherine and Junior. Mother Graham is reading on the balcony outside her room, and Katie is safely in the kitchen. Jim, I think, is in the barn."

She laughed at my meticulous category as I meant her to do.

"The library it is, then. Lead me to it. There's no sign of Mr. Owen's joining the party, is there?"

"I'm not sure. He appeared to be a fixture at the tennis game when I was out there less than five minutes ago."

"I thought that would be his place, the background," she said, and then we went downstairs together.

Mr. Brixton shot a questioning glance toward me, as, after a pretense of adjusting the window shades, I sat down upon the couch upon which Lillian already had placed herself.

"I did not ask Helena to join us, Lillian," he began hesitatingly, "because I thought it was your wish to see me alone."

"You can take the button off the rapier, now, Sam," Lillian said dryly. "There's no use of any pretense between you and me, when there's none of your family around. I wouldn't have Helen present at this confab for anything you could name—I don't want her hurt if I can help it. On the other hand, do you imagine for one second I'd talk to you with no third person present? Tom did that, as you may remember."

Mr. Brixton's face always florid, was a brick-red flush, and his eyes glittered angrily as a prodded animal's might. I glanced sidewise at Lillian, sitting alert and watchful after having shot her bolt containing the name of her former husband, Brixton's partner—and victim. The name of Tom Morton, never upon her lips if she could avoid it, so unpleasant were her memories of him, had been uttered coolly, with no trace of emotion whatever.

"What d'ye mean?" Mr. Brixton blustered. "Tom—always knew what was up. I never—"

"Then why this interview?" Lillian's voice cut across his like a whiplash, and I saw that she purposely had baited him into a protest so at variance with the plea contained in his letter to her.

"Your letter stated that you regretted—"

Mr. Braxton's balloon of anger collapsed as if it had been jabbed with a pin. He put his hand up with an apologetic gesture.

"Please forget that I said that, Lillian," he said. "My letter was the truth, not what I said just now. I did swindle Tom out of that money. I want to give it back to you."

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Friday, May 24

THE sidereal operations for this day point to a sudden and unforeseen chain of events that may be radical and far-reaching in their results. This may involve an abrupt change of position or employment with the likelihood of new environment or travel. In any case new and desirable opportunities arise under this sway, but there may be some mild friction or misunderstanding of a purely personal nature.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year of sudden and unforeseen occurrences, with possible change, travel and radical upheaval. This attended by unexpected opportunities or prospects. These may develop a slight degree of personal inharmony or complication, but may be offset by many happy and pleasant developments.

A child born on this day may have many brilliant and possibly unconventional qualities, fitting it for unusual achievements. It may be original, inventive and independent in thought and action, and should have an adventurous career. It may also have a pleasant and comfortable life, despite small frictions.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

The Gift Problem

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I am going to have a birthday party for my mother. Would it be proper to place on the invitations "no presents?" I would like to do this because my mother would not like it if she should receive any presents whatsoever.

G. V. R.

WOULD it be possible to send your invitations without the guests knowing that the party is a birthday party? That would be the best answer to the problem, of course. But undoubtedly, the guests who are to be bidden to the party are aware that it is your mother's birthday. However, I simply can't let you write "no presents" on the invitations; this would be too crude and peremptory, and would, I am sure, offend the guests who had planned to make your mother happy.

I think that the only thing to do under the circumstances is not to give the party—to give your mother a party when there would be no significance to the day, or to persuade your mother to regard the presents in a different light, as evidences of a beautiful spirit of friendliness and an especial thoughtfulness for her on her day. Persuade her to say to the givers, instead of "Oh, you shouldn't have done this," or "Really, you shouldn't have brought me a present," this appreciative comment: "How very kind of you to think of me—and with such a beautiful piece of crystal," or "How like you to have such a lovely thought of me. The vase is a beauty!"

Acknowledgment

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I have just received a wedding announcement, and I would greatly appreciate your advising me whether or not this announcement should be acknowledged. If it is to be acknowledged, what is the most appropriate thing to say? The groom is my employer's son, whom I know but slightly. The bride I have never met.

KATHERINE.

IT is not strictly necessary to acknowledge this announcement, since it is essentially only a means of "telling the news." And, in the circumstances that you outline, it would not necessarily be expected that you would acknowledge this announcement. However, you could, of course, write a note of acknowledgment, and this would be a gracious thing for you to do. The note should be brief and appropriately rather formal. Something like this:

Dear Mr. Apthorp:

I was delighted to have the happy news of your marriage, and I want to send to you and your bride my heartiest congratulations and my best wishes for your happiness always.

Friendliest greetings to you both.

Most sincerely yours.

Velveeta is made with most scrupulous care

There's a reason for the exquisite flavor of Velveeta; a reason for its velvety texture, and especially for its exceptional wholesomeness. It is first purely a milk product in the form of cheese.

But Velveeta is also something more. Velveeta represents the contribution of science to the art of cheese making. Through the aid of scientific research, we are at last able to combine in a cheese product all those precious health-giving qualities of the rich whole milk. By a special process we extract from the whole milk these additional Vitamins, Lactose (sugar of milk), Calcium and other milk minerals, and these we include in the making of Velveeta. The result is a product that looks like cheese, tastes like cheese, but which because of this added food value really should be called a super-cheese.

You can use Velveeta the same as you would use cheese. It spreads like butter. It can be sliced when chilled. It melts, dissolves and blends readily with other foods for all cooking purposes.

Children love it and it's as digestible as milk itself. Try a package—the family will remind you to buy it often.

It's An Unusual Thing To Do

Seldom do you find members of the medical profession recommending any particular brand of food; more especially recommending it by its trade name. But when you do, you can safely conclude that the food recommended must have unusual merit.

"Philadelphia" Cream Cheese has received such endorsement from Physicians, Child Specialists and Nutrition Experts. One of the latter has this to say:

"Too often the child's diet is deficient in the Calcium needed to build straight legs and a sturdy frame, and in Vitamin A which is essential for healthy growth. Both these elements are abundantly present in "Philadelphia" Cream Cheese, an important food for children."

"Philadelphia" Cream Cheese is for sale everywhere. See that your children have it in plenty and often.

Kremer Keeps It Up.
Hurls First Full Game.

CHOCOLATE PROBABLE FEATHER CHAMP

THE Pirate pitching outlook continues to brighten as Remy Kremer gives additional evidence that he has rounded into some semblance of his true form. For the first time this season, Kremer yesterday finished a game that he started. He held the Reds in check in impressive style while putting over his easy 11-to-2 victory, and though it may be argued that it was no great trick to trim the Reds at that particular time—it was their sixth consecutive defeat and they have scored only five runs in their last five games—the Frenchman's performance was very encouraging, nevertheless, in view of the fact that it was the third successive time he had shown indications of being back in his stride.

Remy Kremer.

In two relief engagements and yesterday's full game Kremer pitched a total of 20 innings, against the Giants, Cards and Reds, and in that stretch he allowed only five earned runs and 17 hits. All of which spells a marked improvement over his work earlier in the season and is a pleasing indication that he may be depended upon for consistently good hurling in his regular turn from now on.

WITH Kremer added to those other members of the Buccaneer staff who have been pitching effectively, the Pirates will be helped greatly and it will mean a considerable increase in their percentage of victories. For tight pitching is what they have needed more than anything else.

The offense has been all that could be desired. That it was a lack of strength in the box that kept the Bucs from winning a larger percentage of their games to date is shown by the scores in some of the contests that they have lost.

THREE times the Corsairs have been beaten in engagements in which they made six runs, once they lost when they registered seven tallies, and on another occasion they went down to defeat after rolling up nine markers.

Average major league slabwork would have won the majority of those games, and the difference in the "Won" and "Lost" columns would have put the locals pretty close to the leaders.

Greasy Neale.

AMONG the numerous features of the brilliant ball that Lloyd Waner is playing this year, the beauty and perfection of his base-running, as well as its speed, stand out. Greasy Neale, coach of the Cardinals, is one big leaguer who has not failed to notice Lloyd's fine work on the runways. "So far, I have seen only three players in the National League run bases the way they should be run," Neale said, in bemoaning the decline of baserunning to Sid Keener. "They are Hazen Cuyler, of the Cubs, Frank Frisch, of the Cardinals, and Lloyd Waner, of the Pirates."

DISCUSSING these men individually, Neale appears to believe that Waner should be ranked at the top. "Lloyd showed me how it can and should be done," he says, "by shifting his feet as he neared third in such a way as just to drag the inside corner of the bag with his foot and then making the turn at almost right angles. He didn't lose a single step on his way to the plate.

"Frisch pulled a bad one in that 13-inning game with Pittsburgh in St. Louis three weeks ago. It cost St. Louis victory in the twelfth round. He was thrown out at the plate in attempting to score from second base on a ball hit to deep left field. It is true that Grantham made a whale of a throw to catch him, but at the same time it is a fact that Frisch made such a wide turn at third base that he lost enough time to make the difference between being safe and out."

KID CHOCOLATE demonstrated his class as a fighter more convincingly than ever last night by winning the decision over Fidel LaBarba, former flyweight champion, in their 10-round bout in New York. That makes a total of 157 fights in which the Cuban Negro never has been defeated, but in none of his previous engagements did he ever meet an opponent of LaBarba's caliber.

The fact that Chocolate, like LaBarba, was over the class limit of 118 pounds at scaling time yesterday afternoon, keeps him from being recognized as bantamweight champion, but in all probability he soon will hold a title in another division. It is practically certain that he will be matched with Andre Routis for the featherweight championship, and a victory for the Kid seems a foregone conclusion in view of the form he has been showing as compared with that of the Frenchman.

A COMPARISON of performances in the big Eastern track meets of the last couple of weeks makes it look as though the people here could see some of the fastest track work in the land if they'd go out and look at it. A week ago last Saturday, for example, the records in the Pitt-Penn State meet at the Stadium were faster in 13 cases out of 15 than those made in the meet at Columbia, and were better in greater or lesser degree than those of any other meet in the East, save only the Penn-Cornell tussle, where eight out of 15 records were better than those made here. One event was the same and the local meet excelled in six.

LAST Saturday in the Big Four meet, which narrowed down to a dual struggle between Pitt and West Virginia, the records were better in nine out of 15 events than in the New York-Holy Cross competition; better in seven, the same in two and poorer in five as compared with the Harvard-Dartmouth clash. There was no javelin-throwing contest in the Harvard-Dartmouth affair, which accounts for there being a comparison in only 14 events instead of 15.

Compared with the Syracuse-Colgate meet, the local affair was better in 10 events, tied in one, and not so good in four. Syracuse, Harvard, Dartmouth, Holy Cross, Colgate and New York are supposed to be strong in track, yet the Big Four meet in Pittsburgh brought out better times or marks than any of the numbers in which those colleges appeared.

YET each local meet draws only a figurative handful of enthusiasts, whereas throngs attend the affairs elsewhere. It seems that residents of this district never got into the habit of going to track meets, largely because it involved too much trouble to get to Schenley Oval.

Now here is a top-notch field, where records can be made, at the Rugged featherweight, of Bridgeport, Conn., who is set for his 10-round battle with Benny Bass, which will serve as the feature of the opening show of the new Meyers Brothers boxing bowl in North Braddock tonight.

Willoughby Sets Record With Nine Assists

BOSTON, May 23.—(INS.)—Claude (Weeping) Willoughby of the Philadelphia Nationals, today holds a new major league record of nine assists for a pitcher in one game. That many Boston batters hit grounders to him in the second game of yesterday's doubleheader.

The previous record of eight was made by Nick Altrock, pitching for the Chicago White Sox in 1906.

Wilkinsburg Cops Big Track Meet

NEW CASTLE, Pa., May 23.—The triangular track and field meet held at Ben Franklin Field yesterday, with the best athletes of Washington, Wilkinsburg and New Castle High schools competing, resulted in a victory for Wilkinsburg High, which took the meet by scoring 53¾ ponts. New Castle finished second with 49¼ points.

BRADDOCK BOWL MAKES BOW TONIGHT

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

With a fine break in the weather, after a siege of cold, rainy days, the setting is perfect for the dedication of the Meyers Brothers' $25,000 boxing bowl, in North Braddock, this evening, with two of the leading featherweights in the world, Benny Bass, of Philadelphia, and Steve Smith, of Bridgeport, Conn., meeting in the 10-round main bout.

Indications are that the new arena, which will seat close to 7,000, and is so compactly built that virtually every seat is of a ringside nature, will be jammed to capacity. Interest has been gathering momentum gradually and for the last two days the show has been the main topic of conversation in local sports circles.

Although the advance sale has been heavy, Manager I. D. Meyers of the bowl announced this morning that there still were pasteboards of all varities left for the show. Popular prices of $1, $2 and $3, plus the state tax of 5 per cent, are being charged.

SMITH WORKS OUT

Smith arrived in the city Tuesday night and worked out yesterday in Flynn's gymnasium, Sixth street. He declared himself fit for a hard battle and promised he would upset the dope again, as he did when he defeated Andy Martin, of Boston, at New Castle recently and followed this up by carrying Kid Chocolate along at such a fast clip in a bout at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., that the judges split on the decision that went to Chocolate. This will be Steve's third bout with Bass, whom he floored in their first clash, in Cleveland, only to lose the decision. Bass also defeated him in a second meeting at Philadelphia, but this also was an interesting event.

Bass arrived in the city last night with his manager, Phil Glassman, who became world famous as the manager of Lew Tendler, king of southpaw ringmen. Benny is stopping at the William Penn Hotel, while Smith is quartered at the Roosevelt. Benny went to bed shortly after his arrival and will take a brisk walk today to limber up before going to North Braddock to weigh in with the other boxers on the card at 3 p. m.

The first bout will get under way at 8:45 daylight saving time, to permit all of the fans to reach the arena in time to be seated before the festivities begin.

ERIE SCRIBES HERE

A stablemate of Smith, Johnny DeMarco, of Philadelphia, will oppose Larry Brignolia, of Erie, in the eight-round semi-final, and this battle has aroused so much interest that a flock of fans will be on hand from Erie, and Jack Kastner and Joe Martin, Erie sports editors, have made ringside press reservations.

In the second bout, Young Nanci, of Swissvale, meets Johnny Haggerty, of Lawrenceville, in a bantamweight affair, while Ken Hargraves, of New Kensington, and Jack O'Banyon, of Clairton, 130-pounders, will open the show.

The arena is the first of its kind for Western Pennsylvania in the matter of up-to-the-minute appointments and its location is ideal. It is easily accessible by automobile, street car and train and there is plenty of parking space. A maid will be in attendance for women patrons at all shows.

CARP OFF MOOSE CARD

U. S. Carpentier, of New Kensington, is off the Moose Temple card for tomorrow night. He was to box Frankie Rio, of Cleveland, in the second bout, but also had contracted to meet Joe Boychan, of Steubenville, O., in the main bout of the opening show at the new open-air arena in New Kensington, next Tuesday night, and the boxing commission has ordered him to cancel the Moose agreement. Promoter Francis Flynn will dig up a new opponent for Rio today. Ken Har-

BURLEIGH OUT AFTER SEVENTH VICTORY

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

A pair of diamond athletes who are entitled to a whole sleeveful of service stripes will oppose each other this afternoon in the Oakland Orchard when the Reds and Pirates clash in the second game of the series.

The fight will bring together Eppa Jeppa Rixey, the gentlemanly Virginian, and Burleigh Grimes, the Wisconsin Wildcat, who is showing the way to National League hurlers at the present phase of the sweepstakes.

DUKE TO BEAR DOWN

Grimes will be out after his seventh unbroken success on the mound while Eppa Jeppa and his pals will be out to prevent a seventh straight defeat for the skidding Rhinelanders. Rixey has been troubled with a touch of pleurisy, but his condition is such as to enable him to resume pitching.

The Duke of Burleigh, needless to state, will be bearing down every moment of the struggle to keep his string intact. The fact that the Reds are playing poor baseball is not apt to mislead the Pirate veteran, who is smart enough to know that it is the desperate fellow who quite frequently is able to bring a haymaker up from the floor to score a clean knockout. The Reds are in that mood now.

The revamped Pirate makeup probably will operate against the invaders. Pie Traynor's shoulder seems to be on the mend, but he will hardly be ready to go to his post today, judging by his condition last night. That means that Sparky Adams will remain at the hot corner.

The Buccos don't look the same with Traynor out of action. Pie has been having quite a time of it, by the way. It was feared he would be unable to start the season after a spring training X-ray showed him to be suffering with a bad hip. By taking careful treatment, Traynor has been successful in staving off trouble of a serious nature, but a few days ago in Chicago he sprained his left shoulder which now has him on the rack.

KREMER LOOKS GOOD

Remy Kremer looked like his old self yesterday as the Freebooters took the measure of the Reds. The home boys jumped off with two runs and they continued to pile up tallies as the battle proceeded. The Bushwhackers put the game on the ice in the third by scoring five runs.

Manager Hendricks went into his second-string pitching strength for his pitcher in the Reds' first appearance in Pittsburgh. Kenneth Ash, late of Columbus, faced the fire of the Bucco attack. The young man was impressive in his delivery, but the Freebooters seemed to be in a furious batting mood. And Ash's support crumbled in a couple of situations. He left the mound in the third in favor of Pete Donohue.

Kremer worked three perfect innings, no Red reaching base until two were out in the fourth. Curt Walker tripled at this juncture, but the Reds did not score until the next round. They made their second run in the seventh and were quiet for the remainder of the game.

Hard-hitting former featherweight championship claimant, of Philadelphia, who hopes to knock out Steve Smith in their third meeting, at the North Braddock bowl tonight. Smith floored Bass in their first bout, in Cleveland, but lost the decision and Bass later repeated the victory in Philadelphia. He is anxious to score a knockout over the Joe Grimm of the feathers tonight to put a decisive end to their rivalry.

KID CHOCOLATE GETS 'GIFT' VICTORY

By DAVIS J. WALSH.
International News Service.

NEW YORK, May 23. — Kid Chocolate either is or is not the best man fighting three pounds over the bantamweight limit, depending on whether you were one of the three officials who voted him into a decision over Fidel LaBarba at the end of the tenth round last night or were among the 15,000 spectators who howled the verdict down—but not out.

This was about all the famous test case on the bantamweight championship managed to develop. Neither man deigned to make the bantamweight limit for the occasion, LaBarba doing 120½ pounds and Chocolate 121, so as a possible title fight it was strictly impossible from the outset. As for the decision, I wouldn't go so far as to say it was impossible, too. But, at least, it was what might be called highly improbable.

FIDEL WINS FIVE ROUNDS

LaBarba, according to the writer's scoring, which was more conservative than that of others who decried the decision, won five rounds, blew four and the odd round was even. But there wasn't a single vote out of a possible three cast for him, which undoubtedly proves that worse decisions have been rendered, only some of the crowd didn't seem to remember when and where. One judge, George Kelly, voted for a draw; the other, Charles F. Mathison, lined up with Chocolate. So did the referee, Lou Magnolia.

A draw would have done LaBarba no favors, but at least it might have saved the crowd a headache. They seemed to feel that it was a terrible thing to behold, whereas only by the New York system of round-by-round scoring was LaBarba's advantage palpable. He won more rounds; Chocolate scored with the better punches. They usually call that kind a stand-off outside the state limits. They, therefore, must have been using Siberian rules last night.

FAILS TO KEEP LEAD

However, LaBarba has only himself to blame for what happened, because he flounted one of the major tenets of the gaming table. This merely demands that, when you have a pot won, keep it won. He couldn't do that, at least not to the satisfaction of the only three sets of eyes that saw the decision with the slightest degree of importance.

At the end of five rounds, he was so far out in front that it looked as though Chocolate wouldn't be able to catch him with a deputy sheriff. But going into the tenth,

SKIBOS, TITANS TO END LOCAL TRACK YEAR

By JESS CARVER.

Tomorrow's track and field engagement, which Carnegie Tech and Westminster will fill, out in the Tartans' Bowl, will be the final collegiate event of importance to be offered here until football season rolls around. For which heaven be praised.

J. Hutchison

This meet originally was scheduled for Tuesday, but the schedule was kicked around a bit, and the date of the meet set back until tomorrow. Westminster met Geneva at Beaver Falls yesterday.

This meet would stack up as being just an ordinary dual affair if it were not for the fact that the Titan publicity handlers have admitted that the United Presbyterian athletes hold a slight edge over the Skibos in all-'round strength, and figure to win by a few points. When a college holds back its tears and comes right out in the open prior to a contest, I care not what kind, and claims a victory, it is high time to throw one's kelly into the air and emit loud and joyous whoops.

U. P.'s WELL BALANCED

Westminster does boast a better balanced squad than the Plaid, for the locals are weak in the weight events and in the hurdles and distance races. George Kennedy, Tartain captain and George Nease will keep Tech in the running in the sprints, opposing the undefeated Ken Hemer, Westminster star.

I had intended running a photo of Andy (One-Shirt) McDonald, Westminster's snappy graduate manager today, but the only picture in the files of Andy shows him with an expression on his pan totally out of harmony with so fine a May day. It must have been taken just after Andy finished counting up a bad gate.

PITT TO HELP YALE

They are counting heavily on Yale and Pennsylvania to uphold the honor of the east (or what little honor the east has left) in the coming I. C. A. A. A. A. carnival at Franklin Field, Philadelphia. Stanford and Southern California are hopping across the country again with powerful squads, maybe not quite as powerful as last year, but strong enough to fight it out between themselves for the point trophy and the Intercollegiate title.

Pittsburgh will have something to say about the way two or three of the first places medals are distributed. Pete Bowen will run in the 100, 220 and 440-yard races; Vic Pickard will pole vault; Don Gwinn will throw the hammer; Ed Knoblock will run in the high hurdles and Everette Utterback is almost certain to place in both the high and broad jumps.

TODAY'S SCHEDULE

Today's college sport card is not overly full. Allegheny's tennis team meets Westminster in a return match at New Wilmington, Geneva tackles Waynesburg at Waynesburg and the rest of the boys will sit by and twiddle their thumbs.

BRITISH SOCCER TEAM HERE

The Preston North End soccer team, the first English eleven to invade this country on an official tour, arrived here this morning and took up quarters at Webster Hall. The Britons will meet the Heidelberg eleven, national amateur champions, on the Duquesne University field Saturday afternoon.

Seventeen players made up the North End squad, which is under the charge of Capt. Sharples and Director Harry Parker. The following players are included: Ewart, Ward, Kerr, Nesbit, Nelson, Crawford, Reid, Russell, Hair, Bargh, Harrison, Sherry, Grierson, Parry, Robson, Craven and Smith.

Elks to Honor Swetonic on June 27

Members of Pittsburgh Lodge No. 11, B. P. O. Elks, will honor Steve Swetonic, youthful slab star of the Pirates, on Thursday, June 27, when the Cincinnati Reds meet the Bucs at Forbes Field.

Swetonic, a local boy who "got his start" by twirling for the University of Pittsburgh, will be the recipient of a gift at Forbes Field that afternoon, and in the evening he will be the guest of honor at a banquet in the lodge rooms, Duquesne way.

OLIVER BLANKS LANGLEY, 12-0

An upset marked City League scholastic games yesterday. Oliver walloped Langley, 12 to 0, in Section 2, for the surprise of the day. Other games saw Shady Side Academy defeating Turtle Creek Union, 2 to 1, and Schlenley High smothering Ralston under an 18-4 score.

North Braddock High toppled Aliquippa, 5 to 1; and Carrick set down Perry, 4 to 3.

UNIVERSAL BOWS

One of the finest games staged in the West Penn League was flashed at North Bessemer last evening when Pete Elder's North Bessemer club nosed out their rivals from Universal by a 3-to-2 score.

Fight Commission Suspends Crawley

PHILADELPHIA, May 23.—(AP.)—A number of suspensions of boxers was announced yesterday by the State Athletic Commission. Among them were the following:

Charles Wolf, Rochester, Pa., and Thomas Crawley, Steubenville, O., boxers, suspended indefinitely for failure to honor contracts with the Beau A. C., Washington, Pa.

SPORTSMAN PASSES ON

TORONTO, Ont., May 23.—(AP.)—Percy Humphrey, of Baltimore, well-known figure on the race tracks throughout Canada and the United States, died here last night. Feeling in ill health, he visited a local doctor's offices for an examination, but collapsed in the waiting room, dying almost instantly. The body has been sent to Baltimore for burial.

HIGHLAND COPS GROGAN CUP, 118 TO 84

By VERN SWARTSFAGER.

In what was regarded as the best match since the inception of the tournament, the Highland Country Club regained possession of the Grogan Cup, emblematic of club supremacy between that club and Shannopin, when the Kilties of Harry Hetzel defeated L. A. Hubach's Shannopin Indians, 118 to 84, over the links in Ben Avon Heights yesterday. Shannopin will be given its chance for revenge on the Highland course on Wednesday, June 19, when the second half of the annual 36-hole competition is played.

In an exhibition match, Charley Manning, professional, and Schmitty Evans, of Shannopin, took over Vince Eldred, pro, and Sam Parks, Jr., club champion, by a 2 and 1 margin.

Today a match is scheduled for Aicoma Country Club links where the Kiski golf team matches strokes against the club team. Doc W. H. K. McDiarmid, who is one of the country's longest amateur drivers, will be on hand to make merry the Kiski invaders.

T. C. HIGH WINS

Turtle Creek Union High defeated Shady Side Academy in a dual track and field meet at Shadyside yesterday afternoon by a score of 68 to 54.

WHEELING SET FOR RACES

WHEELING, W. Va., May 22.—"Boots and saddles!" This call will again be heard here next Wednesday, when the spring running race meeting of the Wheeling Driving Club will open at the State Fair grounds. The meeting is advertised for 13 days, to close June 12.

Three hundred of the best horses campaigning on the half-mile tracks are already on the grounds, with more arriving daily, so that by the time the meeting opens, every stall on the beautiful grounds, said to be the finest half-mile racing plant in America, will be filled. A hundred and fifty temporary stalls have been erected to take care of the overflow, supplementing the regular commodious stabling facilities, providing accommodations for nearly 500 horses.

GENEVA VICTOR

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., May 23.—Coming through with 14 points in the last two events on the program, the 220-yard dash and javelin, Geneva broke a tie and defeated Westminster in a dual track and field meet here yesterday afternoon. The final score was 72½ to 62½.

BOUT FOR M'TIGUE

STOWE CIVICS, ST. JOHN'S MEET

By TOM BIRKS.

With the prospect of better weather arriving in the district, there is a fine opportunity for today's big sandlot card to go through all right. Only one game will be played in the City League, but this will bring the Stowe Civics against St. Johns.

And when game time rolls around it is expected that Pop Geer will be on the warpath since the unexpected defeat last Saturday evening at the hands of Johnny Dunsky's Pleasant Valley nine.

The wonderful showing of Stowe in the early games might have made the boys overconfident, and when the Smilers went on their seven-inning hitting orgy, the boys were at sea. But that is one ball game, and Geer will be driving the boys hard in today's battle.

The Pittsburgh Central League will stage the best card of the season in one single evening. The Harvey Clb have been making whoopee in the league on the North Side and they will tangle with the Reineckers at Schenley High School field.

Out at Harlan field, the Greater Pittsburgh champions, W. O. W., will tangle with the Mt. Washington C. M. C. Soho caught the Catholics with a short club on Tuesday and Jerry Saunier is out for blood, so W. O. W. can look for a fight.

And looking at the standing of that loop it seems as if Johnny Hornyak and his Soho band of bad boys are burning up the league.

C. & I. TO GET GOING

The Commercial and Industrial League will stage another effort to get started this evening when Kaufmanns hook up with the Reick-McJunkin nine, and seeing that the Milk boys are new comers into the loop, and very little is known of the makeup of the outfit, the Kaufmann boys might get a surprise. And by the way, President Dick Mackey wants the clubs to get together and play off the postponed games, of which there are plenty.

The Crawford Colored stars, one of the best negro clubs in the tri-state district fresh from victories over the Stowe Civics and W. O. W. are looking for a couple of games out of town on Decoration Day. The Crawfords will meet Immaculate Heart this evening, and will travel to Altoona June 1. So Manager Beale is finding his booking filling rapidly. Manager wishing to book this stellar attractions should write, Harry Beale, 2224 Bedford avenue, or call Grant 4353.

ONE WEST PENN NET

One big battle will be waged in the West Penn League this evening when the Wilmerding nine crosses bats with the Verona Community nine. Both clubs are classed as being filled with plenty of heavy slugging, and it is quite possible that manager Bill Bright will send Powley to the mound to try and stop the Airbrake outfit.

Addie Artmann and the Wilmerding boys probably will have a pitcher primed for the game, but McConnell has not stated who will do the twirling. The game will be played at Verona Community field, and will start at 6:30.

MACDONALD VICTOR

BROOKLINE, Mass., May 23.—(AP.)—Ted MacDonald, of Tacoma, Wash., yesterday defeated Henry Johnson, his Dartmouth teammate, in the final match for the New England intercollegiate tennis singles championship at the Longwood Cricket Club. The score was 4-6, 6-2, 6-1, 6-1.

CRACK RACERS ENTER MAY 30 AUTO RACES

Speed Fechter

Fechter won the Butler (Pa.) 200-mile race last year and completed 164 laps of another 200-mile race when he cracked up. He is expected to give other favorites stern competition at Ebensburg.

Johnny Kreiger, west coast driver, has entered the lists for the grind at the Bridgeville Speedway, also scheduled for May 30. Kreiger has met with considerable success in coast races during the past two years, and the addition of his entry at Bridgeville assures the keenest sort of competition at the board oval.

A special prize for the neatest and niftiest looking pilot to compete in the 50-mile race at Apollo has been offered by the promoters of the race. The crowd will have a share in the selection of the winner, the judges having been instructed to listen keenly to the applause given the individual entrants. A large field is expected to start in this race.

Fight Results

At Newark, N. J.—Vince Dundee defeated Pal Silvers, 10 rounds; Cowboy Jack Willis knocked out Harry Alberts, 4 rounds; Charley Roberts defeated Battling Slavinsky, 6 rounds.

Thomas Club Meets Homewood-Brushton

The Homewood-Brushton nine will be the attraction at Dean Field this evening opposed to the J. L. Thomas nine of the City League. The East End club always has been a big attraction at Dean Field and Manager Zappa is looking for a banner crowd when the umpire calls "play ball." Stalker and Leon are groomed to do the twirling for the City Leaguers, while Goldberg, a former Thomas boy, now with Daly and Heinie Boll, are prime favorites in Bloomfield.

ST. JOHN'S NINE CITY LEAGUE VICTOR

St. John's defeated Book Shoe, 6 to 3, and Pleasant Valley Smilers outclassed Reliance Life, 7 to 1, in City League games played last evening. In the Inter-County League, Jimmy Smith's nine bested Natrona, 4-1.

The J. A. Lineys came through in the Central League, defeating the Lincoln Civics, 9 to 8, in a close battle, and the J. J. Boyles tripped the Stowe Indies, 3 to 2, in the Major League.

Crafton M. E. pulled down a win in the Crafton Church League when it defeated Hawthorne's nine, 5 to 2.

The Homestead Grays had little trouble defeating Ambridge at Ambride, scoring a 14-to-2 victory. The Grays scored 10 runs in the fifth inning. Harrison was on the mound for the Negroes.

Hendrick Connects Safely in 19 Games

NEW YORK, May 23. —(INS.)—Harvey Hendrick, handy man of the Brooklyn Dodgers, has hit safely in his last 19 games. The "Gink" got three hits against the Giants yesterday.

STENGEL ARRESTED

TOLEDO, May 23.—(AP.)—Casey Stengel, Toledo club manager, surrendered to police when he learned a fan with whom he had an altercation before yesterday's game with Indianapolis had preferred a charge of assault and battery. The spectator said Stengel struck him on the jaw during an argument over a ball fouled into the stand during practice.

NESBITT ENTERS RACE

Clarence Adams Nesbitt, a member of the Pittsburgh Silent Club, has sent in his entry for the modified Marathon run to be staged from the downtown district of Pittsburgh to Kennywood Park one week from today, preceding the track and field meet at the park as part of Greater Pittsburgh's annual Memorial Day celebration.

Tad's Immortal Fight Stories

By TAD

(For 30 years, Tad (T. A. Dorgan), one of the greatest cartoonists and sports authorities, covered the "fight game." Shortly before his death, recently, he wrote and illustrated a score of stories describing, in his inimitable style, those ring battles which for thrills and sensationalism were stamped indelibly in his mind. These reminiscences deal not only with fights in which titles were at stake, but also with thrilling affairs staged in private and at the smaller clubs. This story is one of the series. Others will follow.)

LYING helpless in his corner, with his battered head resting in the resin box, Jack O'Brien was saved the humiliation of a knockout at the hands of Stanley Ketchel at the National Club in New York, March 26, 1909, when the gong clanged after he had been down four seconds in the last round.

It was a spectacular finish to a spectacular fight. There was everything there to make it a great fight, as there is everything in a big story to make it a hit. In the story you read of beauty, wealth and treachery. In this we had the master boxer, the terrific hitter and a title. There is no more to a fight than that.

O'Brien's jab and getaway had won him the first, made an even break for the third, and won him the fourth. In the second, he received a slam on the eye which almost ended the go and closed that organ. They were vicious, but didn't compare to what was to come. This spell took a lot of the spark from Jack and in the fifth he began to slow down. Ketchel got in close and in the clinches belted his man with a left to the body that worked like a piston rod. O'Brien held, but couldn't squirm away from the belting.

When O'Brien came up for the sixth his feet began to drag and the punishment began to tell. His eyes, which were cut, were bleeding more than ever, and, to even up matters, he sent a left crashing to Ketchel's nose that brought the blood in torrents.

Now both were a sight and both tired. We expected things soon, and they were to come.

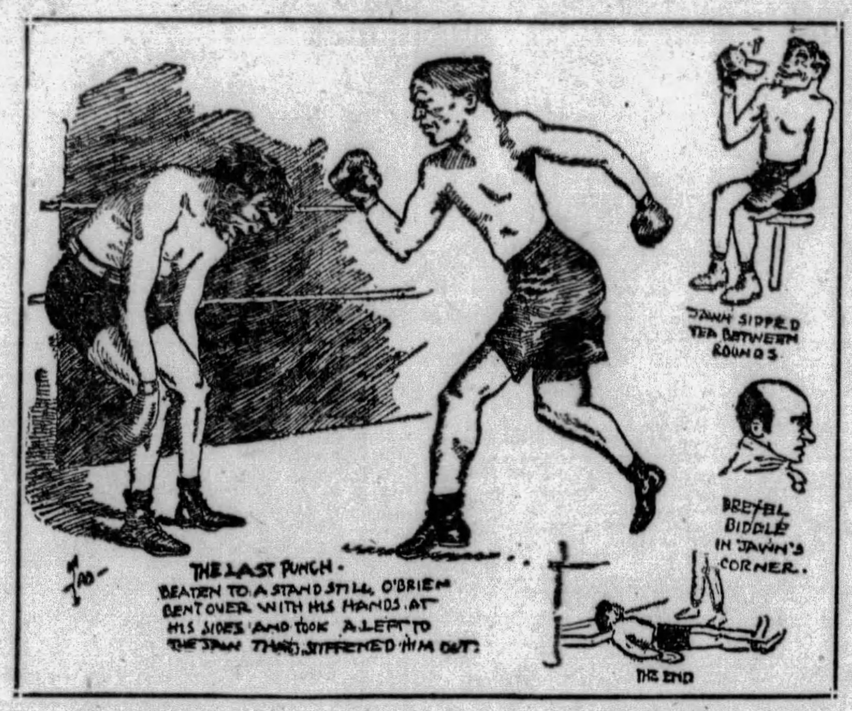
In a mix O'Brien stumbled and fell to the floor, but was up in a second. He caught Ketchel a right on the point that rattled his man and, trying for a knockout, missed, saving Ketchel much pain. The latter, with his head first this side and then that, kept after Jack, chasing him from corner to corner, but unable to get him right. The bell clanged, with both weary and bloody.

In the eighth, O'Brien still had a spark left. He jabbed and ran, jabbed and ran. Ketchel's punishment was dealt to the Marathon kid while at close quarters. He went back to the stomach and pounded it well. O'Brien turned his back to it, tried to hold his arms, and brought forth hisses from the crowd, but he was stalling his way through. He was tired and trying to stick it out. The other man was tired, too, but still had something to deliver. He kept chasing Jack from side to side, taking jabs on the nose and mouth, but belting the body hard when he got close enough. Jack's footwork was not there now. He was wild-eyed; he was trying to keep off the terror from Michigan. It was fairly even that round, with both weary, awfully weary, at the bell.

In the ninth, Willus Britt sent Ketchel in to end the festivities. O'Brien was to dance no more, he was to be flattened, and Ketchel surely followed orders. He backed Jack into a corner and, like a flash, sent right and left to the jaw. Jack staggered and tried to sidestep out of harm's way. The crowd, seeing the Quaker wobble, yelled and howled, so did the seconds. Ketchel bent over like a panther watching which way the prey was to jump. Jack skipped to the right, but ran into a left shift which dropped him near the ropes for the count. He stayed there on his knees waiting for nine and then arose. He was weak and almost gone. A right to the eye started it bleeding again and a left to the other side started that. He was a sight.

Ketchel rushed again, but went straight into a jab that started his nose bleeding, and the pair were covered with blood. They fell into a clinch and Ketchel sent in some body blows that seemed to bend the clever O'Brien double. They were solid and stung, and when O'Brien broke away his feet seemed to drag like lead. Ketchel, seeing victory in sight, tore after his man, but missed with both hands. O'Brien cleverly ducked and held on for dear life. The referee was fully 20 seconds breaking him away, at which the crowd hissed once more.

With their faces washed clean, the pair shook hands for the tenth and last round. Ketchel was out for blood, and before they had gone 15 seconds rapped his man a right on the jaw that sent him to the ropes. Jack was gone. A left sent him to the boards, where he took the full count. It seemed as if every man in the house was up yelling advice. He got up again and tried to run, but fell into a clinch as Ketchel missed a terrific right.



Back to the body went Ketchel with both hands, and O'Brien was forced to break again. He was weak and heavy in the legs. He couldn't keep away — he was done for. A right to the jaw sent him to the floor again. He squatted there with a sickly smile on his face while the referee stood over him counting off the seconds. At eight he arose reeling.

Ketchel measured him and missed with a right. O'Brien couldn't lift his arms, and reeled away across to his own corner. He stood there, bent over, trying to duck what was coming, but it was impossible. A left went crashing to his chin, and he fell as if dead, his head striking the resin box and his feet pointed toward the center of the ring.

The house was in an uproar. There was Ketchel with his bloody face standing over the stiffened form of O'Brien and the referee counting. O'Brien never was seen in such a position in New York before. In fact, he never was counted out in a straight fight. What a thrill there was to that scene. "One, two, three," yelled the referee, "four"——. And then clang went the gong. The fight was over. O'Brien was not counted out. His limp body was lifted to the chair, where his seconds worked like trojans over him. He was there for fully 15 minutes before he left the ring.

We went up to see Jawn after the battle at his hotel and found him in bed, his eyes covered with cotton soaked in witch hazel and a handler massaging his swollen lips.

The man from the unconscious city got up a bit, greeted us, and smiling, said, "He's a great fighter, that boy." When a member of the party asked whether or not he was dangerous, Jawn said: "Oh, no; he's just about as dangerous as an elephant stepping on you, that's all."

Long's Sport Comment

Stadium, with plenty of good seats, and yet very few have learned that the best in running, jumping, hurdling and other sorts of competition can be seen right here at home. Men like Bowen, Pickard, Gwinn, Utterback, Cox, Offenhauser, Riley and others would attract 25,000 spectators in Philadelphia or Boston.

Linus McAtee.

HAVING won the Kentucky derby twice in the narrow span of three years, Linus (Pony) McAtee, one of America's greatest jockeys, who rode Clyde Van Dusen to victory in the classic at Churchill Downs last Saturday, says he will not be content until he has scored a third triumph in the famous turf event. He hopes to continue riding long enough to realize that ambition. If he succeeds he will be only the second jockey that ever accomplished the feat. Just one rider achieved it in all the history of the race. He was Isaac Murphy, Negro jockey, one of the greatest saddle artists that ever lived. He won with Buchanan in 1884, with Riley in 1890, and with Kingman in 1891. McAtee, by the way, did not rest on his laurels after winning the derby last Saturday. He got right back to work again at Belmont Park and hung up two firsts and a third there yesterday.

BASS-SMITH GO TONIGHT

graves and Frankie Buff, New Kensington rivals, will box the semi-final to the Carpentier-Boychan bout. The prices for this show will be $1, $1.50 and $2, and the arena, located in Eleventh street, will seat about 1,500. Happy Hulihan is the promoter.

Buck McTiernan will conclude his training today for his 10-round windup with Johnny Windsor in the Moose Temple arena tomorrow night. Jimmy Belmont, his stablemate, meets Jack McCarthy in the semi-final and Hughey Fetzer and Bob Concrete box the opener.

ZABISH AT JOHNSTOWN

Young Zabish, the Beltzhoover comeback, and Al Rammey, of New York, meet in the main bout of a show at the Point Stadium, Johnstown, tonight. Andy Stahura and Buster Brown, both of Braddock, box in the prelims. Frankie Porto, of Glassport, boxes Tony Leon at Dover, O., with Pablo Blanco and Joe Peach also battling in this show.

Leo Kyburski, of Swissvale, will be one of the principals in the semi-final to the K. O. Ferry-Dominick Profio bout at McKeesport next Tuesday night. Promoter Jim McGirr expects to close the match today.

KID CHOCOLATE BEATS LABARBA

Chocolate had caught him and seemed destined to steal the show. It was in this final round, however, that LaBarba apparently won the fight, for he cuffed the Keed's ears off and had him back-tracking very irresolutely at the bell.

It was the Keed's terrific right crosses to the chin in the third, fourth, sixth and seventh rounds that caught the official eye—and apparently held it. Probably these served to get him the third and fourth in the official score sheets, whereas majority opinion saw LaBarba fighting back to win both of these rounds.

There could be no contest on the first and second rounds. LaBarba left-hooking the Keed at will and making him flounder rather absurdly. He was carrying forward the pace at this juncture, but ran into a stiff right at the start of the third round and had to cover to save himself needless embarrassment. Two fine counter rallies, however, seemed to bring him down in front at the end of the round. The fourth was a repetition of its predecessor, LaBarba blocking a right with his chin in the first minute of play and then coming back to take the pace away from Chocolate.

EASIER MONEY STARTS STOCK RECOVERY

Rumors of Unchanged Rate On Rediscounts Helps Market to Rebound Sharply

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP.)—Stock prices rebounded sharply today under the influence of easier call rates and rumors that no change would be made in the New York Federal Reserve Bank rediscount rate after the close of the market. It was the announcement that the Federal Reserve Council had recommended an increase from 5 to 6 per cent in rediscount rates which caused yesterday's drastic reaction and wiped out more than a billion dollars in quoted values.

Recoveries in the general list today ran from 1 to 8 points, and were distributed among a wide assortment of issues. A few soft spots cropped out, presumably due to distress selling of weakened marginal accounts, but most of the leading industrials, rails and public utilities received strong support overnight.

6 PER CENT MONEY

Call money renewed at 6 per cent for the first time since March 19. There was a plentiful supply of funds available, money brokers estimating that $50,000,000 was being offered around midday, and the rate in the "outside market" was dropped to 5½ per cent. It was not believed, however, that the official rate would be dropped below 6, which has been the minimum rate since August 17, 1928, as another money squeeze is likely around the end of the month.

Maintenance of the 5½ per cent discount rate by the Bank of England, strengthened hopes that no change would be made in the New York rate, as Wall Street believes that the two institutions have a mutual understanding regarding proposed changes in rate, and that with sterling around the "gold import" point any advance here probably will be preceded by a higher London rate in order to prevent a drain on Great Britain's gold supply. Many brokers actually welcomed an increase in rate on the ground that it was better to have it over with and the uncertainty removed rather than to have the prospect of a high rate hang like the sword of Damocles over the market.

The day's trade news continued largely favorable. Additional increases were announced in the price of crude oil and gasoline, directors of Packard Motors recommended a 4 to 1 stock split up, stockholders of By-Products Coke approved a similar plan and a 50 per cent stock dividend was declared on Borg Warner. The only unfavorable development was the report that the Paris reparations conference was threatened with failure.

OILS IN DEMAND

Oils and utilities were particularly well bought, particularly Sinclair, which rose about 2 points. Columbia Gas rose about 4 points to a new peak. General Electric and Allied Chemical rose 8 points, International Telephone and Packard about 6, New York Central, United States Steel, American Can and Radio 3 to 4 points.

There was considerable irregularity during the morning, about a score of issues touching new lows. Case Threshing dropped 26 points. Some selling appeared in the early afternoon, Studebaker touching 74, a new low.

RAIL CHANGES REQUESTED

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(AP.)—J. J. Bernet, of Cleveland, today applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission for authority to become president of the Chesapeake and Ohio, Hocking Valley, and Pere Marquette railroads.

Application also was filed by W. J. Harahan, of Richmond, to become senior vice president of the same roads.

In his application Bernet said he would resign as president of the Erie Railroad at a meeting tomorrow of the executive committee.

Harahan is now president of the Chesapeake and Ohio and of the Norfolk Terminal and Transportation Company.

O. P. Van Sweringen, of Cleveland, applied for authority to become director of the Pere Marquette.

Other applications were: George T. Bishop, Cleveland, to become director of the Norfolk Terminal and Transportation Company; Frank H. Ginn, of Cleveland, director of Pere Marquette; Otto Miller, Cleveland, director Norfolk Terminal and Transportation Company; Herbert Fitzpatrick, Richmond, vice president, general counsel and director of the Pere Marquette.

Would Abolish Reserve Board.

The current issue of Barron's Weekly carries an article in which the Federal Reserve Board is condemned for its obstructive tactics and which states that the board could be abolished and the business of the system carried on by the heads of the reserve centers, the secretary of the treasury and the comptroller of the currency. The article says in part: "It is of the essence of our Federal Reserve System that it should be decentralized. In no way can the Reserve Board in Washington represent anything like the Bank of England or the Bank of France. At the best its function is to insure the co-operation of the reserve districts by mobilizing resources where they happen to be most needed. Just as the financing of railroads is a function of management, and, therefore, not within the proper field of the Interstate Commerce Commission, whatever powers it may have usurped, so it may justly be said that a Federal Reserve rate in any given district is a function of management with which the Reserve should not concern itself. It is a fairly open secret that the Federal Reserve Bank of New York has five times applied for permission to advance what is strategically the most important Federal Reserve rate and the permission has been refused, although the application was backed by the Advisory Council, which consists of bankers whose indorsement should have been conclusive. It is not too much to say that the Reserve Board itself is in conflict with the very spirit of the Federal Reserve System. It could be abolished altogether, and the heads of the reserve centers, with the assistance of the secretary of the treasury and the comptroller of the currency, could carry on the business of the system."

Decision Protects Railroads.

The United States Supreme Court decision in the O'Fallon case is a severe reprimand to the Interstate Commerce Commission, in the opinion of Adams & Peck, for the latter's failure to observe in its valuation policy the law of the land as laid down in a long series of important Supreme Court decisions in public utility valuation cases. "The court has repeatedly ruled," says a statement by this firm, "that rates should yield a fair return on the valuation as of the time of the making of the rates. The commission, in distinction to this, has adhered to the co-called prudent investment theory and has hitherto consistently refused to be guided by the Supreme Court decisions in similar cases. Thus, the court goes along with the railroad contention that the transportation act does not give the carriers a peculiar status in valuation matters. The decision is notice to the commission that henceforth it must apply to railroad property the same rules of valuation that the court has repeatedly required state commissions to apply to electric, gas and water companies. The protection of public utility property rights afforded by the Supreme Court assisted such companies in their efforts to raise large sums for capital improvement and thereby to improve their service to the public. It is to be hoped that the O'Fallon decision will again make investment in railroad securities more attractive than has recently been the case, because it is generally agreed that only through economies of operation made feasible by large expenditures for capital improvement will it be possible to reduce costs to the ultimate consumer of railroad transportation service."

U. S.-South America Trade.

Trade between the United States and South America, along with maintaining a steady expansion trend, is perceptibly spreading out to involve more districts in this country George J. Eder, Latin American specialist for the Commerce Department, is now concluding a study of shipments to that territory on the basis of ports through which the trade passes. "It is a rather striking fact that the business to South America from Pacific coast and some of the Gulf of Mexico ports is growing faster than the business through New York," he said of the preliminary figures. "We are finding that where 10 years ago two-thirds of the exports moved through New York, only about half now go through that point. The New York volume has grown, but Pacific business, New Orleans business and the trade with one or two other points have grown faster."

Is Speculative 'Retreat From Moscow' Threatened?

By B. C. FORBES

SECRETARY Mellon's recent advic to buy bonds rather than stocks is beginning to look not so laughably old-fashioned.

The ginger has gone out of speculation. Even the biggest operators are exhibiting less bravado. Many ordinary folks have lost enough to cause them pain.

And the latest monetary developments do not bode well for speculative enthusiasm.

CHAIRMAN Andrew W. Robertson of Westinghouse dropped this remark in conversation the other day: "There are certain things which, if you don't do them at the right time, you might as well not do at all."

That observation is recalled by the action of the Federal Reserve board. If it had acted aggressively long ago instead of issuing grave warnings, the country perhaps would have been spared much of the uncomfortable conditions experienced since. Although it is impossible to present concrete proofs, it is indisputable that the long-continued excessive money rates and attendant uncertainty have discouraged the launching of many enterprises. And it is equally indisputable that this will have an effect upon general business activity.

What higher rediscount rates now will do is problematic.

NEVER before has America's money market been in so extraordinary a condition. Here we have leading bankers of the country doing everything within their power to induce the Federal Reserve board to charge them more for the privilege of rediscounting paper at the Federal Reserve banks, and the board itself hanging back. For months we have had call mo ey skyrocketing frequently above 10 per cent—even touching 20 per cent. Wall street's charge for the time loans has ranged from 8½ to 9, figures nobody originally dreamed would ever be reached under our Federal Reserve system which was to insure a calm, even, unspectacular money market year after year.

MORE. Whoever imagined when the Reserve Bank law was being enacted that the time would come when the bulk of the lending of call funds in Wall street would not be done by banks and bankers but by non-bankers, by industrial and other business corporations and individuals and institutions not belonging to the financial world? Having failed to foresee such a development, the bank act makes not the slightest provision for dealing with this "bootleg" lending now approximating three billions of dollars.

To add to the topsy turviness, the president of the New York Stock Exchange chooses this time of widespread alarm over the magnitude of brokers' loans to advocate that the Reserve Bank law be changed so that stocks and bonds could be eligible as collateral for obtaining funds at Reserve banks.

TO aggravate the incongruity of the whole situation, foreign bank after bank has felt compelled to raise its charge for money to its own people in order to prevent New York from draining the world of its liquid capital—New York, the financial center of the country owning the lion's share of mankind's total stock of gold, yet bidding far higher prices for loans than any other important financial center in the world.

THOSE of us who have been unable all along to foresee any happy outcome of this whole abnormal speculative and monetary situation have been jeered, scorned, ridiculed, pitied. We were hopeless back-numbers, totally unable to see what smart gentlemen could see with half an eye, namely, that a brand new and entirely different era under which eternal verities of the past afforded no guidance whatsoever but were to be regarded as outworn relic .

Well, some of us already have reason for thankfulness that we didn't join the hilarious speculative orgy and buy the most aggressively touted stocks at the top. An examination of stock quotation tables reveals that losses of 20, 30, 40 and 50 points have not been rare.

THE writer cannot but adhere to the opinion that it will be possible to buy most of the most strenuously boomed stocks at distinctly lower prices later in the year than the prices which were brought about during the heyday of Wall street's orgy.

IT is most earnestly to be hoped that the speculative retreat from Moscow—if such a retreat develops—will be so conducted that it will not hurt America's wonderfully sound prosperity and thus react unfavorably on work folks in factory, on farm and in other walks of life. They are the people, that the Federal Reserve board, the advisory council, our bankers, our lawmakers and even our millionaire stock manipulators should keep primarily in mind.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP.)—Curb market stocks staged a brisk rally at midday today, after opening irregularly lower. Some issues bounded back as high as 10 points from their low levels of the day.

With the shadow of a 6 per cent Federal Reserve rediscount rate cast over the market, traders were inclined to keep close to shore and almost any rumor brought a pattering of selling orders. Much of the earlier selling was attributed to speculators with big board accounts, who received calls to repair margins damaged in yesterday's break.

Public utilities and oils led the rally on favorable news developments. A handful of high-priced specialties joined in the advance.

United Gas Improvement resumed its rise started yesterday on reports of a stock melon and interrupted in the late burst of selling. Electric Bond and Share and Electric Investors were well supported, the latter clambering back 10 points from the low level of the morning.

Better buying came itno St. Regis Paper, which, with its 52 per cent interest in Northeastern Power holds a strategic position in the eastern utility line up. Morgan-Bonbright interests through United Corporation are reported preparing an offer for this stock. Northeastern Power has an 11 per cent stock interest in Mohawk Hudson Power, in which United Corporation is a dominating factor.

Gulf Oil's steady decline of the past few days was checked in the mid-day rally and the stock for the first time in several days was listed behind a plus sign. Humble Oil and Standard of Indiana also advanced.

Goldman Sachs held fractionally under yesterday's closing, but Haygart, also an investment trust had a temporary burst of strength. Great Atlantic and Pacific moved up 5 points.

American - Phenix Corporation made its first appearance, the initial trade being at 60¼.

Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded (00 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

NEW YORK BOND MARKET ON PAGE 32

NEWS AND VIEWS

Money Supply Plentiful.

Call money was in plentiful supply today, with the Street hearing that $50,000,000 was offered at the 6 per cent rate prevailing on the exchange. In the outside market funds were said to be available at as low as 5 per cent. Stocks were strong the greater part of the session, but were subjected to recurrent selling waves as weakened speculative accounts were turned into the market and taken up by stronger interests. This phase of the present trading is quite important and in the past has usually been one of the rather dependable indications that the worst of the market disturbance was at an end. In this connection, the Street was discussing an incident in which, according to the gossips, one of the biggest banks in Wall Street had taken over a block of 40,000 shares of Anaconda from a spectacular operator who was "out on the limb." Such incidents and such stories are heard of and talked of in the final stages of most market adjustments such as that beginning last February, and old-timers in the financial district are inclined to look for a change when these yarns begin to circulate. Incidentally, interests representing the strongest people in the country were added to the Anaconda directorate today when Charles E. Mitchell, president of the National City Bank of New York, and Charles Fisher, of Detroit, were elected members of the board.

Loans And The Bank Rate.

The two important events overhanging the market today were the re-discount action of the New York Federal Reserve Bank this afternoon and the brokers' loans report due after the close. It was a toss up whether the bank rate would be changed from the present 5 per cent to the expected 6, but market circles were quite confident that brokers' loans would show a good sized decrease. Some observers thought it would be $50,000,000 or more. The market was under constant pressure during the greater part of the period covered by the report and, unless new offerings have used up a lot of the available credit, the loans should reflect the liquidation and forced selling carried out in the week ending last Tuesday night. Secretary Mellon attended the Reserve Board meeting in Washington this afternoon and observers professed to see in his presence a probable ending of the disputes and the deadlock which has resulted in the securities markets being made the goat of the inability of the body to come to an agreement on discount rates. A 6 per cent discount rate can hardly make the stock market's burden any heavier as the traders have been paying the brokers from 9 to 11 per cent for several months, but it may have a psychological influence. There has been a substantial decrease in brokers loans since last March and in the same time new offerings have been put out in large volume, a circumstance that can hardly be said to reflect a gambling orgy on the stock exchange.

Mellon at Reserve Meeting.

The presence of Secretary Mellon of the Reserve Board this afternoon may break the existing deadlock over the rediscount rate. The Secretary seldom attends the board meetings unless asked. It is understood the six appointed members of the board are now divided evenly on giving permission to regional banks to increase their discount rates. While Secretary Mellon has not stated his position on the question, it is thought he favors a 6 per cent bank rate. His vote would make a majority in favor of a higher rate.

U. S. Steel's Action.

For several weeks U. S. Steel Corporation shares have undergone adjustment to an increase in supply as a result of the subscription offering. This is considered the reason for the 20-point decline in the face of maintenance of output at a high rate when it would normally slacken. More than the $5 a share reported for the first quarter is expected in the second three months. There has been quite a bit of short selling in the stock because of the excellent market it enjoys, as many traders prefer to sell it, knowing that they can cover without any great market disturbance.

Copper Orders Pending.

Reports are current that buyers of copper will enter the market within the next two weeks. A large telegraph company is said to be inquiring for 2,500,000 pounds, while another large consumer is inquiring for prices and delivery time on 3,500,000 pounds.

London Bank Rate Same.

The Bank of England made no change in its 5½ per cent rediscount rate.

Packard to Split Stock.

Packard Motor Car Company stockholders on June 19 will vote on splitting the stock 5-for-1, the new shares to be placed on a $1 dividend basis, according to expectations. The company declared an extra dividend of $1.50 a share, payable July 31 to record July 12. Regular dividends are expected to be paid on the new no-par value shares at the rate of $1 annually, or 25 cents quarterly. The company at present has 5,000,000 authorized shares, of which 3,004,264 shares are outstanding.

Raw Sugar at New Low.

Sugar delivered in store sold on the New York coffee and sugar exchange today at 1.68c a pound, the lowest price in the history of the exchange.

Montgomery Ward Directors.

F. Edson White, president of Armour & Co., Charles F. Glore of Field Glore & Co., and David A. Crawford, president of Pullman Company, have been elected directors of Montgomery Ward & Co. They will fill vacancies caused by the deaths of Theodore F. Merseles and Edward F. Carry, and the resignation of Robert P. Lamont, now secretary of commerce.

Sharon Hoop's Quarter.

The Sharon Steel Hoop Company earned $1.02 a share on the common stock in the first quarter of 1929.

Stock Prices Are Narrow In Quiet Market Here

Trading quieted down on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today and early prices showed only fractional changes from the quotations prevailing on the close last night.

Western Public Service was steady to firm between 29¼ and 29½ in the early market, but there was no noticeable activity in the stock. The Street believes an ultimate tie-up of this company, Lone Star and Columbia Gas and Electric will take place, but it may be pretty far in the future. Columbia's expansion plans are not completed, but that important developments are pending was indicated by the pronounced strength in the stock on the New York exchange yesterday.

Pittsburg Screw and Bolt displayed a rather sluggish tone this morning and slipped back to 27⅛, a new low for the current movement, but only a small fraction under yesterday's bottom. Blaw Knox also lost a little ground today, dropping back to 39 in the forenoon trading as compared with yesterday's close at 39¾ and sales last Saturday at 40.

Lone Star Gas did not come into the market until around mid-day when it opened at 79½ as against the close yesterday at 80. There was only a moderate volume of stock handled and the range held within about a point all day. On the curb, the "new" Lone Star sold around 34, while Arkansas Gas class A common changed hands at 7.

RESERVE BOARD ATTACKED

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

THE Federal Reserve Advisory Council in its last statement is meddling with affairs that are none of its business. This is the opinion of many in the financial district.

Last February, when the Federal Reserve Board issued its well-known warning, there was more division of opinion. Whether its attitude was just or not, the board was entirely within its rights in trying to reduce the amount of Federal Reserve credit being used for speculative purposes, if it thought that expansion in this type of credit was an actual danger to the country.

BUT the latest statement tells a different story. After reiterating that it is completely in accord with the Federal Reserve Board, the council commends the banks for their co-operation in carrying out the wishes of the board. The statement then continues as follows:

"The council notes, however, that while the total amount of Federal Reserve credit being used has been reduced, the amount of the country's credit absorbed in speculative security loans has not been substantially lowered.

"Therefore, the council recommends to the Federal Reserve Board that it now grant permission to raise the rediscount rate to 6 per cent to those Federal Reserve Banks requesting it, thus bringing the rediscount rate into closer relation with generally prevailing commercial money rates.

"The council believes that improvement in financial conditions and a consequent reduction of the rate structure will thereby be brought about more quickly, thus best safeguarding commerce, industry and agriculture."

THE board admits that, as a result of its stand, the unusual use of its credit for speculative purposes has been brought to an end. The last brokers' loan statement showed that loans to brokers by New York member banks had dropped $256,000,000 from February 6. Loans for out-of-town banks had declined $206,000,000. But total loans had dropped only $104,000,000 and that the difference of $358,000,000 had been made up by loans "for the account of others."

This means that American industry with the help of foreign money has continued to finance the increased demands of the stock market without the help of the Federal Reserve System, just as it has done for over two years. In the past year alone the loans made "for the account of others" have more than doubled.

IN TRYING to stop the extension of such credit, the Federal Reserve System is no longer tending to its own affairs. It is maliciously meddling with legitimate financial transactions in no way concerning it, in the opinion of those in financial circles.

In addition to this, the board and the council are disregarding the facts that the New York Stock Exchange is handling the securities of more companies than ever before, that the old listed companies have expanded and have more securities in public hands than ever before, and that the proportion of loans to the total value of stocks is still less than 10 per cent, the ratio which has prevailed, with only slight variations, since loan figures have been available.

THE logic of the Federal Reserve attitude is not made any plainer by the fact that a higher rediscount rate will have only a momentary effect on brokers' loans. The board has outlawed the speculative borrower. It has admitted that its decree has been fairly successful.

All experience so far has shown that the stock market can stand high money better than any other form of business activity and that strong call money is like sugar to flies. It brings more money to New York.

The Reserve System is merely placing an additional strain on the forms of non-speculative business activity which are in need of credit aid.

COKE OUTPUT INCREASES

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., May 23.—(INS.)—Coke production, for the first time since June, 1927, mounted above 100,000 tons during the week ending May 18, according to a production summary completed today. A gain of 8,185 tons over the previous week was recorded with total production standing at 103,978 tons.

Virtually all the increase was at plants of the H. C. Frick Coke Company which added 359 ovens to its active list, raising the total in operation to 2,719, all of which operated on a six-day schedule but one.

Merchant operators reported a loss of 1,215 tons.

Prices remain unchanged with demand light. Spot furnace is quoted at $2.75 to $2.85 and spot foundry at $4 to $4.50, the same range as has prevailed for the last four or five weeks.

By interest production of furnace was 45,618 tons and 58,360 tons of merchant.

"Such Scenes As This Are Common"—Frisby

ABOVE is another disgraceful incident photographed by Congressman Frisby during his current investigation of Night Life. "The picture," says Frisby, "shows an ordinary incident in our wicked, big, bad, bold cities. Finding myself without a lucifer, I approached a young lady and asked, 'Have you a match? My segar has gone out.' Without the slightest show of shame, she climbed a lamp post and lit my segar from the gas flame. As I laughingly remarked to the policeman, 'She was a match for me.'"

City Marshal Campbell late Saturday night fired with a shotgun into a group of eleven high school boys and girls from Hume. The pupils drove in two cars to Eldorado Springs to have their photos taken.

When they got on Highway 71, one of the cars had a blowout. Both cars stopped and while some of the boys were working on the tire, the rest of the party in a spirit of mischief, hailed each passing car.

Occupants of one car drove to Rich Hill and told the marshal there was a bunch of holdup men on the highway.

Campbell took his shotgun and hurried to the scene. He says he told the group to hold up their hands, and they made no response. He then cut loose with his shotgun twice.

Campbell took the crowd in charge and marched them to Rich Hill. There it was learned who they were and they were released.

Town Hall Site Delay Won't Make Task Easier

County Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong has stated there will be no selection of a Town Hall site "in the immediate future." That is unfortunate. It will tend to intensify the bitterness that has appeared among rival supporters of various sites selected. But probably it will not tend to development of more valuable information about any of the proposed sites than has appeared.

Certainly there has been plenty of time for study of the various tentative locations for the Town Hall since the people voted $6,000,000 to BUILD it. They did not vote to TALK ABOUT IT. This, of course, is not to say there should not be discussion—but enough is plenty. Every locality that wishes to have the Town Hall has a most laudable ambition. Yet some places are just naturally eliminated.

The Downtown districts wants it, and its sponsors claim that it is more central than any other site. Boosters of other districts, such as the Oakland and the North Side, claim their sites are better suited to a monumental building. General sentiment appears to have shut out all localities except these three. Why then should there be long delay about settling upon a site? The boosters have all the facts, figures, traffic graphs and other data.

Those who have the final selection—the County Commissioners—are certain to be hooted by those who are disappointed in the selection, and postponement is not going to make it less disagreeable.

Boy Scouts Doing Big Job Ought to Receive Reward

Our Boy Scouts today are engaged in what is said to be the most comprehensive traffic survey ever made in the United States in one day. Their work, beginning at 7:30 o'clock this morning, to end at 6 this evening, will cover more than 200 traffic centers in the Downtown and other districts. It will record the tides of traffic at all hours of the day, including those of the morning and evening rushes.

The information obtained is to be used in regulating the controls of the new synchronized traffic signals. The work will be done entirely by Boy Scouts, 1,146 of them, under the supervision of a score of scoutmasters. They will have no other assistance.

This work, a valuable and necessary service to the city, will not cost Pittsburgh a penny, it is said. The Boy Scout is useful and is proud to be. Through his aid a big task is to be accomplished in a single day. That certainly shall be a record the boys can be proud of. And we can be proud of our boys.

Democrats Expose Stupid Leadership in Farm Bill

By a vote of 249 to 119 the House of Representatives has forecast the defeat of the fatuous export debenture feature which the Democratic members of the Senate voted into the farm relief bill.

The House vote came on the question of disagreeing to the Senate amendment, which embodied the debenture plan, and the vote to disagree sent the bill to conference.

There is no question about the attitude of the House conferees. They will not abandon their opposition to the debenture plan. They will stand by the sensible farm relief bill which Republicans and Democrats united in passing through the House.

This means that the Senate must vote again upon the debenture plan and Democratic Senators will have the choice of following the dictates of their own conscience and voting their own convictions or "holding their noses" and voting according to the dictation of the foolish leadership with which the Democratic party is afflicted in the Senate today.

Just among themselves approximately one-third of the 34 Democrats who voted for the debenture feature of the Senate farm relief bill have admitted that in that vote they followed their leaders instead of voting their honest convictions.

Surely these same Senators will not again stultify themselves by sacrificing their convictions to serve their leaders.

Surely these same Senators will not vote again to injure the American farmer merely to placate the Democratic leaders of the Senate who are playing "peanut politics" at the expense of the American farmer.

If those Democratic Senators whose support of the debenture plan the other day was prompted by mistaken sense of obligation to their party leadership will abandon their "ostrich" attitude and vote their convictions, the debenture feature will be defeated decisively when it again comes before the Senate.

For these Senators will have the choice of preventing any remedial legisaltion for the American farmer at the special session or aiding the passage of the nonpartisan farm relief bill substantially as it passed the House.

In these circumstances it is hard to believe that among the 34 Democratic Senators who lined up the other day for the export debenture plan, there are not at least 10 who upon sober second thought will not try, when the farm relief bill comes to the Senate from conference, to redeem themselves and their party by reversing their foolish position.

Those Democratic Senators who thought that they were putting President Hoover in a hole when they attached the debenture amendment to the Senate farm relief bill must now begin to realize that they were only exposing the stupid leadership of the Democratic party in the Senate and driving public sentiment more stronger than ever to the nonpartisan farm relief bill which the House has passed by an overwhelming vote and which the President is eager to approve.

Mayor Kline's Answer

Mayor Kline's letter to the Sun-Telegraph, published yesterday, hardly needs an answer. The mayor merely knocks down a straw man when he says he won't permit policemen to be "strike-breakers." Of course, no one wants that. No one even has suggested it.

The police should preserve order, WITHOUT TAKING SIDES. That is exactly what the mayor's police department has refused to do.

When police officers rebel against obeying orders and are held for discipline by their superiors, their immediate reinstatement without punishment is a disgrace and an invitation for more serious rioting.

Tales That Are Told

Too Much to Expect

THE notice, "Boy Wanted," was displayed in the window, and, after gazing at it thoughtfully for a minute or two, Jimmy entered the shop.

"What kind of boy is it you want?" he asked the proprietor.

"Oh, a decent sort of lad—one who is quick and willing, who won't laze about with a cigarette between his lips, who knows his manners, who —"

Jimmy thrust his hands into his pockets and eyed the shopkeeper contemptuously.

"Garn!" he cried. "You don't want a boy at all. You want a girl!"

When He Was Right

THEY were discussing a mutual friend who at that moment happened to cross the road in front of them. They allowed him to pass them by.

"You mustn't believe all that fellow tells you," said the first speaker.

"I don't," replied the other. "Sometimes he's right and sometimes he's wrong."

"But do you know when he's right?"

"I do," he said. "I'll tell you. It's a funny thing, but when he's right he always holds the same opinion as myself."

Shrewd Trick

THEY were trying thought-reading. "What did I just think of?" asked Max of his friend Arthur.

"You thought, Max, that if I were to ask you now for the loan of fifty dollars till the first of next month you would say you couldn't do it. Was that right?"

"No, that's wrong."

"Really? Then you can let me have the money."

No Argument

A LONDONER was showing an American student round, but without exciting much enthusiasm.

"What do you think of that?" when facing a fine site.

"Well," was the reply, "it's not a bad-sized building, but there's only one. I could show you hundreds like that in New York."

"I won't argue on that point," said the Englishman. "That's a lunatic asylum."

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

THERE was a New England farmer going to Europe on a big ship, and he got awful seasick. The ship's doctor was afraid the old boy might die until he heard he was from Vermont and knew his onions in business.

"Here," says the doctor, "I got a cure for you, my boy. This little round package you're to hold between your front teeth all day today. When the day's over and it's time for supper, you just put the little packet in your pocket and keep it to remember me by."

"Yes," says the patient, "but how am I to hold anything between my teeth? And what do I want to keep it for?"

"I can answer both questions. The little thin packet has a silver dollar in it."

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

THE magpie is a peculiar bird. It has an insatiable desire to hoard junk in its nest.

It will be attracted by any foolish trifle and waste great time and energy in securing it and storing it away. Bits of metal, scraps of cloth, the key to a sardine can, they are all treasure-trove to the magpie.

This must in time result disastrously for the magpie as the accumulations mount. I suppose many a foolish bird has awakened too late to find that it has actually accumulated itself out of a home!

But why look with derision on the poor magpie? Many of us humans, who should know better, do exactly the same thing. We may not accumulate sardine can keys or bottle tops, but we do gather and hoard much more pestiferous junk in our minds and wreck our lives thereby.

We had worked together for many years, and I had thought the combination a happy one. But she, it seems, had felt quite otherwise.

All through those years she had been accumulating an amazing pile of grudges against me. I don't blame her for that. I am a most exasperating person. But I was surprised to find what a tremendous litter she had stored up.

Incidents dating back for four or five years, which I had entirely forgotten—thoughtless little words and deeds which might have been laughed off in a second if she had let me know her hurt—scraps of carelessness, bits of unfairness—

All of them she had seized upon, magpie-like, and hoarded until the bulk of their malice became too much for her and she left me, after hurling the whole accumulation.

Now, here's the sad part of it—my friend was a talented woman, with many lovable qualities. She needed her situation with me. She could so easily have made of it a wide and pleasant nest in life. But instead she had indulged this habit of collecting trash and storing it away in her mind, with the result that she crowded out all happier and more profitable reactions.

Until, unlike the magpie, she accumulated herself out of a home!

It's a great pity—yet we all do the same thing to a greater or less degree.

How would YOU feel if the contents of YOUR mind were suddenly tumbled out for all the world to see?

I know how I'D feel—I'D feel like 30 cents.

The amount of old tin cans and busted glass I have stored in my system—well, you'd be surprised!

WHEN LIGHT FAILS

By Garrett P. Serviss

"Here is something that I cannot understand and so I write to you. Several have told me that when one goes up 35,000 feet in a plane on a bright sunshine day it becomes as dark as night and that the sun disappears. If this is true, why is it?—J. M. L., Clarion, Pa."

THE sun would not disappear no matter how high you might go, but very remarkable phenomena would occur. Ordinary daylight, such as we have on the earth's surface, is produced by the atmosphere as much as by the sun. The sun furnishes the light, but the air diffuses it.

This is a very important function which is generally disregarded. To say that we owe daylight to the air as well as to the sun may seem on its face as an absurd statement. But consider what is the nature of daylight; what characterizes it. It is a light that is diffused all around us, filling the air and bathing us as if we were plunged in a luminous fluid. It diffuses itself through shadows, so that a house is illuminated on all sides at once, and inside as well as outside if there are windows. It passes around all corners and if offered an entrance through a mere pigeon hole or crevice it lights up a cave or a cellar, or a barn mow.

Imagine yourself shut in a cell having only a small window, like a porthole. Visibility on a bright day would exist even in the corners of the cell. Now suppose the air to be gradually drawn out of the cell. Then (if you could survive without the air), a strange phenomenon would occur. You would think that night was coming on. As the air became thinner the general darkness in the cell would become complete. The corners and walls would disappear in gloom. Only the opening would remain visible when you looked directly at it, and a spot of light would appear on the wall opposite to it. But there would be no general illumination around you; only blank darkness. It would be as if the light had been withdrawn together with the air. You would not be able to see your hands unless you held them directly in the beam of light from the opening. Yet there would be just as much sunlight entering the cell as there was before the withdrawal of the air. Only, the diffusion, which is the characteristic of daylight would be gone.

Now a similar thing happens if one rises sufficiently high in the atmosphere to get above the denser layers, where the greatest diffusion occurs. True daylight more or less disappears, and a kind of night surrounds you. The lower the density of the air, of course, the more pronounced is this effect. At a height of seven miles the density of the atmosphere must be between a fifth and a tenth of what it is at sea-level. Even on the summit of mountains only half so high, like Mt. Blanc, the darkness of the sky is strikingly evident, though the daylight diffusion is not eliminated. But if one could go, say 20 miles up, no doubt the illumination would resemble that on the moon, where there is no daylight as we understand it, i. e. no diffusion of light around corners, and no softening or gradation of shadows.

But, as before said, the sun could not disappear through the withdrawal of the atmosphere. Only its glare would be gone. It would be undiminished in brightness, but there would be no blinding halo of light encompassing it. There would be no blueness or other color of the sky. The firmament would appear black, and the stars would be seen just as they are in the absence of the sun at night; only they would be much brighter than we see them from the bottom of the atmosphere, and the number visible would be greatly increased.

Bible Passages

Promises of God

(Isaiah 55; 8-13)

FOR my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways, saith the Lord.

For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than your ways, and my thoughts than your thoughts.

For as the rain cometh down, and the snow from heaven, and returneth not thither, but watereth the earth, and maketh it bring forth and bud, that it may give seed to the sower, and bread to the eater:

So shall my word be that goeth forth out of my mouth: it shall not return unto me void, but it shall accomplish that which I please, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it.

For ye shall go out with joy, and be led forth with peace: the mountains and the hills shall break forth before you into singing, and all the trees of the field shall clap their hands.

Instead of the thorn shall come up the fir tree, and instead of the brier shall come up the myrtle tree: and it shall be to the Lord for a name, for an everlasting sign that shall not be cut off.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Psalm 121

UNTO the hills I lift my eyes,
From them comes down my aid;
My help is from the Lord, all-wise,
Earth, heaven by Him were made.
Your steps shall not be led astray,
He slumbers not, nor sleeps;
But through the night, as through the day
His watch o'er Israel keeps.
Your keeper He, or your right hand
He guards lest sun should smite
Or weary you in any land,
From moon he shields by night.
The Lord shall save you from all sin,
Your soul He shall restore;
Your going out, your coming in,
He guards forevermore.

GRANTED that Dr. Georges Claude is even half correct in his calculations, France let the grand prize of Versailles slip through her drowsy fingers.

If she had grabbed the mandate over Palestine, instead of passing the buck to England, the Dead Sea would now be Tri-color domain, and a mere fifty billions' worth of sedimentary gold available to future finances.

Just that neat little sum is Dr. Claude's estimate of the treasure which evaporation has deposited in a pre-Biblical sand-bank, in trust for the first nation with gumption enough to locate it.

Not to mention sundry chemicals, fertilizers and medicinal salts sufficient to make steam shovels sweat for the rest of the century!

Money is merely solidified clock ticks mixed with ideas, labor and batches of raw materials.

With adequate natural resources and a technical appreciation of their adaptabilities, there's no limit to the riches that any people can amass.

Prosperity, therefore, is literally a figment of imagination—the crystallized dream stuff of invention, engineering and method.

In witness whereof, Niagara, originally a waterfall, changes under scientific management into light, power and heat. These provide laboratories, factories, furnaces and transportation with forces to fabricate matter, catalyze it into component parts and extract derivatives, which in turn call new crafts and departments of commerce into being.

So long as we think, probe and continue to be curious about all matter—so long as America serves tradition and remains constructively dissatisfied with things as they are, each generation will break fresh ground for the next and reveal mightier goals than it inherited.

Education, confidence and co-operation will insure the national estate against impoverishment and decline, provided we safeguard from predacity and dissipation the elements with which progress must carry on, to wit: water power, mineral and forest wealths, top soil, pastures and oil.

Reckless ballots, greedy exploitation and economic discord can alone halt our forward march.

If we ever again have an era of breadlines in this land of plenty and unscratched possibilities, we'll deserve it.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, May 23.—Those ponderous mansions with generous frontage on upper Fifth avenue have given way almost completely to deluxe apartment houses, known only by numbers. Only a comparative few remain to create the lavish aura New York so long associated with that wealth.

Each offers that indefinable gloomy grandeur of barn-like rooms and massive fireplaces before which Old Big Business sits to study financial pages. On the walls are massive and paint-chipped full-length portraits of ancestors who peddled polecat skins for the dilettante to come.

The ancient halls are filled with rare vases, tapestries and other European loot. Eight months of the year they are sealed and boarded and give forth an eerie and musty smell of decay. Through the grilled doorway one sees those grave and chop-whiskered butlers so customary in drawing room dramas.

The visual outlook has the stiffness of the starched shirt. They are the last of the vanishing Bourbons, born to the aristocracy, and believe firmly in its hereditary supremacy. The manner is not meanly condescending, but being born to such snobbishness, know nothing else.

As one who for some ridiculous reason or other has no awe whatever of the vested interests or no particular dislike either, I have always nursed a secret longing to pop into one of the block-long drawing rooms at the coffee hour and announce casually that my uncle was the best tinner in Gallipolis, O.

The younger occupants of these houses, impelled by that restlessness born of superb idleness, are the seasonal visitors to Palm Beach, the Riviera, St. Moritz, and the summers are spent on this expensive Long Island domains where a house without two ballrooms is considered a shack.

The crisp paterfamilias is an etching in steel. His god to the finish is money. When his family departs, he moves to his club and never misses a day at the office. The wife is usually one of those fading roses whose life is spent in a round of sanitariums.

Every once in awhile rich youngsters break traditional shackles, thumb a nose at conventions and hike out on their own. I think of one living in one of those dank, clammy apartments on a mean little street on the left bank of Paris. Three years ago he had an allowance of $150 a week and all the charge accounts he desired. In his father's mansion was a four-room apartment for his exclusive use. But he had to attend dreary family dinners, decorous afternoon teas and was not permitted to bring anyone home whose blood was not the royal red. He now lives from hand to mouth with small jobs and looks shabby. Yet says he is happier than ever before.

It is one of those basement places with a goose necked electrical bulb over the door and a push button in the wall. All New Yorkers know them. After the peephole inspection, beyond is Jimmy's, Tony's or Eddie's and if you pass inspection anything from gin fizzes to contreau is on tap. In this one is a bartender up from the old swing door saloon on the Bowery where the bung-starter ruled. He is not accustomed to flip uptown patter. ## ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

Are you connected with organizations which have an important part to carry on in your city or village?

Do you find it impossible to agree with any of the new ideas which are presented by younger members.

Do you consider their suggestions a lot of folderols, not based upon common sense?

If you are a man of this sort, you are a stumbling block to the undertakings in which the organizations with which you are affiliated should take an active part.

Better get out and let a more modern man take your place.

Things and conditions have changed since most of your ideas were formed.

What was good and fine in your day does not meet demands of the present.

You are still thinking of the good old days, instead of stepping ahead.

You ought to consider there is something wrong with your ideas when they do not coincide with those of the majority of younger men associated with you.

You are becoming a back number—no longer a live one.

If you don't change your ideas and your ways, you will soon be looking for another job.
